PAULEY ANSWER TO PROPOSAL HE WITHDRAW NAME INDICATED AS NO

Nominee for Under Secretary of Navy Attempts to Make Statement but Is Stopped—Hearing Proceeds.

(Picture in Everyday Magazine.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—At the opening of this afternoon's hearing, Edwin W. Pauley attempted unsuccessfully to present a statement which he indicated would say no to a suggestion by Senator Saltonstall (Rep.), Massachusetts, that he withdraw his name if the Committee clears him of charges. Senator Tobey (Rep.), objected to hearing Pauley at that time.

By EDWARD A. HARRIS
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27—William A. Patterson, president of United Air Lines, told the Senate Naval Affairs Committee today that shortly before the 1944 elections he refused a request by an officer of the Democratic National Committee to make a $35,000 campaign contribution, and that Edwin W. Pauley, then committee treasurer, said to him over the telephone:

"Patterson, I think you should think this over twice before making your decision."

"I replied," Patterson testified, "that I could not think twice when it concerned an absolute violation of the law."

Patterson was the first witness called when the hearings on Pauley's nomination to be Under Secretary of the Navy were resumed this afternoon following the abrupt postponement of the morning session.

Call From Killion.

Patterson said that in October 1944, George Killion, then assistant to Pauley and now treasurer of the Democratic Committee, telephoned his office in his absence and proposed to a United Air Lines executive, Russell F. Ahrens, that the concern make a $35,000 contribution to the campaign. Ahrens told Killion he would take the matter up with Patterson.

When Patterson returned, he testified, he called Killion and "started the conversation as if I personally was being solicited for a $5000 contribution." He told Killion he was not in a financial position to give $5000.

"'Patterson, it isn't $5000—it is $35,000,'" he quoted Killion as remarking.

"I called Killion's attention to the fact that it was my opinion such a contribution would be in violation of the law," Patterson continued. "His reply was that I should select several associates to contribute $5000 each. I told him they couldn't do it.

"Mr. Killion then said: 'Didn't Ahrens tell you that we would send someone (to Chicago) from our New York headquarters to show you how to handle this?'"

Patterson said he replied that his company was "clean as a

CIO, Welfare Group Investigate Red Cross Personnel Policies Here

Department Head Says She Quit Because She Felt Worker Was Fired for Union Activity.

Investigations of the personnel practices of the St. Louis chapter of the American Red Cross are under way by the American Association of Social Workers and by the CIO United Office and Professional Workers Union, following the resignation of Mrs. Marguerite Nordman, director of the home service department since 1927, it was learned by the Post-Dispatch today.

Mrs. Nordman told the Post-Dispatch she resigned because she felt one of the supervisors in her department, Mrs. LaVerne Oehler, was discharged for union activities. Mrs. Oehler had asked for a three months' leave of absence to be with her husband, an Army captain.

Mrs. Nordman said she was asked by Miss Lucille Sullivan, executive manager of the Red Cross chapter, to tell Mrs. Oehler that her leave would not be granted, but that she could quit her position, then apply for it back again later. Mrs. Nordman said Miss Sullivan indicated the latter request would not be granted, although Miss Sullivan told her not to tell this to Mrs. Oehler.

Mrs. Nordman declared Mrs. Oehler is "an exceptionally able social worker." She added that in view of the shortage of trained social workers she was "certain Mrs. Oehler could be useful in our department whenever she chose to return."

Returned $1000 Check.

When Mrs. Nordman's resignation was accepted by Miss Sullivan the acceptance was accompanied by a check for $1000. Mrs. Nordman said this money was not for any services she had performed for the Red Cross, so she returned the check.

Subsequently, Mrs. Nordman said Kenneth H. Bitting, chapter chairman, came to see her urging that she accept the check. H. F. Keisker, midwestern area Red Cross manager, also came to see her and urged that she help keep the disturbance within the Red Cross quiet until after the campaign to raise $1,161,500 in St. Louis and St. Louis county, Mrs. Nordman said. The campaign is now in progress.

Miss Sullivan declared the check was given to Mrs. Nordman "in payment for a vacation and as separation pay." Miss Sullivan denied asking Mrs. Nordman not to tell Mrs. Ohler that she would not be rehired if she resigned to be with her husband.

Denies Discharge Over Union.

"Mrs. Oehler terminated her services of her own accord," Miss Sullivan said. "She was not discharged for union activities."

Miss Sullivan said her own attitude, throughout the dispute, had been that "the home service department is only one department here, and it is necessary for me to maintain administrative control over all departments." She said she could not allow either department heads or individual workers to exercise the administrative control that she had been charged by the board with assuming.

Mrs. Oehler is a member of the office workers' union. She said she did not leave the Red Cross voluntarily, but was given a check

APPROVAL OF KRUG AS INTERIOR CHIEF EXPECTED QUICKLY

Former WPB Head Named as Ickes's Successor—Not a Political Choice, Truman Says.

By RAYMOND P. BRANDT
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27—Speedy Senate approval is expected on President Truman's nomination of Julius Albert (Cap) Krug, 38 years old, former chairman of the War Production Board, to be Secretary of the Interior. Truman announced at his press conference late yesterday that he had selected Krug to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Harold L. Ickes.

Krug, six feet three inches tall and around 250 pounds in weight, will take office March 15, the President said. Since leaving the Government last November Krug has built up a large business as an industrial consultant in New York.

The President said that Krug (pronounced Kroog) was a very able administrator, had a great deal of administrative experience and would make an excellent secretary. The appointment, he said in reply to a question, was personal. He meant that it had no political implications.

Krug, although rated as a New Dealer and a public power advocate, favorably impressed business men who dealt with him at the old WPB. At first they were skeptical of him because he had been chief power engineer for the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Asked whether he had had a preview of former Prime Minister Churchill's speech to be delivered at Westminster College, Fulton, Mo., next week, the President said that he had not and that Mr. Churchill would be responsible for the speech.

A reporter had pointed out that if the President had read the speech in advance and if Mr. Churchill spoke on the need for greater Anglo-American unity, the impression might be created that he had approved the talk.

The President was in a happy, almost boisterous mood at the press conference. He began by saying that he had one or two announcements of his own, and led off by announcing that he had appointed Charles R. Denny Jr. as acting chairman of the Federal Communications Commission to succeed Paul A. Porter, recently named OPA administrator. Since he said that Denny would be acting chairman this left the way open for Porter to return to his old position.

Statement on Aviation Parley.

Taking up a typewritten manuscript from his desk, the President said that he was very well pleased with the results of the Bermuda aviation conference and had written a short statement. This statement said in part:

"Because civil aviation involves

BOWLES FIGURES 5 PCT. LIVING COST BOOST FROM NEW PRICE POLICY

Says This Is Last Chance to Block Inflation—Snyder Favors Continuation of Control While Shortages Last.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—John W. Snyder and Chester Bowles, wage-price bosses, took issue today with a statement by Marriner S. Eccles, Federal Reserve Board chairman, that living costs might jump 10 per cent under the administration's new policy.

Economic Stabilizer Bowles asserted President Truman's wage-price policy would raise living costs no more than 5 per cent.

"I don't know what figures Mr. Eccles used," Reconversion Director Snyder told the House Banking Committee, and added:

"There is no reason for any runaway increase in the cost of living if we get real co-operation of industry and labor with the Government agencies that administer the new wage price policy. I see no reason for any material increase in costs."

Bowles, testifying simultaneously before the House Civil Service Committee said:

"I think the estimate of Mr. Eccles is rather high," Bowles told the House civil service committee. "Certainly I hope it will be no more than half that—about five per cent."

Last Chance on Inflation.

Bowles told the legislators the new policy "is our last chance to stop this thing (an inflationary trend) where it stands." He warned:

"If we go beyond the present wage pattern we will get in trouble.

"We are now fixing a pattern we can stick with . . . and I think we can do the job. If I didn't think so I wouldn't have taken this thoroughly unpleasant job."

The new presidential policy, he explained, is one of allowing price increases where there are justified wage adjustments which cannot be paid out of present profit levels.

Bowles made his remarks in response to questioning by Representative Rees (Rep.), Kansas, while testifying on a bill to increase salaries of federal workers. Eccles made his statement Monday in testimony before the House Banking Committee. He said a 10 per cent increase would put living costs 40 per cent above prewar levels.

For Higher Government Pay.

Bowles urged passage of the measure raising wages of about 1,000,000 government employes 20 per cent. He said he did not think the boost would contribute to inflation. The Senate has passed a bill authorizing 11 per cent increases in federal salaries.

Bowles also urged allowing a salary of up to $15,000 yearly for

FRENCH APPEAL TO U. S., BRITAIN TO PUT SPAIN BEFORE U. N. O. REPORTED

Bidault Quoted as Saying, After Decision to Close Border, That France Will Press Case Even if Aid Is Refused.

By LOUIS NEVIN

PARIS, Feb. 27 (AP)—Foreign Minister Georges Bidault was reported to have informed the Foreign Affairs Commission of the Constituent Assembly today that he had requested American and British support for a French effort to bring Spain before the United Nations Security Council on charges of endangering international peace and security.

Deputies emerging from a commission meeting said Bidault told them he had made the appeal in a joint note to Washington and London as directed by the cabinet yesterday, following its decision to close the French-Spanish border to trade, effective at midnight Friday.

These deputies said Bidault asserted that France would take the initiative for bringing the Spanish situation before the Security Council at its next meeting, scheduled for March 21 in New York City, even if negative replies were received from the United States and Britain.

British View Expressed.

A London dispatch quoted a British Foreign Office spokesman as deprecating today the French action in ordering the French-Spanish frontier closed. Such incidents, the spokesman said, were likely to prolong Generalissimo Francisco Franco's rule by making him "a national hero instead of a refugee."

The dispatch said the spokesman emphasized again, however, the official British line toward Spain as stated in Parliament by Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin—that Britain "detests" Franco and wants to see a "popularly supported" government in Spain.

The spokesman was reported as saying the United States had sent a note to Britain discussing the possibility of an interim government in Spain when and if Franco was forced out. The spokesman declined, however, to make known the details of the note. He said the note also was addressed to the French Government.

(In Washington, the State Department said the United States had dispatched "certain American views" on the Spanish situation to Britain and France, but declined to indicate what was proposed.

(Diplomatic sources said the United States had proposed that the three governments state their disapproval of Franco and deplore continuation of his rule; that they consider granting recognition to a broadly representative interim government if Franco is ousted; and at the same time reaffirm their intention not to interfere in Spain's domestic affairs but to

One Wrote That 'It Still Seems That I Am in a Dream'—4 to Go on Trial for Their Murder.

TOKYO, Feb. 27 (AP)—George Thomas Folster, National Broadcasting Co. correspondent said today that three of Gen. James A. Doolittle's flyers wrote letters to their families 24 hours before they were executed by the Japanese in China.

Folster said he obtained from Japanese files marked "extreme secrecy, military affairs," copies of the letters and wills written in October, 1942 by Lt. William G. Farrow, Darlington, S. C.; Lt. Dean E. Hallmark, Dallas, Tex., and Sgt. Robert Spatz, Lebo, Kan.

The three members of the Doolittle party that raided Tokyo April 18, 1942, from the carrier Hornet, landed in China and were captured and executed. Five other captured Doolittle flyers were saved by the personal intervention of the Emperor.

Folster said Farrow wrote:

"You told me once to complete the good life you started as a missionary. Well, unfortunately, I'm unable to do so. Good-bye to all of you. I'm sorry it had to happen this way. Chin up, and help Mom, will you?"

Spatz wrote:

"I will say my last good-bye to you. My personal property consists of my clothes. If I have inherited anything since I became of age, I will give it to you.

"I want you to know that I love you—and God bless you."

Hallmark wrote:

"It still seems that I am in a dream and can't believe what is happening. Mother, you try to stand up under this—and pray. Well, I will close now and not write any more. I do not know how to end this letter, but will end it by sending you all of my love."

There was no indication whether the letters ever were delivered to the families. The three men were executed Oct. 15, 1942, at Kiangwai, China, by a firing squad after a farcical court-martial. Four Japanese accused of that crime pleaded not guilty in Shanghai today. Their trial was set for March 11.

SAYS U.S. MUST UPHOLD IDEALS, IN REPORT TO SENATE ON U.N.O.

'Desperate Need for Mutual Understanding,' He Asserts—Harmony Between Two Countries Possible.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—Senator Vandenberg (Rep.), Michigan, called today for a vigorous, plain-spoken American foreign policy that will match Russia's in firmness.

Reporting to the Senate on his work as a delegate to the United Nations meeting in London, Vandenberg, chairman of the Republican senatorial conference, told his colleagues that the world today is asking: "What is Russia up to now?"

Without attempting to answer that question specifically, he said in an address that on the answer may depend the fate of world efforts to keep the peace.

It would be futile "to blink the fact that two great, rival ideologies—democracy in the west and Communism in the east—here find themselves face to face with the desperate need for mutual understanding in finding common ground upon which to strive for peace for both," he declared.

Harmony Possible.

However, he said, the United States and Russia "can live together in reasonable harmony if the United States speaks as plainly upon all occasions as Russia does; if the United States just as vigorously sustains its own purposes and its ideals upon all occasions as Russia does; if we abandon the miserable fiction, often encouraged by our fellow travelers, that we somehow jeopardize the peace if our candor is as firm as Russia's always is; and if we assume a moral leadership which we have too frequently allowed to lapse."

Vandenberg added that "the situation calls for patience and good will, but not for vacillation."

The United States, he said, can speak with extraordinary power because it has "no ulterior designs against any of its neighbors anywhere on earth."

"We need but one rule," he declared. "What is right? Where is justice? There let America take her stand."

Along with that, Vandenberg said the United States must make it plain "there is a line beyond which compromise cannot go."

"But how can we expect our alien friends to know where that line is unless we re-establish the habit of saying only what we mean and meaning every word we say?" he asked.

"I have the feeling it is the best way to win Soviet respect and Soviet trust. Respect must precede trust and both are indispensable to peace."

Baiting by Vishinsky.

He declared that in the London controversy over proposed security council action on withdrawal of British and French troops from Lebanon and Syria, Vice Commissar Vishinsky "seemed less interested in helping Lebanon and Syria than he was in baiting France and Britain—less interested in peace at this point than he was in friction."

Vandenberg said he was not complaining that Russia speaks, as Vishinsky did in the security council.

"I am glad she speaks," he said. "That is what the forum is for. But it is for others, too—just as Mr. Bevin used it upon more than one eloquent and courageous occasion. All should feel an equal freedom, an equal duty and an equivalent responsibility."

Vandenberg said it would be "impossible to over-emphasize the importance of our own roles and our own performance in such epochal events, and the need for positive foreign policies as our consistent guide."

Power Politics.

He said he had sensed in London "what seemed to be too great a tendency to relapse into power politics." He said he missed "the uplifting and sustaining zeals for a great, crusading, moral cause that seemed to imbue the earlier Charter sessions at San Francisco."

Nevertheless, he expressed confidence that the United Nations had shown it can cope with world problems.

"I return in the belief that it can succeed unless Russia, Britain and the United States, individually or collectively, make it impossible," he said.

TRUMAN CALLS ON HOOVER TO AID IN FOOD CONFERENCE

Meeting at White House Friday to See What U.S. Can Do to Help 'Stop Famine.'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—President Truman said today American food consumption must be reduced to meet acute needs abroad and called former President Herbert Hoover and others to confer on the problem Friday. Hoover has accepted.

The conference will be asked to work out "an aggressive voluntary program on the part of private citizens to reduce food consumption in this country," Truman said.

He expressed his views in telegrams to those invited to the Friday meeting at 3 p.m. The telegrams said:

"I am sure you are familiar with the acute need for foodstuffs in the war-torn countries of Europe and Asia. Our national self respect and our duties as human beings demand that we do all possible to stop the spread of famine.

"I have directed the agencies of Government to do everything possible to this end. But Government alone is not enough.

"We cannot meet this situation without an aggressive voluntary program on the part of private citizens to reduce food consumption in this country.

"I am asking you and a very few other public spirited citizens to meet in the east wing of the White House at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, March 1, to work out means for supporting such a voluntary program. Ex-President Hoover has accepted my invitation and will be there. I count on your support."

By RICHARD O'REAGAN

FRANKFURT, Germany, Feb. 27 (AP) — A German armament maker described by an American investigator as the "greatest single power behind the Nazi war machine—a behind-the-scenes force far bigger than Krupp"—has been unmasked by American occupation authorities.

The magnate, whose fabulous $400,000,000 secret industrial empire previously was whispered among a few, was identified by authorities as Friedrich Flick, 62 years old, a steel and coal producer whose name was virtually unknown abroad or among millions of Germans.

Full details of the dealings which made Flick one of the wealthiest men in Germany still are under investigation by a Treasury and War Department decartelization team headed by Josif Marcu Jr. of New York.

"We consider Flick a greater criminal than Krupp for he grew with the Nazi regime and seized more personal economic power than Krupp ever held," Marcu said. He added that his team would recommend the indictment of Flick as a war criminal. Flick was taken into American custody last June.

Did It in 12 Years.

Marcu said that Flick, in 12 years of Nazism, built up holdings vaster than those it took the Krupps generations to seize in three wars starting with the 1870 French-German conflict.

Flick's holdings, which came from confiscated French, Czechoslovak and Russian properties and forced sales of Jewish plants and

POLICE ARREST DRIVERS WITHOUT 1946 CITY STICKERS

Police today began making arrests of motorists who failed to display city automobile license stickers and continued their arrests of those without state license plates. Sixty-eight arrests for failure to have state automobile licenses were made yesterday.

The number of state licenses sold at the State Auto License Bureau, 420 North Fourth street, dropped from 6500 Monday to 2600 yesterday and the bureau was not rushed today. The Clayton branch office, 20 North Central avenue, Clayton, reported sales of 1400 yesterday as compared with 2600 Monday.

Those picked up for failure to have state plates are permitted to give common law bonds returnable in the Court of Criminal Correction. A summons to appear in Police Court is given motorists arrested for failure to have city automobile licenses.

GEN. KOU TO BE TRIED FOR 'HELL CRUISE' OF CAPTIVE YANKS

TOKYO, Feb. 27 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Shiyoku Kou was charged by Allied headquarters today with responsibility for the deaths of approximately 1000 American prisoners who were being transferred from the Philippines to Japan, and for the massacre of 143 others in 1944. The charges were forwarded to Lt. Gen. Wilhelm D. Styer in Manila for early trial.

Kou, the former commandant of prisoner-of-war and civilian internment camps in the Philippines, is held at new Bilibid prison on Luzon. He surrendered Sept. 16.

The charges said American prisoners under his direction were transported under conditions "more horrible than the Black Hole of Calcutta." (George Weller, correspondent of the Chicago Daily News and the Post-Dispatch, who, in November, described the "hell cruise" of the prison ship Oroyku Maru, from which only 300 of 1600 American prisoners emerged alive, said that a Gen. Koa was in charge of all prisoners in the Philippines at the time.) Kou also is known as Ko. He may be a Korean.

AMERICAN SHIP HITS MINE IN NORTH SEA; AID IS SENT

Mishap Occurs 55 Miles Off Dover; Two British Tugs Dispatched to Scene.

LONDON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The United States ship Cyrus Adler struck a mine in the North Sea 55 miles out of Dover before midnight and two Admiralty tugs have been sent to its assistance.

No further details were available early today.

Lloyd's register lists the vessel at 7167 tons. It is registered at New Orleans and owned by the United States War Shipping Administration.

8 B-29 Crews Compete for Honor Of Dropping 'Model-T' Atom Bomb

ROSWELL FIELD, N. M., Feb. 27 (AP)—The Army Air Forces 393rd Squadron says it can explode an atom bomb within 600 feet of its aiming point over the Bikini atoll target fleet. That distance is believed to be substantially closer than the explosion point of the bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki under combat conditions.

Precision is essential in view of the decision to deploy target ships in the first test so as to attain damage ranging from negligible to total destruction.

War experience of the B-29 crews plus the brush-up training now going on has brought precision to a point where the only real variables arise from ballistic behavior of the individual bomb casing. Undetectable differences in weight and other factors may cause variations of a few hundred feet when the bomb is dropped from a high altitudes.

Eight B-29 crews are competing in daily practice drops on ranges here. Score boards are kept. Even though only one crew will be used to drop the bomb on May 15, all eight will have a part in the test.

Brig. Gen. Roger M. Ramey, commander of the training group, said that because of demobilization and other factors the air program is "a month behind and 1000 people short." He hastened to add that the air forces will be ready on time.

Gen. Ramey said that because the atom bomb to be dropped at Bikini was of the type used at Nagasaki his men have nicknamed it the "Model T" bomb. The men at Roswell realize, he pointed out, that the Nagasaki-type bomb "might well be outmoded and superseded by far deadlier instruments of aerial destruction.

White and Negro Cast in Play That Deals With Race Problem

CHICAGO, Feb. 27 (AP)—"A Young American," an experimental play with a mixed white and Negro cast, opened last night at the Great Northern theater to a mixed white and Negro audience.

The play dealt with a young Negro composer, whose first major work, a symphony, was accepted by a noted white conductor for its premiere performance. The conductor, Alexander Cortell, played by Raymond Edward Johnson, invites the composer—whose race he did not know—to his home in New York for a month prior to the presentation of the symphony.

The rest of the action was devoted to the problems arising from the Negro's acceptance of the conductor's invitation.

William Greaves, a New Yorker, played the composer, William Farrell. Last night's opening was the play's professional premiere, although it had an amateur tryout at the Blackfriars' Guild, New York, last month.

FORD AND UNION SIGN CONTRACT, SECURITY CLAUSE TO PROTECT BOTH

18-Cent Wage Rise Retroactive to Jan. 5—UAW Negotiators Meet Again With General Motors Officers.

DETROIT, Feb. 27 (AP)—A new contract, thought by the Ford Motor Co. to herald "improved labor relationships," will go into force between the company and the CIO United Auto Workers as soon as the union's locals give their approval.

Some 103,000 Ford workers throughout the country gain an 18 cent hourly wage increase under terms of the agreement, signed last night by management and union officers. Also included in the contract, to continue in effect until May 30, 1947, are clauses providing union and company security.

Maintenance of Membership.

The Ford wage boost, a compromise of the union's original demand for a 30 per cent increase, was agreed to by both parties Jan. 26, but other contract problems forced continuation of negotiations until last night.

Richard T. Leonard, head of the union's negotiators, said the agreement would be submitted to the locals soon.

Under the maintenance of membership agreement, according to John S. Bugas, Ford director of industrial relations, the union "has undertaken to control its membership and prevent illegal work stoppages."

"The contract provides that any employe found guilty of instigating, fomenting or actively supporting or giving leadership to illegal work stoppages is to be subject to discharge," Bugas said.

Such cases, he said, will not be submitted to regular grievance procedures unless the local union, after formal investigation should substantiate the contention of the affected employe that he was unjustly accused.

New Article in Contract.

An entirely new article of the contract is devoted to management prerogatives and responsibilities, including a provision that "continued failure of an employe to produce on the basis of established standards will be cause for discipline, including discharge, unless failure is due to causes beyond his control. Any employe who participates in any plan to control or limit production speed also will be subject to discharge by the company."

Provisions also is made for "full-time representatives of the union to handle the grievance procedure in all but a few of the company's smaller plants. "The number of union representatives will, as a consequence be reduced," Bugas said.

The contract provides that union committeemen will be paid full time for carrying out their duties while they are in the plant. In the previous contract only building chairmen were paid full time for their activities in the plant.

In disputes on standards it is provided that the parties will negotiate for a period up to 15 days. During this period the parties may agree to call in an independent time study engineer, mutually acceptable to both parties, whose decision shall be final and binding.

Leonard said the pay increase would be retroactive to Jan. 5 of this year, adding that the effective date for the raise was the last point settled before the contract was signed. He also pointed out provisions covering overtime pay for six holidays, "streamlining" of grievance procedure, and union shop and checkoff clauses.

"I think we have made real progress toward improved relations and continuous production with high employment at better wages," he asserted.

Announcement of the Ford signing came as UAW negotiators met again with the General Motors Corp. in an effort to settle a strike of 175,000 production workers now in its ninety-ninth day.

R. J. Thomas, president of the UAW, stated after yesterday's General Motors negotiating session that "no progress has been made in the last two days." Special Federal Mediator James F. Dewey agreed that "no issues have been settled yet."

REDS TO LEAVE MANCHURIA, THEY SAY; CHINESE DUBIOUS

Troops Reported Landing in Dairen, Port Arthur—Tass Asserts Russians Will Depart Not Later Than Americans Quit China.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 27 (AP) —High Chinese military circles in Chinhsien reported today that Russia was landing additional thousands of troops in Dairen and Port Arthur, indicating an intention to remain in Manchuria indefinitely.

(It should be noted that under the terms of the Russian-Chinese treaty Port Arthur is to be leased to Russia as a naval base and Dairen is to become an international port, with safeguards on the pre-eminent Soviet interests there.)

The Chinese reports, which were not confirmed officially, said the new Russian troops had come from Vladivostok.

From the Manchurian capital, Changchun, a Russian Tass news agency dispatch quoted the Soviet high command as saying all Russian troops would be gone from Manchuria not later than American troops are withdrawn from China; probably before.

(A Moscow dispatch quoted Tass's report from Changchun as saying Soviet troops intended to leave Manchuria as fast as conditions permit. The dispatch quoted Gen. Trotzenko, chief of staff for Marshal Rodion Malinovsky, as saying Chinese and American newspapers reported untruthfully that the Russians were intentionally delaying their withdrawal.)

No Reply from Russia.

H. Feng-shan, director of the information section of the Foreign Office, told a press conference in Chungking today that Russia still had not replied to a Chinese inquiry about its plans for withdrawing troops from Manchuria. Ho said the inquiry was sent to Russia Jan. 29.

Public demonstrations in China against continued Russian occupation of Manchuria mounted despite Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's admonition to the nation not to be too concerned. A Chungking spokesman denied today that the government encouraged the demonstrations.

In Nanking, 10,000 demonstrators jammed a school compound yesterday. In Shanghai 20,000 students, in their third demonstration in three days, paraded past the Russian consulate. Thousands marched in Chungking, Chengtu and other cities.

Reds Reported Buying Homes.

Chinese military men in Chinhsien said they found nothing to indicate a Russian evacuation of Manchuria. To the contrary, they said, Russians are buying Japanese homes and are sending for their families.

These observers asserted the Russians were awaiting a chance to obtain economic concessions from the Chinese. One informed Chinese said the Russians, in addition to privileges granted in Manchurian rail lines by the Yalta and Moscow agreements, also wanted part interest in factories along the lines.

Reports reaching Chinhsien from Mukden said Chinese Communists on three sides of the city were carrying Russian-made submachine guns. Russians troops, according to these reports, number 6000 to 7000 as compared with 10,000 Central Government troops in the city.

There are slightly more than 60,000 Government troops in Manchuria, by the latest Chungking estimate. They are distributed in a number of places, including Changwu, Sinmin, Kowpangtze, Mukden and Changchun.

Chungking denied recent Chinese press reports that Chiang Ching-kuo, the Generalissimo's elder son who is a special commissioner for foreign affairs in Manchuria, had gone to Moscow.

The Communist New China Daily News, published in Chungking, expressed "complete agreement" with the Generalissimo's policy on negotiations with Russia over Manchuria. Chiang said Monday negotiations must be in accord with Chinese law and must not go beyond the Aug. 14 treaty with Russia.

FRENCH APPEAL TO U. S., BRITAIN ON SPAIN REPORTED

French Clamor Increases.

Meanwhile, popular outcry in France for an outright diplomatic rupture increased.

Fifteen thousand Communists, Socialists and labor union militants attended a mass meeting of protest against Franco's rule last night, at which speakers called on the United Nations to break off diplomatic relations with Spain at once.

The speakers also demanded United Nations help for Spanish Republicans in their fight to oust Franco and the Falangists.

Closing of the border, which raised the question as to whether France would permit continuance of the transit of international commerce from Spain to other European countries across France, elicited no official comment in Madrid.

Reaction in Spain.

Madrid morning papers printed complete accounts today for the first time of the French decision to close the border. The papers also carried long editorials denouncing French Communists and Soviet Russia.

The newspaper Ya said Spain had divined the "unmeasured and rapacious appetite that encourages from afar the gang of traitors to their country who elevated themselves to the bosom of France's Government doing all possible to facilitate Stalin's projected embrace of Europe."

Franco tonight was reported reinforcing troops guarding the Spanish side of the Pyrenees border. Reports said about 1500 Moors had arrived at garrison points along the frontier and that all leaves had been canceled for regular guards there.

Dispatches from Hendaye, meanwhile, reported that Spanish authorities had closed their side of the border this morning—48 hours in advance of the closing time announced by the French.

At Rotterdam in the Netherlands, 1500 dock workers sent a resolution to the Hague, demanding that the Dutch Government break off diplomatic and commercial relations with Spain. They refused to load any ship destined for Spain.

The French National Federation of Landlords also called on the Government to sever all remaining relations with Spain.

RECAPTURE OF WAR FUNDS OF $7,112,230,000 URGED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee recommended today the recapture of $7,112,230,059 in unspent wartime funds and spending authority.

The committee also recommended a billion-dollar appropriation for the Department of Agriculture. It included funds for rural rehabilitation, rural electrification loans, and for farm conservation payments.

The bill to rescind seven billions in unspent wartime appropriations was in addition to 55 billions which Congress previously had ordered canceled.

As in previous measures, the Army and the Navy took the biggest cuts. From the Navy's available funds and spending authority, the committee recommended a cut of $3,166,992,924, leaving $21,470,814,107 available in the current fiscal year ending June 30. The largest cut-back, $961,726,000, was in the fund for construction and replacement of naval vessels.

The Army's rescission was $1,615,926,369, which would leave $32,242,350,278 available. A billion of the reduction was in the air forces fund.

RUSSIANS OBTAIN U. S. VISAS FOR SOUTH AMERICAN MISSION

MOSCOW, Feb. 27 (AP)—The United States Embassy in Moscow has given visas to a Soviet delegation planning to visit South America, including Argentina. The delegation will travel through the United States.

In Buenos Aires diplomats speculated on whether the coming of a Soviet trade mission had political significance and whether it might lead to an exchange of envoys.

CASE AGAINST 22 HIGH NAZIS ENDED BY PROSECUTION

Arguments on 6 Organizations to Be Heard Next—Court Refuses to Call Churchill.

By DANIEL DE LUCE

NUERNBERG, Feb. 27 (AP)—The Allied prosecution rested its case against 22 Nazi war leaders late today after more than three months of hearings before the international military tribunal. The trial opened Nov. 20.

Arguments on legal aspects of the attempt to prosecute six Nazi organizations as criminal groups are scheduled for tomorrow. The defense is likely to open Monday. Some prosecution sources estimated the entire defense case could be completed within seven weeks.

It was learned that the Allied powers, in demanding conviction of the German general staff as a criminal organization, would estimate its membership at about 115 high officers.

Justice Robert H. Jackson, chief of United States counsel, will share with Britain's Sir David Maxwell Fyfe the responsibility of presenting the prosecution view of the scope of the organization's activities to be considered by the court. Jackson received a last-minute message from the War Department which caused him to work overtime on his statement.

The United States Army, which holds upwards of 80,000 Nazis, is known to be anxious to have definite policies regarding their future disposition settled at Nuernberg.

Ruling on Churchill, Daladier.

The tribunal denied Joachim von Ribbentrop's plea that Winston Churchill, Edouard Daladier and other former Allied leaders be summoned as defense witnesses.

The tribunal rejected 22 names of a list of 38 submitted by Ribbentrop, former German Foreign Minister, and also trimmed sharply the lists submitted by defendants Hermann Goering and Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel.

In rejecting Ribbentrop's request for Churchill and other witnesses from Britain and France, the tribunal said "it appears that their testimony would be irrelevant or cumulative."

The tribunal refused to call Georges Bonnet, former French foreign minister; the Marquis de Polignac, Count Jean de Castellan and Otto Abetz, former German ambassador to Paris.

Eight for Goering.

Goering won approval for eight witnesses and eight interrogatories. His request that Swedish engineer Birger Dahlerus be summoned to testify concerning alleged peace negotiations was approved. Other witnesses permitted Goering were Field Marshals Albert Kesselring and Erhard Milch and Maj. Gen. Karl Bodenschatz.

Keitel was authorized to call five witnesses, including four German generals.

Pauley Refusal to Quit Indicated

hound's tooth," and that he didn't intend to ruin his personal reputation or the reputation of the company by doing something illegal.

Killion then told him, Patterson went on, that "the other fellows do it," which Patterson took to mean the Republican party. Patterson remained adamant, and Killion said he had better talk to Mr. Pauley.

Conversation With Pauley.

"There was a long wait on the telephone," Patterson said, and then Mr. Pauley came on the phone. He said, "Patterson, I think you should think this over twice before making your decision."

(Killion testified earlier in the hearings that Pauley happened to enter his office while he had Patterson on the phone.)

Patterson said he repeated what he had told Killion, and that Pauley said:

"I know you do not expect favors—you are doing a good job—but that show we put on in Chicago the other night cost us $50,000 and we were counting on you to contribute a substantial part of that."

(The "show" was not identified. President Roosevelt spoke in Chicago Oct. 28, 1944, in his fourth-term campaign.)

Patterson said he would not give in, and quoted Pauley as concluding, "I'm sorry. It was nice to have talked to you."

After reading his statement, Patterson was asked by Senator Millard E. Tydings (Dem.), Maryland, whether he felt Pauley had said anything "improper" in advising him to "think twice" before rejecting the solicitation.

"No," replied the witness thoughtfully, "I can't say that he did. He didn't repeat anything that Mr. Killion had told me. But at the time we had an application pending before the Civil Aeronautics Board, and the whole conversation worried me."

Under further interrogation, Patterson said it took several minutes for Pauley to come to the telephone when Killion asked him to hold the wire.

Airline Aid to Testify.

Patterson said that Ahrens, a vice president of the airline, would follow him to the witness chair and tell how Killion made plain to him, in a preliminary conversation about contributions from the airline, that the government is "made up of people, and some are your friends and some are your enemies." Killion, who appeared as a witness last week, has denied making such remarks.

The committee refused today by a 6-to-4 party vote to go into activities of Killion in soliciting the campaign donations from airline officials.

The vote came in a heated session after Senator Brewster (Rep.), Maine, sought to draw from a witness information which Brewster said dealt with "apparently illegal methods" used by Killion.

The cancellation of this morning's session was announced amid rumors that Pauley would withdraw his name if the Senate committee gives him a vote of confidence in his personal integrity.

When the hearing was called to order, Senator Charles W. Tobey (Rep.), New Hampshire, said "certain matters" pertaining to new testimony had come up which made it advisable to postpone the hearing until the afternoon.

Yesterday Senator Leverett Saltonstall (Rep.), Massachusetts, asked Pauley if he would consider withdrawing his name, and Pauley said he would take it under advisement. Previously he had said he would not withdraw. He explained later, however, that his reply to Saltonstall was phrased in the manner that it was out of courtesy to the Senator and that he had not changed his mind.

It was learned today that Democratic members of the committee were attempting to work out some means of clearing Pauley of any suspicion of treason or malpractice which might have arisen from testimony given in the hearings, in return for his agreement to withdraw his name.

This movement, it was understood, was initiated by friends of Pauley on the committee.

Resolution Being Drafted.

(An Associated Press dispatch quoted a member of the committee as saying committee members were working on a resolution, which had not been completed because members had been unable to agree on how far to go in exonerating Pauley of charges made by Harold L. Ickes, former Secretary of the Interior. There was no immediate indication whether Pauley would accept the proposal, even if committee members involved can put it into final form. Ickes testified that Pauley had made him "the rawest proposition I ever received"—a suggestion in 1944 that $300,000 could be raised from oil men if the Government would not press claim to tidelands oil areas.)

Republican Oil Man's Gift.

Henry D. Collier, board chairman of the Standard Oil Co. of California, testified at yesterday's hearing that in 1940 he gave $1000 to Pauley for the Democratic campaign fund, although he has always been a member of the Republican party.

"That was my personal contribution," Collier related. "I had never met Mr. Pauley, but he telephoned me and said he was in charge of the raising of campaign funds in 11 Western states, and would appreciate a contribution. To be honest with you, I'll say I agreed to do so, although I'm a Republican."

He was not asked why he contributed to the Democrats. He said, in response to further inquiries, that he could not say what other officers of his company contributed to the Democratic party through Pauley.

No Mention of Suit.

Pauley, he added, made no mention of the Government's threat to file a test suit asserting federal jurisdiction over the tidelands of the nation. He said he did not actually meet Pauley until 1941 or 1942, when Standard was consummating the purchase, through the Signal Oil & Gas Co., of certain of the assets of Pauley's Petrol Oil Corp.

Rumors flew through the caucus room yesterday during the hearings. One was that Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley, whose son-in-law, Max O'Rell Truitt, a former St. Louisan, has been acting as Pauley's counsel at the hearings, had threatened to resign from the Senate unless Pauley asked the President to withdraw the nomination. Reporters were unable to confirm this report.

Another rumor that made the rounds of the press tables was that Pauley had intended to withdraw after reading his prepared statement protesting against accusations that his firm had sold oil to Japan prior to Pearl Harbor.

The deluge of rumors during the day was fed also by the news that President Truman had gone to the Capitol to lunch with Leslie Biffle, Senate clerk. Biffle has repeatedly informed Truman and others that Pauley has no chance of confirmation. Biffle had no comment after seeing Truman.

Collier a Vague Witness.

Collier, the chief witness yesterday, was vague on most of the questions asked him by Tobey and Brewster. He pointed out that he did not become board chairman until 1941, and was not familiar with many of the company's extra-curricular activities prior to that time, such as its fight to put over the Atkinson oil bill in California in 1939.

Asked if Standard had contributed $200,000 to the Yes on Five Committee in connection with the Atkinson bill, which was opposed by the independent oil companies, Collier said: "I haven't the slightest idea whether we contributed a cent."

Senator Tobey then read the record showing that Harry J. March, vice president and general counsel of the Signal Oil & Gas Co. of Los Angeles, had testified he acted as agent for Standard Oil in turning $200,000 over to the Yes on Five Committee. March had sworn that he obtained the money from the Farmers' & Merchants' National Bank after Victor Palmer, treasurer of Standard, had informed March that Standard had made the money available at the bank.

Indication of Deception.

Collier insisted that he still knew nothing of this transaction. Tobey then read to the witness the exhortations of a billboard of the Yes on Five Committee in 1939 which said: "Stop Standard Oil! Vote Yes on Proposition No. 5 (the Atkinson bill)." The Senator wanted to know if this did not make clear that Standard, while secretly financing the Yes on Five Committee, tried to deceive the public by letting itself be attacked by that same committee.

The witness considered this problem at great length, and finally decided "some people" might have obtained that conclusion, but generally the situation was of no consequence.

At another point Collier conceded: "It's an amazing story over a long period of time, that Atkinson fight and the part Standard played in it. But someone else on Standard will have to explain it—I cannot."

Tobey has sought to show that Pauley switched to the side of Standard Oil in the Atkinson fight after selling valuable properties to Standard through a third party. Pauley has countered with the flat insistence that he was never opposed to the Atkinson measure. He did oppose the Sharkey Conservation bill in 1933, he has said, but this measure had important differences from the other bill.

Another witness yesterday was Victor Rosetti, president of the Farmers and Merchants National Bank of Los Angeles. After several hours of interrogation, Senators Tobey and Brewster succeeded in getting little information from him. He is Pauley's banker.

UNIONS CALL FOR BREAK-UP OF BIG ESTATES IN REICH

World Labor Federation Urges Distribution Among Germans of Junkers' Land.

PARIS, Feb. 27 (AP)—The executive committee of the World Federation of Trade Unions recommended today the breaking up of estates throughout Germany for distribution "among the German people."

The committee, which recently returned from a tour of all four of the Allied occupation zones in Germany, declared in a provisional report that it was necessary to destroy "the economic basis of the Junker class, one of the principle supporters of Nazism and militarism."

"This requires the prompt breaking up of the great landed estates and their distribution among the German people," the report said. "This has been accomplished in the Russian zone, and we urge that similar measures be promptly applied elsewhere."

The report, read by Sidney Hillman, a leader of the CIO in the United States and WFTU vice president, also asserted that the de-Nazification process in Germany had been "far from satisfactory."

REVOLT BY 2500 INDIAN SOLDIERS IS REPORTED

BOMBAY, Feb. 27 (AP)—A telephone message to Nagpur said that 2500 Indian soldiers revolted today and marched out of their barracks at Jubbulpore, a military center in the central provinces.

The Sepoys, members of the Indian Signal Corps and the Indian Electrical and Mechanical Engineering Corps, carried Congress party and Moslem League flags in a parade through the streets of Jubbulpore. The message said lathis (bamboo sticks), bayonets and revolvers were brought into play to stop them.

Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, Congress party leader, yesterday urged "every Indian in the Army, Air Force, Navy or Police Force to refuse to shoot or harm his brother Indian on orders of the Englishman."

7 GERMANS ACCUSED IN BRAZIL OF SOUTH AMERICAN SPY PLOT

RIO DE JANEIRO, Feb. 27 (AP)—Seven Germans, including a woman, were accused today of espionage in Brazil as part of a spy plot in Argentina, Uruguay, Chile, Peru, Colombia and Venezuela.

The charges were presented to a supreme military tribunal.

The group, which also included four Brazilians accused as accomplices, was headed by a German engineer, George Konrad Frederich Blass, a former director of the University of Cologne. All face death penalties.

BOARD TO TAKE UP REQUEST FOR NEW ACTION ON RIEHL RAT CONTROL BILL

Estimate Group to Act Tomorrow on Question of Reconsidering Earlier Disapproval of Separate Division.

The request of Alderman Vernon Riehl that the Board of Estimate and Apportionment reconsider its earlier disapproval of his bills for establishing a separate division for rat elimination and rodent control will be taken up tomorrow at the weekly meeting of the Board.

The bills were disapproved earlier because of lack of funds to carry out the provisions of the bills and because of opposition from Director of Public Welfare Henry S. Caulfield who contended work done by the Health Division would be duplicated by the proposed new division.

Although no definite action will be taken at this time by the Board of Estimate, all its members—Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann, Comptroller Louis Nolte and President Albert Schweitzer of the Board of Aldermen—have expressed themselves as in favor of starting definite rat control work this year, with special emphasis on beginning the municipal collection of rubbish and ashes.

To Await Committee Report.

The Mayor said today he would withhold formulating a definite program until the return of a committee he appointed to make a study of these municipal services in other large cities. This committee will leave in about two weeks and should return about the end of March.

No half-way measures will be satisfactory, the Mayor said. "St. Louis has waited 25 years for rubbish and ash collection," he stated. "When we start it this year, I want to make sure that it is an efficient service."

Further discussion of methods of financing such services will be withheld until the committee reports on the costs of such services elsewhere, the Mayor said.

A suggestion that the city might obtain about $400,000 annually from the sale of waste paper collected at the same time rubbish is collected has been made by Schweitzer. The Mayor said he didn't believe the sum would be adequate for an all-out clean-up program and that he didn't believe the city should attempt to take away revenue now received by organizations collecting the paper.

Responses received so far to the various methods suggested by the Mayor for financing the cost of the collection services indicate that the majority of people are most favorable to the annual service charge, the Mayor said.

Children Planning Clean-up.

Meanwhile, the 90,000 children in St. Louis' public schools began to make plans for the annual clean-up campaign. Dr. Herbert O. Winterer, president of the Board of Education, in announcing the annual campaign, designed to make the children conscious of the need for civic cleanliness, said that rubbish and ash collection are necessities "if the city is to present a clean and orderly face to the world and eliminate rats and other vermin as a menace to health."

The clean-up campaign will begin April 8 and continue through April 20. Three thousand school children will participate in the annual clean-up parade through the downtown area on April 9. Other parades will be held in the city's various neighborhoods.

Rubbish overflowing from St. Louis ashpits is the most frequent cause of fires in the city, Fire Marshal Walter H. Kammann said yesterday. The city has more rubbish fires than other cities of like size because of infrequent collection. There were 1103 such fires in 1944 and 823 in 1945.

'BUCKETS' SHELLER ACQUITTED IN KILLING OF BARTENDER

Thomas P. (Buckets) Sheller was acquitted by a jury at Clayton today of the charge of murdering William J. Luttrell, a bartender, in October 1944 in a brawl in a tavern at 3637 Kienlen avenue, Pine Lawn.

The verdict of not guilty came after testimony yesterday by a ballistics expert that the bullet taken from Luttrell's body was fired from Sheller's pistol and an admission by Sheller that he fired one shot.

Sheller testified that his shot went wild and the bullet that killed Luttrell was one of four fired by Paul Hulahan, operator of the tavern and ousted business agent of the AFL Hodcarriers Union. Hulahan denied firing any shots.

Reporters in Ticket Mix-Up Bribe Way Into Reception for Cardinals

Embassy Fails to Put Names of 3 on Guest List, but They Get Into Rome Palace and Meet the Crown Prince.

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

ROME, Feb. 27 (By Radio)—A fanfare of trumpets heralded the arrival of each Cardinal, but a flourish as clarion was sounded by the rustle of banknotes with which three American correspondents bribed their way last evening into the Royal Palace—the Quirinal—where Crown Prince Umberto gave a reception for members of the Sacred College.

We had been told at the United States Embassy that our names were on a list of guests which would be sent to the palace, and that cards of admission would not be required. We were stopped at the first portal by a guard some six-and-a-half feet tall, in uniform, who demanded our cards.

An interpreter was found who explained our instructions from the Embassy. The sentinel was adamant. "No permit, no entry," he exclaimed, and waved us to stand aside. He resumed his task of saluting the prelates and aristocrats in each car as it rolled into the courtyard.

An Emergency Measure.

The emergency created its own inspiration, and a bill for 1000 lire passed unobtrusively into the giant's hand. The effect was startling. Leaving the cardinals and noblemen to shift for themselves, he darted to a telephone, and a moment later could be heard pleading passionately in behalf of three American journalists.

Quickly there arrived a functionary in mufti, who led us into a small room inside the palace. As he appeared uncertain what to do next, his wits were stimulated with a 500 lire note. He dashed away and returned with another civilian, who agreed to look for our names on the embassy list. Through some error the names were not there.

Another 500 lire resolved this stalemate, and soon we were taken in hand by a young Italian officer who spoke with a pronounced Oxford accent. He could do nothing, he said, except refer our problem to his "boss."

A youthful Italian major was brought on the scene. After the situation was explained, he beckoned us to follow, and led us up two majestic flights of stairs past guards with resplendent uniforms, helmets and drawn swords. When he was leaving us in the coatroom, I offered him a package of American cigarettes, which had been bought in the black market for 300 lire.

To our unbounded astonishment, the major smiled and said, "No, thank you." It was learned later that I had been guilty of trying to tip a member of the royal family. We passed through salons incredibly spacious and sumptuous, along rows of palace guards chosen for their stature and glittering with decorations and picturesque costumes.

Colorful Reception.

The reception itself was colorful to an extreme. Cardinals wearing red zucchetti, monsignori in purple robes and priests in black cassocks alternated with military and naval officers in dress uniform, patricians in afternoon wear or full evening dress, and swarms of beautiful women in ultra-fashionable garb.

The central figures were Umberto and his glowing wife, Princess Ileana. The former is tall, middle-aged, dark and baldish. He received the cardinals in a room to which only they were admitted. Then, passing through the throng outside, the Crown Prince greeted individually all whom he could reach. As he took my hand, I was glad to remember that, according to evidence presented at Nuernberg, Adolf Hitler, after Mussolini's fall, denounced Umberto as a traitor and renegade.

After learning my name, the Crown Prince, in exact English, said politely he was glad I had come to Rome, and that he hoped we might meet again. At tables gleaming with white linen and silver plate, butlers in scarlet coats served wine, lemonade, sandwiches and other delicacies.

Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York was there, but the other United States cardinals, including John Cardinal Glennon of St. Louis, were absent.

The Young Sales Corp., 1054 Central Industrial drive, settled a tax deficiency claim of $109,831 on 1941 and 1942 income and excess profits taxes by payment of $19,999 in a stipulation filed today in the United States Tax Court.

The claim arose when the Commissioner of Internal Revenue disallowed a deduction made by the corporation on compensation paid its officers which the commissioner ruled was excessive.

Other stipulations filed today included settlement of income tax deficiency claims against the estates of O. E. Niedringhaus and his wife, Mrs. Marie W. Niedringhaus, for the years 1939, 1940 and 1941. The claim of $32,612 was settled for $26,121.

Duncan I. Meier, a real estate operator, compromised a claimed deficiency of $3633 on his 1941 income tax by agreeing to pay $1500. The court expects to complete its docket in time to adjourn tomorrow.

SENATE VOTES TO CONTINUE PRESENT STATE INCOME TAX

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 27 (AP)—The Missouri Senate passed and returned to the House yesterday a re-enactment of the present income tax laws, leaving personal exemptions on their present basis. The House had raised deductions to $1200 for single persons, $2400 for the head of a family and $400 for each dependent but the Senate put the figures back to $1000, $2000 and $200.

For the second time the Senate beat down an effort to siphon the income tax proceeds off to local governmental units by defeating a plan to return the $11,000,000 annual revenue to the school districts where it is collected.

CHURCHILL TO USE ST. LOUIS'S OFFICIAL AUTO AT FULTON

President Truman and former Prime Minister Winston Churchill of England will use the city's official automobile in the parades at Jefferson City and Fulton next Tuesday. It is one of the few open cars in the area which meet approval of Secret Service men for the purpose.

The car will be taken to Jefferson City in advance of the arrival of the distinguished guests. After a parade through the State Capital, they will be driven to Fulton where another parade will precede Churchill's address at Westminster College.

Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann will greet the President and Churchill on their arrival here Tuesday morning. They will be at Union Station for about 15 minutes. Afterwards, the Mayor will drive to Fulton where he will be among the guests invited for the Churchill address.

An honorary degree of doctor of laws will be presented to Churchill by John Raeburn Green, son of the late John Findley Green, St. Louis attorney for whom the Green Foundation at the college is a memorial. Invocation at the ceremony will be delivered by the Rev. William B. Lampe of St. Louis, moderator of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., and a member of the college board.

FLORIAN CONVICTED, GETS 3-YEAR TERM

Jury Finds Realty Dealer Embezzled $3000 From Client.

Thomas V. Florian, real estate dealer, was found guilty today of embezzlement of $3000 by a jury in Circuit Judge Robert L. Aronson's court, which fixed his sentence at three years in the penitentiary. Formal sentencing was deferred by Judge Aronson pending the filing of a motion for a new trial.

Florian was charged with embezzling the money from John Sheehy, 85-year-old resident of Father Dempsey's Home, 1411 Hogan street.

Sheehy testified yesterday that he gave Florian $3000 on April 6, 1944, in a real estate transaction involving the purchase of a rooming house at 3655 Washington boulevard. He said Florian never did turn over the deed for the property or return his money, although he requested him to do so on numerous occasions.

Another witness, Miss Dorothy Whitehead, who lives at the Washington boulevard address, testified she was with Sheehy when he gave Florian the $3000. Florian was found guilty by a jury last Jan. 9 of embezzling $5000 in March, 1944 from Sheehy in the same real estate deal. He was sentenced to three years' imprisonment but has been at liberty under bond pending an appeal.

WIFE OF DICKSON W. PIERCE GETS DIVORCE; NO CONTEST

Rebekah West Pierce, 48 Westmoreland place, was granted a divorce today by Circuit Judge Edward M. Ruddy from Dickson Walsh Pierce, on grounds of general indignities. Custody of their two children, Allen West Pierce, 5 years old, and Anne, 3, was granted to Mrs. Pierce. Pierce did not contest the suit.

The Pierce wedding took place on June 10, 1939, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen T. West, on Westmoreland place. Following their separation last July 5, Pierce, recently discharged from the Army, went to live at the Yale Club in New York City.

No alimony was granted, but a stipulation providing for a property settlement was approved by the court.

FEW MISSOURIANS TO GET VARDAMAN CASE SUBPENAS

By a Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27—Some witnesses from Missouri will be subpenaed, the Post-Dispatch was informed today, to testify concerning the qualifications of Commodore James K. Vardaman, White House naval aide, to be a member of the board of governors of the Federal Reserve System.

The Senate banking subcommittee which has the nomination under consideration has not yet formally decided to issue the subpenas, but may do so at a meeting late today. The matter was discussed at a brief informal session of the subcommittee yesterday.

Issuance of the subpenas will be a partial victory for Senator Forrest C. Donnell (Rep.), Missouri, who has led the fight against Vardaman's confirmation. The Post-Dispatch was informed, however, that only a few of the more than 20 subpenas which Donnell originally requested will be issued.

The witnesses whose testimony is desired by the subcommittee are those who have knowledge of the padded inventory of the old Vardaman Shoe Company of St. Louis. The committee is not disposed to seek the testimony of St. Louis bankers concerning their estimate of Vardaman's general qualifications for the Federal Reserve post.

In response to telegrams of inquiry sent by the committee last week to 23 persons in and near St. Louis at least five St. Louis bankers, as has been told, expressed disapproval of the nomination on the basis of their appraisals of Vardaman's general qualifications.

When subpenas are issued one certainly will be for Frank Bittner, president of the Ermtry Shoe Co., successor to the Vardaman firm after a bankruptcy reorganization. Donnell has informed the subcommittee he understands Bittner has an affidavit given to support the charge that the inventory was altered on instructions from Vardaman.

That the inventory was inflated is not in dispute, but Vardaman, appearing before the subcommittee, denied emphatically that he had anything to do with it and said he had taken steps to correct the misrepresentation.

AUTO DRIVER GETS 3 MONTHS, $100 FINE IN SOLDIER'S DEATH

Jerry E. Bolle of Festus, Mo., a glassworker, was found guilty of manslaughter yesterday by a jury in circuit court which fixed his sentence at three months in city jail and assessed a fine of $100.

Bolle was tried for the death of Pvt. Spencer M. Turk of Compton, Calif., who was struck and killed Dec. 7, 1944, by an automobile driven by Bolle as he was standing in a safety zone at South Broadway and Chariton street. Turk's fiancee, Miss Ruth M. Haller, 20 years old, 3734A Minnesota avenue, was also fatally injured in the same accident.

Bolle still faces a manslaughter charge in the death of Miss Haller and a felonious wounding charge in connection with the injury of Mrs. Grace Graeff, 2817 Chariton street, who was struck at the same time.

MANY SHOPS LACK MEAT; SCANT STOCKS IN OTHERS

Small Slaughterers, Who Plan to Close Tomorrow, Seek Conference With OPA on Rules for Industry.

The local meat shortage, already acute, will soon become critical if 35 small slaughtering houses in the St. Louis area carry out plans to suspend operations at the close of business tomorrow in protest against Government regulations, retail meat dealers said today. The 35 firms, members of the Missouri-Illinois Small Slaughterers' Association, supply an estimated 75 per cent of the city's beef.

A spokesman for the Retail Meat Dealers' Association said many markets had exhausted their supplies over the week end and have been able to obtain little or no additional supplies. All kinds of meat have been scarce for some time, and any supplies on hand in stores will not last long, it was pointed out.

Municipal hospitals and other city institutions are not likely to be affected, however, most of their meat supplies coming from larger packing houses not involved in the projected shutdown.

Conference Requested.

Max W. Kramer, attorney for the association of small slaughterers, sent a telegram today to Paul A. Porter, head of the Office of Price Administration in Washington, urging that he send a representative here to confer with Midwestern packers. The association has invited more than 100 small slaughterers from 15 states to a conference scheduled for Friday at 2 p.m. at Hotel Jefferson.

"We want to work with the OPA, but restrictive regulations make it impossible for a packer to stay in business without violating the law," Kramer asserted.

Present regulations make slaughtering a "gamble," he contended, declaring that the percentage of beef of various grades produced by slaughtering operations frequently does not conform to percentage limitations prescribed by OPA. Another objectionable factor, he continued, is the possibility that a packer's subsidy payments may be withdrawn for unintentional infraction of rules long after the operations involved.

Suspension in Cincinnati.

Meat price increases just authorized by the OPA in conjunction with the granting of higher wages to employes of large packing houses in no way affect the situation of the small slaughterers, whose principal complaints are not directed at price ceilings, Kramer added.

A similar suspension of operations by small slaughterers in Cincinnati is planned. Twenty-seven members of the Missouri-Illinois group halted operations here last May. This shutdown lasted three weeks, ending when the OPA promised to try to check diversion to eastern markets of cattle normally provided for slaughterers here, and to investigate complaints about restrictive purchase price ceilings.

WIVES OF FIVE ST. LOUISANS TO SAIL FROM BRITAIN FRIDAY

Five wives of service men of the St. Louis area, three of whom will bring children, will sail Friday from England on the Ericcson, the Associated Press reported. The ship's list of 1145 wives and children included the following:

Mrs. Jeanne T. LaGrave of Lancaster, England, and William S., 5 months old, wife and son of William LaGrave, 5696 Kingsbury boulevard; Mrs. Elizabeth Walsh of Bedfordshire, and William E., 22 months, wife and son of Pfc. William E. Walsh, 202 West Loretta avenue, Lemay; Mrs. Marjorie Jacobs of Somerset, and Carol, 1 year, wife and daughter of Sgt. August Jacobs of East St. Louis; Mrs. Betty F. Bade of Oxford, wife of Sgt. Frederick Bade, Natural Bridge road, and Mrs. Kathleen Bouser of Bedfordshire, wife of Pvt. Richard Bouser of Alton.

A sixth war bride, Mrs. Kathleen Reeder of Belfast, Ireland, wife of Lt. Raymond Reeder, 4717 Beacon avenue, is expected to sail from England early next week aboard the Henry Gibbons with approximately 545 other wives and children of service men.

TO SEEK QUICK PASSAGE OF ONE-WAY STREET BILLS

An effort to get immediate passage of bills to establish one-way streets of Pine street and of the Chestnut - Lawton route, from Fourth street to Grand avenue, will be made by Alderman J. Ray Weinbrenner, chairman of the aldermanic committee on traffic regulation. A like effort to get passage of a bill to prohibit daytime parking on Locust street will be made, Weinbrenner said.

The bills were introduced as means to ease traffic congestion in the downtown area. Pine street would become a west-bound street, and the Chestnut-Lawton route would be for east-bound traffic only. The parking prohibition on Locust street contemplates the use of the street for bus routes in accordance with the mass transportation rerouting plan for the downtown area.

The bills were approved yesterday by the traffic regulation committee. Under ordinary procedure, it would be several weeks before they could be passed, but Weinbrenner said he would ask for suspension of rules to get immediate action.

CITY TO RECEIVE BIDS APRIL 5 FOR 19 NEW HOUSES

382 Applications Are Filed by Veterans for Purchase of Homes Under Program.

With 382 applications filed by veterans for purchase of the permanent houses to be built by the city at Connecticut street and Sublette avenue, President Milton M. Kinsey of the city Board of Public Service announced today that bids would be received April 5 for construction of 19 of these housing units.

Kinsey said he hoped the bids for the 19 houses, because of the larger number, would be lower per house than were the bids for three houses, the first lot on which bids were asked. The lowest bid, as told yesterday, ran in the $5100- and $5200-per-house range. Kinsey invited the bidder, Smith-Cooke Construction Co., to send representatives to his office this afternoon to discuss the figure, which was higher than he had anticipated.

The houses and lots, as told yesterday, will be sold to veterans, with priority for purchasing to be determined, on the basis of need, by officials of the Veterans' Service Center in the Civil Courts building. The Center reported today that the applications from veterans numbered 382.

Albert Osburg, city-employed architect from Kinsey's office, was in Weingarten, Ste. Genevieve County, today, examining the 700 housing units of the recent war prisoners' camp, which have been allotted to St. Louis for temporary housing, and will be placed on city-owned land. Osburg is to report on the requirements for transporting and reassembling the buildings.

Engineers from Kinsey's office who were in Chicago yesterday, consulting the Federal Public Housing Authority office on surplus housing allotted to this city, called this afternoon at the office of J. Wesley McAfee, chairman of the Citizens' Emergency Housing Committee, to report to him on the situation as to the 23 Jefferson Barracks buildings which are to be turned over to the city, to be made into apartments for eight families, 184 families in all. These buildings will remain in their present place on the Barracks reservation.

Early Congressional Reaction to $600,000,000-a-Year Plan Is Favorable.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The armed forces put in a bid today for a 20 per cent pay increase and found first congressional reaction favorable, although the boost probably would cost $600,000,000 a year.

To many Congressmen reluctant about continuing the draft, the proposed increase in pay and allowances for all military personnel represented a fresh inducement for voluntary enlistments—and the more volunteers, the less demand on selective service.

The increase was recommended jointly by Secretary of War Patterson and secretary of the Navy Forrestal, who said the objective was to bring pay schedules "more in line with the increased living costs" as well as to spur the current recruiting campaign.

Under the plan, a private's pay would be increased from $50 a month to $60. The proposed increase would not apply to flying, parachute and glider pay, submarine pay and other special pay and allowances granted for extra-hazardous duty. A flat $10,000 payment was proposed for the next-of-kin of men killed in airplane accidents in authorized flights, however.

Patterson averaged up the pay for all grades of enlisted men, counted in the food, clothing, medical care and other things they get free, and came up with the figure of $158 a month as the average pay scale.

"This is far below the average wage paid in industry last year, before present wage increases in industry went into effect," he said. "Last year the average General Motors hourly rate workers earned $290 a month, and the average earnings of refinery workers in Standard Oil were $268 a month.

"If we are to get the necessary number of men and at the same time to attract to the military the type of men we need to handle the complicated weapons now in use, we should bring the pay of enlisted men more nearly in line with the wages paid in private business and industry.

"The pay of officers should also be increased 20 per cent. Since 1908 their pay and allowances have been increased by only 26 per cent, while the cost of living since 1908 has gone up 108 per cent.

"The pay of a second lieutenant at present is only $150 a month, and he must meet most of his living expenses out of that."

WOMAN CITED FOR RESISTING SEIZURE OF CURE-ALL DEVICE

Mrs. Marie T. Sager of Union, Mo., who has successfully resisted efforts of a United States deputy marshal to confiscate her "spectro-chrome" cure-all machine, was served yesterday with a summons to show cause in United States District Judge Richard M. Duncan's court Friday why she should not be cited for contempt of court for refusing to surrender the machine.

Deputy Marshall Les Davison has made three trips to Union in the last two weeks to seize Mrs. Sager's machine, on a libel information issued by the district attorney's office on complaint of the Federal Food and Drug Administration, but had been unable to get beyond her front door.

Judge Duncan issued the show-cause order last Thursday on application of District Attorney Harry C. Blanton. Davison finally served her by following a small girl to the door and shoving the paper at Mrs. Sager as she opened the door. Mrs. Sager, whose husband, Joseph, is an ice and fuel dealer, contends the machine, which consists of an aluminum box containing a 1000-watt light bulb, an electric fan and some colored slides, has been of great value in treating her family. Federal officials say it has no therapeutic value and might do serious harm by delaying proper medical treatment of serious illnesses.

C. KENNETH THIES IN RACE FOR MAYOR OF CLAYTON

C. Kenneth Thies, president of the St. Louis Bar Association, announced today he would be a candidate for Mayor of Clayton in the April 2 election.

Mayor Alfred H. Kerth, who told the Board of Aldermen of Clayton last night that he would not be a candidate for re-election, said today he would support Thies. Kerth, who has been Mayor for six years, said he plans to devote his full time to his law practice.

Thies has been a member of the Clayton Board of Alderman for the last five years and lives at 29 Aberdeen place. Offices to be voted on April 2 will be Mayor, marshal, city collector and one alderman from each of the five wards in the city. The final date for filing is March 23.

KIRKWOOD MAN IS KILLED IN COLORADO AUTO CRASH

Raymond M. Sievers, a salesman, 643 Hawbrook road, Kirkwood, was killed last night in a head-on automobile collision near Palmer Lake, Colo. Four other persons were killed in the accident.

Sievers, 57 years old, was a passenger in an automobile driven by Louis F. Quigg, vice president of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Corp. of Pueblo, who was also killed.

It took highway patrolmen several hours to remove the bodies, which were pinned inside the wrecked machine. Sievers was in Colorado on a business trip.

PUBLIC OFFICIALS AMONG CANADA'S 13 SPY SUSPECTS

'Other Persons in Positions of Trust' Also Involved, Ministry of Justice Says.

OTTAWA, Feb. 27 (AP)—The 13 suspects in Canada's espionage case include "public officials and other persons in positions of trust," the Ministry of Justice announced yesterday.

The statement disclosed that Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King on Feb. 5 informed the committee of the Privy Council "that . . . secret and confidential information has been communicated directly or indirectly by public officals and other persons in positions of trust to the agents of a foreign power."

The "foreign power" not officially identified, was Soviet Russia, as formally acknowledged by Moscow.

The spy suspects, 11 men and 2 women, had been described previously only as "employes or former employes" of Government departments or agencies. It is understood that one of the 13 is near the rank of deputy minister, the highest civil service position in the Canadian Government.

Apparently in answer to criticism by lawyers of the stern measures invoked to keep the case secret, the Ministry of Justice statement described in detail the broad powers delegated to the royal commission assigned to the investigation.

The commissioners, Supreme Court Justices Robert Taschereau and R. L. Kellock, are empowered to summon and question witnesses and order them to produce any documents or articles requisite to the investigation.

"The said commissioners may adopt such procedure and method as they may deem expedient . . . and may alter or change the same from time to time," the statement said.

No applications for release under habeas corpus proceedings have been filed. To do so, an attorney would have to risk public identity of his client and violate the secrecy clamped on the case.

Raymond Quain, Ottawa lawyer, said he would press for adoption by the Carleton County (Ottawa) Bar Association of a resolution protesting against the restriction of personal liberty, which he said deprives the suspects "of the constitutional right either to have a charge laid against them or to be set free."

The Ottawa Evening Citizen editorially condemned the Government policy of refusing the suspects legal advice.

4 ST. LOUISANS HONORED FOR ATOMIC BOMB WORK

Four St. Louisans were among the heads of 117 industrial firms, universities and research organizations honored last night in New York for their work on the atomic bomb project.

They were: Dr. Arthur H. Compton, chancellor of Washington University; A. G. Stoughton, president, Midwest Piping & Supply Co., 1450 South Second street; William M. Rand, president, Monsanto Chemical Co., 1700 South Second street, and A. C. Boylston, president, Mallinckrodt Chemical Co., 3600 North Second street.

The award, a scroll presented by the McGraw-Hill Publishing Company's Chemical and Metallurgical Engineering magazine, was accepted for the individuals and industries by Maj. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, head of the Manhattan Engineer District, who had overall direction of the project.

HOUSE HIKES PAY OF JUDGES, NOBODY ASKS HOW MUCH

'Purely a Family Affair for St. Louis,' Sponsor Tells Members.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 27—Three bills increasing the salaries of Judges Louis Comerford and David W. Fitzgibbon of the St. Louis Court of Criminal Correction, Prosecuting Attorney W. C. Lochmoeller and two associates were finally passed by the House yesterday and sent to the Governor, without mention to House members of the amount involved.

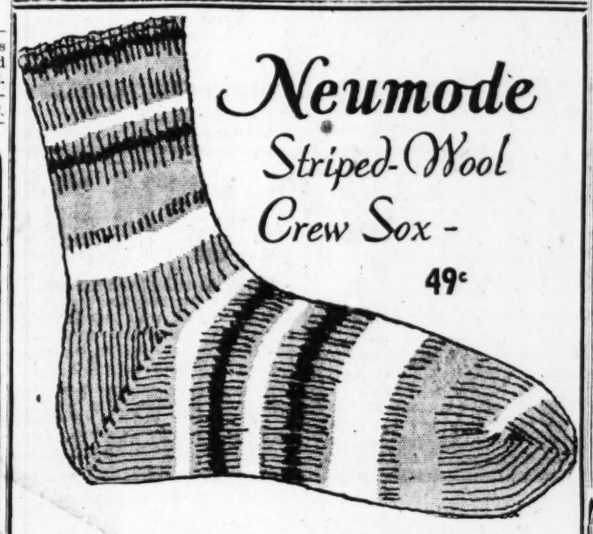

Representative Robert M. Uxa of St. Louis, who handled the bills, was very, very brief in his explanation. He said they were salary adjustment bills and "purely local—a purely family affair for St. Louis." He said the bills had "the approbation and blessing" of St. Louis Board of Estimate and Apportionment. Uxa mentioned no amounts. No one asked a question.

The bills increase the salaries of Comerford, Fitzgibbon and Lochmoeller from $5000 to $7000 a year, and the salaries of two associate prosecuting attorneys for the Court of Criminal Correction from $3500 to $4000 a year.

DEBT AT NEW HIGH; U. S. OBLIGATIONS NOW 279 BILLION

Receipts, However, Exceed Expenditures for First 3 Weeks of February.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The national debt once more rolled to a new high, but Treasury figures indicated yesterday that this month might be the first in almost four years in which income exceeded outgo.

Government receipts, boosted by income tax payments ahead of the March 15 deadline, exceeded expenditures by $248,844,551.91 through the first three weeks of February, Treasury reports showed.

If this excess is maintained for the final week of February, the month will break a string of deficits going back to March, 1942.

Meanwhile, the debt total rose to $279,560,743,758.17, making the average share of each American $1991.98.

The Federal Reserve Board suggested recently that "if the national income continues at the present high level" the budget may be balanced before 1947 when, it said, President Truman's estimates indicate a balance of expenditures and receipts will be achieved.

not only problems of transportation but security, sovereignty and national prestige problems as well, the joint working out of air transport agreements between nations is a most difficult one. Many countries, naturally desirous of having air transport companies of their own, and with treasuries heavily depleted by their war efforts, have a genuine fear of the type of rate war with which the history of various forms of transportation have been so full. In the Bermuda agreement the executive branch of the United States Government has concurred in a plan for the setting up of machinery which should protect against the type of rate war feared by so many of the countries through whose air space we desire that our airlines have the right to fly. Part of the plan for future rate control will be dependent on the granting of additional powers by the Congress to the Civil Aeronautics Board."

The statement concluded: "I believe the results of this conference constitute a very important step forward."

Pleased With Demobilization.

Holding up a colored graph showing Army discharges since V-E day, the President said that he was pleased with the demobilization program. The Army, he announced, had released 6,300,000 soldiers as of Feb. 22 and the Navy 1,300,000, a total of more than 7,500,000.

The next piece of paper he took up was a half sheet written in bold long hand. The president said that it was a statement by the president of Harvard. He said:

"Things seem to be going fairly well now that a spirit of pessimism prevails in all departments."

The Chief Executive obviously intended this as apropos the present situation in his administration. Asked what Harvard president had made the observation and when, Truman replied that it was President Eliot who may have said it yesterday or the day before. Eliot became president emeritus in 1909 and died in 1926 at the age of 92. .The quotation was an old one.

Then came the big announcement. In a low voice, the President said that he was appointing Krug Secretary of the Interior. The reporters had been waiting for this since the appointment leaked from the President's luncheon at the Senate. Here was official verification of the report.

Chapman Remains Assistant.

A reporter asked what would happen to Oscar Chapman, who has been serving as Acting Secretary of the Interior. The President replied that Chapman would still be an assistant secretary.

The President said that he had not told the White House inner circles until yesterday morning that he intended to appoint Krug.

The remainder of the conference was devoted to questions and answers.

Asked to comment on the merger of the Russian Army and Navy under Generalissimo Stalin, the President said that he congratulated Russia on this move. Asked if it would have any effect on our own proposed merger, he asked, why should it; we'll decide our own problems.

A reporter wanted to know when the Panama Canal would be returned to civil administrators. The President said he did not know.

"Did the latest executive order give Chester Bowles supervision of the Civil Production Administration as well as the OPA?" a reporter asked.

The President said emphatically that it did not.

Asked if he would issue further food conservation directives, to meet foreign demands, he replied that he had nothing in mind but if further directives were needed he would issue them.

With a curt but jovial its-none-of-your-business reply, he declined to say what he had discussed yesterday afternoon at a conference with Attorney General Clark and Secretaries Byrnes and Vinson, beyond asserting definitely that it had no connection with the Canadian espionage investigation.

SENATE REACTION TO KRUG FAVORABLE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—President Truman's choice of J. A. Krug as Secretary of the Interior came as a surprise to Senators yesterday. Krug's speedy confirmation seemed likely, however, despite some grumbling from Westerners that he is not a representative of their section. He was born and reared in Wisconsin.

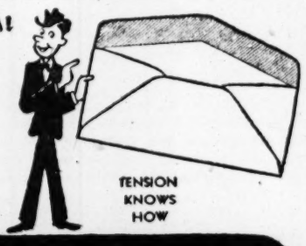

Senator McKellar (Dem.), Tennessee, who has been critical of Krug in the past, especially when he was closely associated with TVA Chairman David E. Lilienthal, told a reporter he didn't know "a better man for the place."

Senator Morse (Rep.), said he considers Krug "a very high type of Government official." Senator Reed (Rep.), Kansas, called him "one of the best administrators in Government."

Truman went outside the ranks of his old and personal friends in picking Krug. This prompted one long-time friend of the President to say Truman's action gave evidence of a new determination to ignore his inner circle whenever its members are slow to agree on recommending an appointee.

DIRECTOR OF HOSPITAL HELD UP; $1200 TAKEN

Dr. Frank Smith Accosted in Yard of Home, 5215 Lindell.

Dr. Frank Smith, director of the Park Lane Memorial Hospital, reported to police last night that he was robbed of between $1200 and $1500 in the back yard of his home at 5215 Lindell boulevard by two men who threatened him with revolvers.

Police said Dr. Smith told them he and Miss Vera Sokaski, an employe, returned to his house late after working on accounts at the hospital at 4930 Lindell boulevard. Dr. Smith said he parked his automobile in the garage and was walking toward the house when one of the men addressed him as "Doc" and told him to hand over his wallet. Both robbers he said, wore dark glasses. After taking the billfold, they fled east toward Lake avenue.

The physician said Miss Sokaski ran into the house to call police when the men approached. He was carrying a larger amount of money than usual he said, because he intended to make a loan to a friend.

CLIFFORD MAY GET NEW WHITE HOUSE JOB

St. Louisan Reported Considered as Administrative Aid to Truman.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27—Clark McAdams Clifford, former St. Louis lawyer who was promoted to captain in the naval reserve Jan. 24, probably will be named an administrative assistant to President Truman, whom he is serving now as an assistant naval aide, the Post-Dispatch learned today.

Reports have been current that Capt. Clifford would be named naval aide to the President after the nomination of Commodore James K. Vardaman Jr. of St. Louis to board of governors of the Federal Reserve System is confirmed by the Senate, but White House officials said that Clifford's services were too highly valued to appoint him to this decorative position.

He may be named the naval aide temporarily and given additional duties, it was said. No definite decision has as yet been reached.

Capt. Clifford has been given many special assignments by President Truman. He was put in charge of the redesigning of the presidential seal and flag and is said to have had a hand in the creation of the new Central Foreign Intelligence Service.

When Judge Samuel I. Rosenman resigned recently as special counsel to the President, it was rumored that Clifford would succeed him. This was denied at the White House, where it was explained that the position would not be filled and that Rosenman would spend a day or so a week helping the President.

Truman today appointed Randolph Paul as a special $10,000-a-year presidential assistant. The White House said Paul would conduct negotiations for the State Department with various European nations who were neutral in the war on the subject of external German assets.

Paul, a former Treasury official, was a familiar figure on Capitol Hill for years in consideration of wartime tax bills. Recently he has been a tax consultant in private life.

TRUMAN CALLS ON HOOVER TO AID IN FOOD CONFERENCE

erts, retired Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, called at the White House to pledge his co-operation in the administration's effort to supply food for war-torn countries. He also promised the help of the United Nations Council of Philadelphia.

The telegrams were sent to Sheldon Clark, vice president of Sinclair Oil Corporation; Justin Miller, president, National Association of Broadcasters; Clarence Francis, chairman of board, General Foods Corporation; Dr. George H. Gallup, who conducts public opinion polls; Henry R. Luce, magazine publisher; James W. Young of the J. Walter Thompson Co.; Dr. William I. Myers, Cornell University; Chester C. Davis, former War Food Administrator; Eugene Meyer, publisher of the Washington Post; Mrs. Anna Lord Strauss, president, League of Women Voters; Eric Johnston, president, U. S. Chamber of Commerce and Mrs. Emily G. Dickinson, president, Federation of Women's Clubs.

White House Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said the voluntary drive was recommended by a Cabinet subcommittee which has been studying the food problem.

The Friday meeting will be under the auspices of Secretary of Commerce Wallace, Agriculture Secretary Anderson and Assistant Secretary of State Clayton, representing Secretary Byrnes.

mines in Germany are now being broken up by the Allies.

Key directors of Flick's giant combine also are in jail.

Used Slave Laborers.

Marcu said Flick employed tens of thousands of slave laborers, including women, and grew under the Nazis to become the second largest German producer of armaments. His production was second only to the great Vereingte Stahlwerke combine.

War weapons came from Flick's secretly-owned plants as early as 1933. By 1942, he had built up a combine of 129 concerns which he owned either outright or in which he held almost all of the stocks.

Flick's investments in dozens of other companies have not yet been investigated.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27—Representative Melvin Price (Dem.), East St. Louis, asked the House yesterday to approve a resolution directing its Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee to investigate the killing of two pickets Feb. 6 by armed guards of the Toledo, Peoria & Western Railroad.

The resolution is a companion measure to one introduced in the Senate. The Senate Interstate Commerce Committee has scheduled a preliminary inquiry for next Tuesday.

Price told the House the actions of the T. P. & W. guards were "as brazen as have been witnessed since the days of the Pinkerton thugs and mine police." He suggested particular inquiry into the conduct of the railroad's owner and president, George P. McNear Jr.

18-CT. PAY RISE APPROVED FOR SHIPYARD WORKERS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The National Wage Stabilization Board yesterday approved an 18-cent hourly wage increase for 650,000 workers in the shipbuilding industry. Officials said the ruling did not necessarily mean the wage increase would be granted.

The action was taken over the opposition of industry members of the board. It represented an approval of the wage adjustment adopted by the national shipbuilding conference Feb. 18, also over industry opposition.

Sylvester Garrett, vice chairman of the board, told reporters the ruling said in effect that "if and when" shipbuilding companies grant the 18-cent increase, the wage boost could be used as a basis for seeking increased prices. Representatives of the shipbuilding industry told the board they did not consider the action of the shipbuilding conference binding.

PROGRESSIVE MINE UNION QUITS AFL, LOOKS TOWARD CIO

By SPENCER R. McCULLOCH
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 27—Delegates to a special convention of the Progressive Miners of America were scheduled today to discuss the advisability of seeking affiliation with the CIO after they had voted unanimously to withdraw from the American Federation of Labor.

The resolution calling for withdrawal from the AFL because of the action of its executive council in readmitting the United Mine Workers was adopted late yesterday. Prior to balloting delegates reaffirmed their opposition to John L. Lewis, head of the UMW, and their belief in a democratic form of union in the coal fields. Action of the convention must be ratified by a referendum of the membership but it is anticipated it will be a formality since delegates were instructed by their locals to vote to leave the AFL.

The resolution, chosen from 13 in similar vein, stated that the AFL executive council had acted "in direct violation of the constitution of the federation" and "in violation of democratic principles."

It pointed out that the Progressives' Union was withdrawing "to preserve its integrity and its democracy."

One Man Opposes Move.

The only opposition voiced to withdrawing from the AFL was by Felix Goodnick of Belleville, a member of the executive board of the Progressives. Goodnick, who could not vote because he was not a delegate, made clear that he did not approve of the tactics of the AFL executive council but warned that an economic boycott against the Progressives might materialize if the union withdrew now.

"At this particular time I don't think it is good business to withdraw from the American Federation of Labor and declare war on it," Goodnick said. We should put the AFL in the position of declaring war on us.

"I am thinking of our AFL neighbors in our home communities. The battle won't be waged from Washington, it is going to be our own neighbors who wage battle with us. The men we live with may curtail our livelihood by refusing to use our products."

Goodnick said that in the St. Clair County area 90 per cent of the mines at which the Progressives hold contracts are independently operated. He pointed out that operators of those 53 mines, who do not belong to operators' associations, constitute a field for raiding by the rival union since "anyone can try to sign them up."

Other speakers expressed the fear that if the Progressives remained in the AFL they would be taken over by the United Mine Workers. They recalled the warfare with the UMW in which 22 Progressives were killed. It was recalled that the AFL welcomed the Progressives in 1938 after Lewis had left and formed the CIO and charged that as soon as Lewis left the CIO the aid of the AFL to the Progressives began to diminish.

Typical speeches included one by Mrs. Mary Kovall, of Eldorado, head of the Womens' Auxiliary of the Union. Mrs. Kovall, who asked the delegates to remember the union's "martyrs," said that "a miner's wife should know all about her husband's job."

"Confide in your wife," she urged, "tell your troubles to her. If we are getting in trouble again we will go down the line for you. But for God's sake don't let John L. Lewis take all we have gained away from us."

Against Being "Gobbled Up."

John McCann of Gillespie, asserted that to remain in the AFL would cause the union "to be gobbled up by the UMW."

"We have no reason to fear making a misstep," McCann said, "because we held out against the United Mine Workers before. There is no damnation they can put on us they have not already put on us. We will survive despite John L. the AFL."

John Marchiando, president of the union, after delivering a detailed report of futile efforts to block the readmission of Lewis into the AFL, declared the Progressives represented the only democratic miners' union and invited the rank and file members of the UMW to join them. He said he would resign and call another election if they were to do so.

FORMER ALTON MAN FACING DEATH SENTENCE FOUND SANE

SANTA CRUZ, Calif., Feb. 27 (AP) — A Superior Court jury which last week convicted Thomas Henry McMonigle of the first degree murder of 15-year-old Thora Chamberlain required but four minutes yesterday to decide he was sane. He is a former resident of the Alton (Ill.) area.

The second verdict, result of McMonigle's dual plea of not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity, doomed the former San Mateo bus driver and laborer to death in the state's gas chamber barring further legal reprieve.

The Chamberlain girl disappeared last Nov. 2 after attending classes at the Campbell high school. The state charged that McMonigle lured her into his automobile, killed her, and disposed of the body by throwing it from a cliff into the ocean.

Flashes of Life

Regains Ring.

PITTSBURGH—James DeLuco, who lost his Duquesne University ring to a German soldier during the battle of the bulge in January, 1945, has it back again. A New Jersey woman, who said her husband took the ring from a German soldier, wrote to the university asking them to find the owner of a ring bearing the initials "JDL." Duquesne traced it to DeLuco.

Turn About.

SAN FRANCISCO — Now the OPA knows—a business college, which owns the building in which the local OPA office is located, has notified the OPA to move by March 31.

Where's the Fire?

DRUG STORE ROBBED OF $728

The Southwest Drug Co., 5400 Southwest avenue, was robbed of $728 last night by burglars who forced a basement door and took the money from a safe and cash register, Mrs. Adele Deister, proprietor, reported today.

Of the money taken, $435 represented funds of the store's post office sub-station and $120 electric and gas company collections.

COMMITTEE CUTS INTANGIBLES TAX TO 4 PCT. ON YIELD

Missouri House Group Also Recommends Exclusion of Corporate Stocks From Levy.

By BOYD F. CARROLL
Jefferson City Corespondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 27 — Reduction of the proposed new intangible property tax, from a rate of 8 per cent of the annual yield from such property to a 4 per cent rate, and exclusion of corporate stocks from the tax base was recommended last night by the House Revision Committee on Taxation.

The committee approved the substitute for the original bill, lowering the rate, eliminating stocks and incorporating other amendments. The substitute bill will be reported to the House next week.

Cutting the rate in half and relieving corporate shares from the tax largely meets the objections made by business groups and security owners led by the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce. Rate cuts to as low as 2 per cent had been urged.

The new constitution allows an 8 per cent rate, but Speaker Pro Tem Murray E. Thompson of Marshfield, acting chairman, said the committee decided to try a lower rate at the outset of this new system of taxing intangibles such as money, notes, bonds and mortgages.

Going After Hidden Wealth.

"We have hopes that the lower rate now proposed will bring out a large part of the hidden wealth which heretofore has escaped taxation," Thompson said.

The committee had no estimate on the annual revenue from a 4 per cent rate, as no definite information is available on the amount of intangible personal property held in Missouri. It was indicated, however, that the figure likely would be less than the estimated $2,250,000 in taxes paid on the approximately $85,000,000 of intangibles reported for taxation in 1944. The revenue will be returned to political subdivisions wherein the tax is paid.

Under the former system such intangibles as were reported were assessed at their face value and subjected to the ad valorem tax on property, which frequently exceeded the dividends or other yield from the securities. This resulted in widespread evasions.

Other Changes.

Among other changes approved by the committee were the following:

Amendment of the definition of yield to exclude any return of capital to the security owner.

Clarification of a provision on taxation of beneficial interests, so that the tax would have to be paid by the actual owner of the beneficial interest, such as in a trust estate, and not by the trust company or trustees in custody or control of a trust.

Elimination from the definition of taxable intangibles of a catch-all clause, "and any and all other obligations or evidences of indebtedness," so that the bill will specifically name the classes of intangible subject to the tax.

As revised, the bill makes subject to the tax money on hand or on deposit: Bonds (except those exempt from a state tax by federal law), notes, debentures, annuities, certificates of indebtedness, accounts receivable, real estate and chattel mortgages, conditional sales contracts (which have incorporated therein promises to pay), and beneficial interests in any of the foregoing classes of intangible personal property.

Members of the House are being subjected to increasing pressure for defeat of pending bills which would make drastic reductions in existing annual interest rates on installment loans. An active letter-writing campaign is being made by loan companies and some of their borrowers.

Numerous representatives said today they had received letters from loan companies expressing fear the proposed lower rates would drive the lenders from business in the state, and from persons describing themselves as small borrowers, asserting they were satisfied with present interest rates, ranging up to 30 and 36 per cent a year on so-called small loans.

Representative Randall R. Kitt of Chillicothe, chairman of the House Committee on the Legislative Department, which drafted the bills, said a more intensive drive by lobbyists was expected next week, when the series of 15 bills, designed to conform to loan provisions of the new Constitution, probably will be called up in the House for perfection.

Form Letter.

Adoption of the proposed interest code was protested against in a form letter addressed to all members of the Legislature and bearing the signature of S. A. Naughton, managing partner of the Peoples Loan Co., 7170 Manchester avenue, Maplewood.

"No intelligent person familiar with the facts would want to drive the legitimate law-abiding lenders out of the state and turn the thousands of necessitous borrowers of this state over to the money bootleggers, or loan sharks, with their interest rates of 240 per cent or more per annum," the letter stated, "but this is exactly what the adoption of this bill would do."

The pending bills propose a schedule of annual interest rates for installment loans, of 24 per cent a year on the first $100 of such a loan and 12 per cent on amounts in excess of $100 up to $1500. The maximum rate on all loans in excess of $1500 would be 8 per cent. The bills provide a maximum rate of 8 per cent on loans on real estate, farm crops, livestock and farm products and the various loan fields would be open to all types of lenders.

Harry Bennett Firm Quits.

DETROIT, Feb. 27 (AP)—Dissolution of the partnership set up last October by Harry H. Bennett, former director of administration for the Ford Motor Co., Stanley Fay and Byron Geller, was announced yesterday. The three formed the B. G. F. G.O.P. REPORTED LINING UP FOR SENATE CONTEST

Ferguson, Bradshaw Seen as Backing Schwabe—Kem About Ready to Announce.

By CURTIS A. BETTS
State Political Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 27—The expectation of formal announcements of two candidates for the Republican nomination for United States Senator within the next few days has started reports among Republican politicians that Charles Ferguson of Willow Springs and Jean Paul Bradshaw of Lebanon, bitter rivals for the governorship nomination in 1944, will be found supporting Congressman Max Schwabe of Columbia for senator this year.

There are strong indications that Schwabe and James P. Kem, Kansas City lawyer, will issue their statements of candidacy soon.

Schwabe is making a tour of rural Missouri visiting Republican leaders. Kem, who has been on the verge of announcing for several weeks, is said to be about ready.

Mattingly's Position Uncertain.

If Ferguson and Bradshaw so far forget the past as to join forces for Schwabe for the senatorship, a question will arise as to where Republican National Committeeman Barak T. Mattingly will be found in the primary campaign.

Mattingly, who was Bradshaw's chief backer for Governor last year, gave some indications at the time of the Lincoln day banquet in St. Louis Feb. 9 that he was strongly inclined toward Kem. There have been recent reports that he might be brought into the Schwabe lineup.

Mattingly said early in the month that he was of the opinion that if the Kansas City party leaders agreed on Kem, the St. Louis organization would "go along" with them.

In the several weeks in which the Republicans have been casting about for a strong candidate, there has been much gossip among party workers and there have been many indications that rural Republicans were not disposed to permit St. Louis and Kansas City to name the candidate. Mattingly's reported wavering is attributed by some to the attitude of party workers out in the state.

Rural Areas Frown on Kem.

The prospective Kem candidacy has not found the favor in rural Missouri that his supporters in Kansas City expected, although there is no question that some of the top men in the party have considered it favorably. This, in some measure at least, was due to a belief that his candidacy would be amply financed and that funds badly needed by the organization would be produced by Kem's leading supporters among Kansas City business men.

The relationship between Mattingly and Bradshaw is said by some Republicans to be not nearly as close as it was in the 1944 campaign. There have been reports that the break, if there has been one, was traceable to a desire by Bradshaw for the senatorial nomination, and a lack of enthusiasm by Mattingly for Bradshaw for Senator. Republicans generally have conceded that the nomination should go to western Missouri. While Schwabe resides only about half way across the state, his home is considered more western than eastern.

While it appears fairly definite that Schwabe and Kem will be candidates, there is uncertainty as to whether there will be others, some 10 or 15 having been discussed as possible candidates.

WILLIAM M. DUNCAN HEADS LITCHFIELD & MADISON BOARD

William M. Duncan of St. Louis, a vice president of the Litchfield & Madison Railway Co., was elected chairman of the board of directors at a meeting in Chicago today. His nephew, James M. Duncan, also of St. Louis, was promoted from vice president to the newly created position of executive vice president, and will direct operations and traffic.

George J. Leahy of Chicago, previously not connected with the railroad, was elected to the office of president, which has been vacant for some time.

PRICE CEILINGS ANNOUNCED FOR 8 NEW CHRYSLER MODELS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The Office of Price Administration announced price ceilings yesterday for eight additional models of new Chrysler automobiles—all in the eight-cylinder line.

The new ceilings range from $113 to $150 above those for comparable 1942 models. The increases, OPA said, are due largely to allowances of from $98 to $109 for engineering improvement.

Here are the new ceilings, as compared with 1942 prices: Chrysler Saratoga — Three-passenger coupe, $1428 in 1946 and $1315 in 1942; two-door sedan, $1495 and $1355; club coupe, $1516 and $1370; four-door sedan, $1529 and $1395. Chrysler New Yorker—Three-passenger coupe, $1520 and $1375; two-door sedan, $1587 and $1430; club coupe, $1590 and $1440; four-door sedan, $1603 and $1465.

These prices do not include Federal excise taxes, transportation, preparation and handling charges or optional equipment.

Transit Strike Charges Dropped.

LANCASTER, Pa., Feb. 27 (AP)—All charges growing out of a 16-day Lancaster transit strike and an AFL general sympathy strike call were dropped yesterday. Sixteen persons had been charged with disorderly conduct, riot, rout and unlawful assembly.

An Explanation
FOR THE "SHORTAGE" OF FOLGER'S COFFEE

PERHAPS you have wondered why you could walk into your favorite grocery store and see some brands of coffee—apparently plentiful—but sometimes no Folger's is obtainable . . . Perhaps your grocer may have told you—"I just can't get enough to go around."

Actually, that situation might happen wherever Folger's is sold.

There are many reasons for this, but they can be grouped into two general classifications.

1. THE KIND OF COFFEES THAT ARE REQUIRED TO CREATE THE FOLGER FLAVOR... ARE HARD TO GET

No need to bother you with the details of restrictions and limitations brought about by wartime regulations. The net result is simply that growers of the high character coffees required for Folger's have been reluctant to sell their crops at the established ceilings. There simply have not been enough of the necessary coffees available for the Folger Blend.

Now if you know Folger's Coffee—and know the Folger Flavor—you know very well that it has a distinctly individual quality all its own. That flavor is achieved through blending just the right amounts of the right kinds of mountain grown coffees . . . and it cannot be obtained by substituting other flavored coffees. You might as well try to make a strawberry shortcake without strawberries.

2. THE DEMAND FOR FOLGER'S COFFEE HAS INCREASED TREMENDOUSLY IN THE PAST FIVE YEARS

When coffee was rationed by the pound, smart housewives soon found out which pound of coffee delivered the most good coffee to drink. They discovered that the advantage of Folger Flavor was both greater coffee enjoyment and real coffee economy, for so many learned to use ¼ less of Folger's to make each cup . . .

. . . people found more enjoyment at no extra cost and up went Folger sales . . . and they have continued up and up, so that in 1945 Folger's roasted and sold more coffee than in any previous year.

Summing up the reasons for the present "shortage" of Folger's, you can see how the combination of wartime restrictions, with limited supplies on the one side and ever-increasing demand on the other side, brought about the present situation.

How long will it continue?

We at Folger's hope and work for the day when we can once again purchase in unrestricted quantities the high character coffees that are necessary to maintain the Folger Flavor . . . We hope and believe that the period of "shortage" should not continue for many weeks and we do promise that—

When you find Folger's Coffee in the stores, it is the real thing—the genuine Folger quality and flavor. We will never willingly permit a pound to reach you that is not worthy of the name.

Bowles Figures 5 Pct. For Living Cost Increase

Snyder contended it would be disastrous to drop price controls until supply begins to equal demand.

If prices and costs were permitted to spiral upward, he said in a statement, business would "withhold finished goods from market, because it would be facing a loss to sell when prices were sure to go higher. This situation would for a time inevitably increase, not lessen, the shortages of both producer and consumer goods."

Backs Extension Bill.

Snyder made his statement in support of a bill to extend for a year beyond June 30 the emergency price control act.

"It is not reasonable," he said, "to expect that all production would increase if all price ceilings were removed.

"In specific cases, where lack of production is retarding reconversion, we can divert labor and materials from other uses, by granting measured price increases in order to step up output.

"Inflationary Economic Mess."

Robert A. Seidel, vice president of W. T. Grant & Co., a store chain, New York, asserted today that OPA regulations, designed to encourage increased production of low-cost cotton clothing, "have worked in reverse."

"Slowly but surely we are working our way into an inflationary economic mess," he told a Senate Agriculture subcommittee investigating a shortage of cotton clothing. He proposed that Congress insist on immediate inauguration of a definite program to remove OPA controls which stand in the way of legitimate production.

OPA will be doing business "with the same incompetent personnel, and we can only anticipate continued bungling and delay," he asserted.

"One fact is crystal clear" in the present economic situation: "Production will stop inflation only if we can keep OPA from stopping production."

marked "final" following her request for a leave of absence. The union has sent a protest to Basil O'Connor, chairman of the national organization, and is continuing the investigation of the St. Louis chapter.

Employes Elect Committee.

The 90 employes in the home service department, which takes care of family problems, particularly for men in the armed services and for veterans, have elected a committee to investigate the circumstances surrounding the resignation of Mrs. Nordman.

Members of that committee are Mrs. John J. Neiger, whose husband, Maj. Neiger, was captured on Luzon and subsequently killed in the Pacific, and Mrs. Clara Rosenthal and Miss Mary Alice Messerley. The committee talked to Mrs. Nordman, Miss Sullivan and to members of the executive board.

A protest meeting was held by members of the home service department after working hours yesterday at the chapter headquarters 3414 Lindell boulevard. The committee reported to the workers on the reasons given for her resignation by Mrs. Nordman, which also included reports of general interference with members of her department. There was considerable discussion, but no action was taken.

Another Meeting Today.

Members of the department were to meet again today with executives of the CIO United Office and Professional Workers' Union, to formulate a resolution to be presented to the CIO St. Louis Industrial Union Council. Members of the committee representing the home service department workers, however, said only "about half a dozen" of the 90 workers in the home service department have joined the CIO union.

More members of the department, however, belong to the St. Louis chapter of the American Association of Social Workers. Miss Catherine Roherty, an employe in St. Louis of the Social Security Commission, and chairman of the personnel practices committee of the social workers' professional association, said her committee had been requested to investigate the personnel practices of the St. Louis Red Cross chapter.

That investigation, she said, would "proceed in the usual manner." She said this involves, first, asking the social workers involved to negotiate directly with the agency executives; second, for the association committee to call in all parties involved, and third, for the committee to write its "findings."

Bitting, chapter chairman, declined to comment today. He said he had left the whole problem up to Miss Sullivan.

SENATORIAL DISTRICT BOUNDARIES REVISED

County Court Discovers Areas Created Didn't Comply With Limits on Population.

Boundaries of two state senatorial districts in St. Louis county, announced yesterday by the County Court, were revised last night after the court discovered the districts created did not comply with a law which limits them to a population of not more than 139,000 each.

The districts are being created under the new State Constitution to provide more adequate representation for urban areas in the state. Before the new Constitution was adopted, one Senator represented St. Louis, Gasconade and Franklin counties.

As revised, the Twelfth District, in which an election will be held this year, will include all of St. Ferdinand, Bonhomme, Lemay and Meramec townships and 38 of 50 precincts in Normandy township. The 1940 census lists the population in this area at 138,442.

Election in 1948.

The Thirteenth District with a population of 135,788, will include all of Clayton, Jefferson and Gravois Townships and 12 precincts in Normandy Township. An election in the Thirteenth District, now represented by Senator Hartwell Crain, who took office last year after the resignation of Senator Joseph Falzone, will be held in 1948.

Boundaries of the new districts were certified to the St. Louis County Board of Election Commissioners and the Secretary of State today. Within the next few days the Court is expected to define boundaries of seven districts in the county from which members of the State House of Representatives will be elected. Prior to the adoption of the new Constitution, St. Louis county was represented by three members of the House.

Full cost of election equipment, formerly supplied at a loss by the County Board of Election Commissioners, will hereafter be borne by municipalities of over 10,000 population, John Q. Brown, chairman of the board, has announced. The board also will levy an additional charge for posting names of voters in municipal elections.

The equipment, which includes ballot boxes, registration books and election booths, has been furnished previously at a cost to municipalities of $1 per precinct. This charge will be increased to $3, Brown said.

Cost for Posting Voter Lists.

The posting of approved lists of voters, previously performed at no charge by the election office, will now cost the six municipalities affected $2.50 per 100 voters.

Brown has estimated that University and Clayton, which will hold elections on April 2, will be required to pay an additional $260 and $74, respectively, to the board for such services. Other municipalities affected by the board's action are Kirkwood, Maplewood, Richmond Heights and Webster Groves, which will hold no elections until next year.

Hotel Prowler Gets $280.

A prowler who entered the room of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Parks in the Mayfair Hotel while they were asleep early yesterday escaped with a billfold and purse containing a total of $280, Parks reported to police. Mr. and Mrs. Parks, who moved here recently from Owensboro, Ky., had been living at the hotel. The empty billfold and purse were later found in a washroom in the hotel.

DR. E. F. GILDEA NAMED AID TO VETERANS' ADMINISTRATION

Dr. Edwin F. Gildea, professor of psychiatry at Washington University, has been appointed part-time consultant in neuropsychiatry for the St. Louis branch office of the Veterans' Administration. He will supervise activities in neuropsychiatric sections of Veterans' Administration hospitals in Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

The Veterans' Administration has authorized 40 veterans to receive mental hygiene treatments this month at Washington University, one of the 10 civilian clinics under contract to provide this service until the administration's own clinics are in full-scale operation. Local veterans may obtain treatment at the Washington University clinic by applying at the Veterans' Administration regional office in the Buder Building, 707 Market street.

STELLE, BRADLEY STORIES CONFLICT AS TO SHOWDOWN

Joint Statement Issued, Legion Man Makes Speech, General Counters With Recording.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—Confusing accounts today veiled the results of a showdown meeting between National Commander John Stelle of the American Legion and Gen. Omar N. Bradley.

The two-hour closed-door session in Gen. Bradley's office yesterday climaxed Stelle's month-old charges of inefficient operation of the Veterans Administration under Gen. Bradley. After the meeting the public was given: A not-too-definite joint statement, a speech by Stelle, an electrical recording of the conference (nobody could understand it) and a set of administration answers to reporter's questions.

Joint Statement.

The joint statement held forth these possibilities important to thousands of veterans:

1. Moving of long-term hospital patients to outlying institutions to make more central hospital beds available for emergencies. This conceivably might result in taking over more hospitals than now planned.

2. Granting of temporary disability ratings by doctors in the field to veterans holding discharges on which a disability is noted. This would be done pending final handling of disability claims.

But the joint statement, result of an hour's careful preparation, did not say when or whether these steps definitely would be taken. Officials were silent.

Two hours later, however, Stelle was telling a Legion group his version of other conference results—no contract hospitals for veterans except for emergencies; use of all available Army and Navy hospitals; more decentralization of the veterans administration, and help for states in supervising training of veterans on the job.

Wire Recording.

Hearing of Stelle's speech, Gen. Bradley's office hustled forth a steel-wire recording of the full conference for benefit of reporters who had been barred from the session on Gen. Bradley's order. Played back, this sounded like little more than two men coughing down a rain barrel in a hail storm. (Enough words were distinguishable at the start to make clear that the Legion delegation knew the recording was being made.)

Finally a spokesman came up with these Veterans' Administration answers to reporters' questions based on Stelle's statements:

There has been no modification of the plan for contracting with private hospitals for veterans with war-caused ailments. It is an emergency measure.

There is no change in the intention of taking over Army and Navy hospitals.

The states will get as much help as the law permits in supervising veterans training on the job.

The decentralization plan has called right along for moving the offices as rapidly as possible.

Gen. Bradley told the Legion's Rehabilitation Committee today that "most observers have kept their patience" about the job of the veterans administration. The task, he said, has been described previously as hopeless.

He made no direct reference to criticism voiced by Stelle and the Legion's national executive committee. Stelle, who took his place on the platform while Gen. Bradley spoke, rose and applauded as the general concluded.

BRITISH CUT GERMAN RATIONS TO 1014 CALORIES PER PERSON

HERFORD, Germany, Feb. 27 (AP) — British authorities today ordered German rations cut to 1014 calories daily starting March 4. They explained that existing food supplies were insufficient to maintain the present scale of 1500 calories until the next harvest.

Normally, 2000 calories are considered to be the minimum requirement of an adult.

George Iserman, proprietor of a filling station at 4922 Macklind avenue, reported to police that an armed man robbed him of $308, locked him in a washroom and escaped in an automobile driven by another man this morning. Iserman escaped from the washroom by climbing through a window.

Beazley Wants to Pitch Cards' Opener; Sewell Praises Dillinger

Dusak and Wilber Hit Over Fence

By Bob Broeg
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 27 — Johnny Beazley, not the farthest advanced of the Cardinals' pitchers here now, would be willing today to make a decision his boss won't have to reach for 48 days.

To pitch the opening game of the National League season, a selection for which Manager Eddie Dyer has a prospective 21 hurlers to choose from, Beazley would pick Beazley.

Just after he had cut loose his fast ball for the first time at the tag end of yesterday's afternoon batting practice, the hurling hero of the 1942 world series accidentally overheard an outsider facetiously ask Dyer if the pilot would find the opening game pitching choice a problem.

"No problem, Skip," interrupted Beazley, laughing as he faked the windup with which he won 21 games in the National League in '42 and those two big ones from the Yankees. Dyer laughed, too—and pleasantly.

Nine More Hurlers Due.

Both men had good reason for lightheartedness. The handsome 26-year-old hurler just had felt a thrilling loosening of the muscles in the valuable right arm that pitched only about 100 innings total in three years of Army service. So, barring accident, don't bet against the determined, confident Beazley as the first to face Frankie Frisch's Pittsburgh Pirates, April 16 at Sportsman's Park.

Yet, with nine pitchers not due here until Friday, that league curtain-raiser—if it were tomorrow, say—probably would find Howard Pollet or perhaps Max Lanier, Charley Barrett, Murry Dickson or Ted Wilks as the Redbirds' No. 1 man of the mound. Those five have come along the fastest among 12 pitchers getting their first Florida sunshine in three or more years.

Hitters In Good Form.

Yesterday, again, they opened up, firing their best deliveries to help their own conditioning and preparedness for exhibition games, thereby simultaneously providing A-1 hitting practice for the other players. Tough pitching notwithstanding, the hitting was good, take the word of Coach Clyde (Buzzy) Wares, who spent one of his busiest days ducking whistling line drives and speeding grounders that sped past the near-the-box position he assumes while retrieving balls.

"Those balls had that well-tagged singing noise as they went through," the hustling Wares, who will be 60 years old next month, said happily. To him, Dyer and other observers, the hardest hitting swished off the bats of Erv Dusak, Terry Moore, Enos Slaughter and Del Wilber.

Dusak, a power-generated young man who will be holdout George Kurowski's top competitor for third base, whacked one ball over the fence in left-center, a drive that would have passed the scoreboard at Sportsman's Park. And the husky Wilber pulled one of the talented Pollet's left-handed curves far over the fence near the left field line, where blue Tampa bay glimmers in the background.

In the clubhouse afterward, so that Pollet could hear, rookie Wilber said in a stage whisper to Max Lanier, another of the veteran southpaw stars, "be sure to show me your best hook tomorrow, Max, so that I won't embarrass you like I did when I teed off on Pollet's best."

"G'wan, busher, I just wanted to make you feel good," Pollet said.

In Dyer's private dressing quarters, sipping a fruit juice that didn't come from his native Texas, Manager Eddie talked of the above-mentioned athletes who had pitched the best and hit the hardest and said:

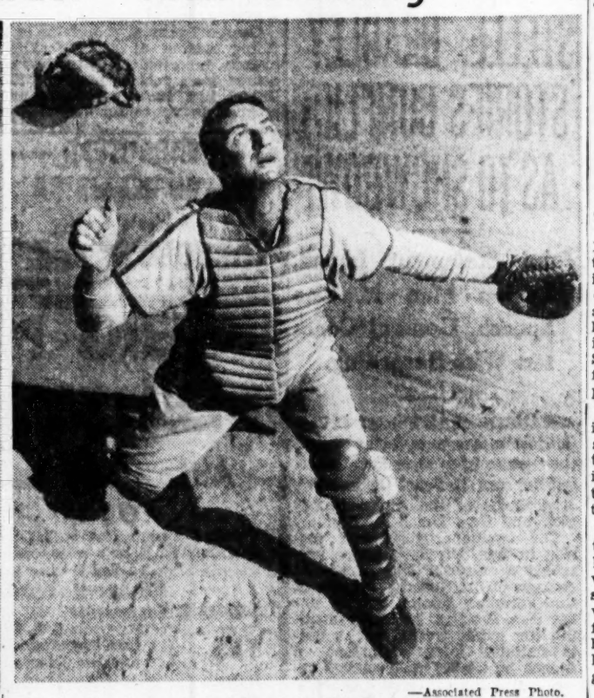

"Without reflection on the other boys, class sure will tell, won't it, podnah?"

Breaking Out Is Harder Than Breaking In

Rain Puts Stop to Cardinals' Training

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 27.

RAIN interfered with the Cardinals' training for the first time today, washing out both the morning and afternoon workouts.

While inspecting Waterfront Park's soggy surface, Manager Eddie Dyer was visited by Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler, who dropped around to see the workout and, instead, shook hands—none was overlooked—and left.

Chandler said he would fly to Cuba for an exhibition series between Washington and the Boston Red Sox. He'll be back here later.

Schumachers to Oppose Rafterys

What may well prove to be the best game of the Municipal Soccer Association elimination series is booked for Sunday afternoon at Fairgrounds Park with Schumachers opposing Rafterys in a senior division semifinal.

The other semifinal, between Carondelet A. C. and Noels, has been held over for a later date.

Completing the doubleheader program at the championship field will be a Junior semifinal in which the Hoppes oppose Blessed Sacrament. There will be a 30 cents admission charge.

The schedule:

AT FAIRGROUND, Grounds One—Hoppe's vs. Blessed Sacrament (Junior eliminations), 1:30 p.m.; Schumachers vs. Rafterys (Senior semifinals), 3:00 p.m. Referee John Mullan and Harry Dorovan; Tom Erbe and Milt Zensen, Timekeeper and scorer, Les Hatchard.

AT FAIRGOUND, Grounds Four—Twelfth District vs. St. Philip Neri (Juvenile eliminations); Shaw School vs. Emerson School (Grammar School final series).

AT CHEROKEE PARK—St. Gabriel vs. St. Paul (Juvenile eliminations); SS. Mary and Joseph vs. St. Mark (Junior eliminations).

Van Horn Plays Kovacs in Pro Net Meet Final

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP)—Steady Welby Van Horn overwhelmed favored Fred Perry, 6-0, 6-3, on the Roney Plaza courts yesterday, entering the final round of the $5000 Evans Cup professional tennis tourney.

In the other singles semi-final, Frank Kovacs smashed Bill Tilden, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2. Tilden played brilliantly in the first set and halfway through the second, until his legs failed him.

Q-Backs See Cotton Bowl Movies; Jablonsky Speaker at Next Meeting

Members of the Quarterbacks Club saw motion pictures of the Cotton Bowl game between the Missouri Tigers and Texas at their meeting today and heard from their acting president, Oliver G. Kehlmeyer, that Col. Harvey Jablonsky would speak at the next club meeting, March 6.

Col. Jablonsky, in the Paratroopers during the war, was a football star at Washington University, captaining the Hilltop eleven in 1930, before entering the United States Military Academy. There he captained the 1934 Army team.

Recently Col. Jablonsky has been a member of the coaching staff at West Point and is making a scouting tour of the Middle West. Don Faurot, Missouri U. Athletic director, and Chauncey Simpson, who batted for Faurot as coach while Don was in the Navy, spoke at the Quarterbacks meeting today.

Soccer Stars' Mother Dies.

Mrs. Anna E. Dunn, mother of former soccer stars, Jimmy, Tommy and the late Edward (Ebbie) Dunn, died last night following a prolonged illness. Funeral services will be held Friday at All Souls Church with burial in Calvary Cemetery.

Bill Nicholson Has Not Received Cubs' New Offer

CHESTERTOWN, Md., Feb. 27 (AP)—Bill Nicholson, Chicago Cubs outfielder who has rejected two new contracts calling for a cut in salary, said yesterday that he had not received a third offer from the National League club.

He expressed dissatisfaction two weeks ago when the first contract arrived, declaring that he "expected" a cut, "but didn't expect to get whacked that hard." The second contract was the same as the first, he said.

It was understood a third contract was on its way. Nicholson has been working around his home here, and at his farm near Chestertown while the Cubs have opened spring training in California.

ORLANDO, Fla.—One of the most interesting contests in the Washington Senators' camp is that between Joe Kuhel and Mickey Vernon for the first base position. Kuhel, 39, batted .285 last year and owner Clark Griffith said "he was a better player than 15 years ago." Vernon is fresh out of the Navy where he reportedly developed into a power hitter. Temporarily, at least, the starting call probably will go to Vernon along with the clean-up spot in the Batting order.

O'Neill Impresses Chapman.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — John (Buck) O'Neill, infielder bought for $25,000 from Portland (PCL), looks good to Ben Chapman, manager of the Philadelphia Phils. Said Ben after O'Neill scooped up several hot grounders at Tuesday's workout, "Everybody tells me that Ray Hamrick will be our shortstop. But it looks to me as if this O'Neill will give them all a run for the job."

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla.—Right-hander Mort Cooper gave his twice-cut pitching arm a thorough testing during yesterday's Boston Braves' batting drill and was more than pleased with his speed and the manner in which his curves broke. "I knew it would be like that," gloated Manager Billy Southworth, "I saw how Mort reacted after his first operation in St. Louis back in 1942 and I was certain that last fall's surgery would be equally successful." Another of the Tribe's problem pitchers who bore down hard was Al (Bear Tracks) Javery, and Southworth indicated he had ceased worrying about that right-hander's condition.

SARASOTA, Fla.—The Boston Red Sox have located Rudy York, their missing first baseman, in Cartersville, Ga., and were informed he was trying to arrange for transportation to the training camp. York was advised, however, that he would not be permitted to report until he signs his 1946 contract. The Red Sox squad hit the 43-player mark when Glen (Rip) Russell, the infielder purchased from Los Angeles, reported.

Seerey Reports to Indians.

CLEARWATER, Fla. — Holdout Pat Seerey is the latest member of the Cleveland Indians to report to camp. A candidate for the rightfield post, Seerey didn't get a chance to talk over terms as Vice President Roger Peckingpaugh was out of town. Three other unsigned Indians have failed to appear.

MIAMI, Fla.—The New York Giants were elated today by the news that Catcher Walker Cooper, their $175,000 buy from the St. Louis Cardinals, will be discharged from the Navy, April 2. Ace Adams, the Iron Man relief hurler, arrived yesterday and found the camp deserted. The players had been given a holiday by Manager Mel Ott and all were either fishing or golfing.

BALBOA, C. Z.—Every time Yankee Manager Joe McCarthy watches Joe DiMaggio in action he begins pinching himself. Jolting Joe is clouting at a .500 pace and has driven in 11 runs with 11 hits in the New York Yanks' sweep of their six exhibition games here. The classy outfielder belted another homer yesterday—one of the six made by the club—in the 10-3 rout of the Canal Zone League All-Stars.

Mataya and Burton Roll Third Block of Pin Match, Tonight

Frank Mataya and Nelson Burton will roll the third eight-game block of their 32-game special bowling match at Nelson Burtons, 5626 Delmar, tonight, starting at 10:30 o'clock.

Mataya goes into the third block with a lead of 55 pins, gained in the 16 games rolled at the DuBowl Lanes last Saturday and Sunday.

The final eight will be rolled Saturday night.

Brownie Leader Is Optimistic

By L. A. McMaster
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff.

ANAHEIM, Calif., Feb. 27 — Bobby Dillinger is doing everything well around third base and is making base hits. Chuck Stevens is turning in a McQuinnish job around first and slapping the ball hard. Recruit pitchers are showing up well and Manager Luke Sewell of the Browns is in a confident mood about the club and its prospects for the 1946 season.

"Dillinger has looked very good in our first two scrimmage games, said Luke. "He's covering ground, taking good care of popups, throwing accurately and his six hits in ten times at bat say all that needs to be said about his batting.

"Stevens, with three safe ones to right field yesterday, seems to have the answer to the question whether he'll hit. Pavlick had nice stuff in his three innings. Doyle, while wild, was using plenty of foolerola, and did you notice how he cut at the ball? He was a real hitter in the minors and if he gets control he might do all right.

"Browns Will Do All Right."

"This squad looks pretty good. Other clubs have gained strength, but so have we. Right now, with the players we have in camp, we are ready for any of 'em. We'll do all right."

Dillinger had two singles in five times up as the Hofmanns won from the Taylors 5-4 yesterday. Bob had four for five last Sunday. Once in the second game, he turned on his speed running to first, and had the Taylor infield rushed to retire him. As for new outfielders, two are looking good. Fuzz White hits the ball for distance, and Barney Lutz, a little man, has a lot of power. Both of these recruits are fast, too.

Six pitchers went three innings each in yesterday's game. Pavlick was the only one not scored on. Each side had two righthanders and one lefthander working and the left handers fared poorly. Stan Ferens was on the hill when the Hofmanns had a three run inning and Clarence Iott was found for a pair in the same frame. Iott showed a crackling fast ball.

His Fast Ball Has a Hop.

It seemed Pavlick's fast one was hopping; the batters were sending up a lot of pop fouls back of the plate.

Jack Kramer, holdout pitcher, was at the field and sat on the bench during part of the game but in civilian clothes. Manager Sewell said he had no intention of calling in Kramer for contract conversation, and that his attitude was the same toward Shortstop Vernon Stephens.

Mosconi, Caras Split.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Feb. 27 (AP)—World's pocket billiard champion Willie Mosconi of Barrington, N.J., defeated challenger Jimmy Caras of Philadelphia, 125-56, last night after losing to Caras, 125-12, earlier in the day in their cross-country title match. With the thirty-sixth of the 86-block match completed, Mosconi leads with 3810 points to the challenger's 3037.

Saliva Tests to Be Made On Spot at Maryland Tracks

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27 (AP)—In another move in his announced campaign to "keep horse racing clean," Chairman George P. Mahoney of the Maryland Racing Commission disclosed today that saliva tests would be made on the spot in a mobile laboratory at Maryland tracks during the season opening April 1.

Mahoney announced the new procedure at the annual meeting of the National Association of State Racing Commissioners, where he suggested the plan for national use to the committee on stimulants, of which he is a member.

A preliminary test of saliva of horses suspected of being stimulated can be made "within five to 10 minutes" after the running of the race, he said. Under present procedure it takes several days to send a saliva sample to a chemist and receive his analysis.

Mahoney said the laboratory could be "developed as a complete unit, in a trailer, and hauled from track to track." The trailer lab is being built now to Mahoney's specifications.

The test to be performed will be a biological one, he said, indicating that samples of the saliva would be injected into mice to study their reactions.

Billikens Down Creighton, Take Second Place

St. Louis University's Billikens today were in second place in the Missouri Valley Conference standings by virtue of a 44-39 victory over Creighton last night.

It was a hard, rough game, bad blood apparently having carried over from the previous meeting of the two teams in Omaha during which fists flew. A total of 40 personal fouls were called.

Tight defensive play by the visitors during the first half limited the Billikens to 16 points and found them on the short end of the score. However, Johnny Flanigan's boys began hitting the basket thereafter, with Jack Genetti putting in 11 points. Ed Macauley had nine points for the evening.

The victory gave the Billikens a five-five record in conference competition.

Barracks Five Wins Seventh Game in Row

Winning its seventh straight game, Jefferson Barracks defeated McDonald Aircraft, 44 to 36, in a basketball encounter at the Barracks last night. Right Forward Cockerell sank five field goals and two free throws to lead the scoring for the winners.

In two other non-league games Lambert Field won from Desloge, 47-45, and Coyle High defeated Taylor School, 41-24.

Robinson Is Top-Heavy Favorite

"Uncrowned Champion" Opposes Cliff Beckett at the Arena Tonight.

By W. J. McGoogan

Ray (Sugar) Robinson, one of the greatest boxers in the game today, although he holds no championship, is to oppose Cliff Beckett, of Sudbury, Ont., Canada at the Arena, 5700 Oakland avenue, tonight in a bout scheduled for 10 rounds which is expected to develop into little more than an exhibition of Robinson's prowess.

The clever New York welterweight, who is looking forward to a title bout with Marty Servo in Madison Square Garden in May, has won 60 of his 62 professional contests and forty of his victories were by knockouts.

Beckett Has Edge in Weight.

Robinson weighed in at 150 pounds this afternoon at the Adam Hat Store, 710 Olive street, which had to suspend business for the time it took for the commission deputy, Charles Pian, to weigh the boys and have them examined by the physician. As there is no back room in the store large enough to accommodate the crowd, proprietors had to lock the front door and put newspapers over the glass to preserve decency.

Robinson complained that he was not as heavy as the scales indicated and said he weighed only 146 pounds yesterday. An examination of the scales disclosed that they were weighing about 3 pounds heavy, so Robinson's weight was estimated at 147 pounds, 3½ pounds less than Beckett. That's about the only advantage Beckett has.

Beckett took the match, apparently, on the long chance that he might hit Robinson with a lucky punch and gain a victory over the boxer many fans think is the finest for his weight and inches now active.

That such an occurrence is possible, but highly improbable, has been proved in the fight game several times. A notable case was that in which Max Schmeling knocked out Joe Louis and a more recent one, which happened only last week, when Lee Oma gained a technical knockout over light-heavyweight champion Gus Lesnevich when a chance punch cut the eye of Lesnevich so badly that a New York Commission physician ordered the bout stopped and awarded Oma a technical knockout to avoid serious injury to Lesnevich.

ROBINSON

Canadian's Chances of Success Rest on His Ability to Land Lucky Punch.

Those things are very rare, however, and the possibilities are numerous that within a few rounds, or perhaps one, Mr. Robinson will be returned the victor tonight on a knockout.

The program, consisting of 34 scheduled rounds in five bouts, is being sponsored by the Fraternal Order of Eagles for its charity program and is under the direction of Lou Wallach as promoter and matchmaker.

Robinson has received a check for $7500, representing the guaranty for his appearance and he has the privilege of taking 35 per cent of the net "gate" if the amount should be greater.

The Harlem Negro is scheduled to meet Sammy Angott in Pittsburgh next Monday night.

I'M OUT OF THE SERVICE NOW

But I'm Still In Uniform

Through no fault of my own, I might add. I want to get back into civilian clothes but I'm having tough sledding. I just can't find clothes . . . and my pre-war outfits won't fit. I know civilians are having their troubles too, but they, at least, have one suit to their name. I don't . . . and I think I'm entitled to a break.

(Note from Alfred F. Steiner)

We try to give ex-service men the inside track when they're getting back into civies. Naturally, our stocks of clothing are not as complete as we'd like them to be . . . but, notwithstanding the nation-wide shortage of clothing, we're able to show a fair selection.

Four St. Louis Boxers in Golden Gloves Quarterfinals

Foxworth And Buha Advance

CHICAGO, Feb. 27 (AP)—What started out as a field of 128 fighters from 28 Western, Midwest and Southern states will be whittled down to 32 tonight as the Chicago Golden Gloves tournament reaches the semifinal stage.

Eight survivors of first and second round fighting remained in each division after last night's competition among the four heavier classes developed into a slam-bang affair replete with knockouts.

Those remaining after 32 bouts tonight—four in each class—will fight in the semifinals Friday night. The winners and runners-up will form the Chicago Golden Gloves team which will meet New York's representatives in the annual Tournament of Champions to be held in New York this year.

17 Kayos in One Night.

Last night's crowd of 12,470 saw lots of action as the fighters piled up 17 knockouts in the 68 fights in two rings.

Ott beat Floyd Bartelmay of Streator, Ill., in his first-round fight and won with a third-round technical knockout over Glover Zotigh of Oklahoma City in his second bout.

Culbertson knocked out Tony Cash of New Orleans, in the first round and KO'd Marvin Cwizdala, Grand Rapids, Mich., in the third round.

Darnell Must Be Good!

In his opening match, Foxworth stopped Johnny Reed of Denver, in the first round, but he had to travel the full distance of three to gain the decision over Presley Darnell of Fort Worth, Tex.

Two members of the St. Louis team were eliminated in first-round bouts. Louis Gray, 160-pounder, was eliminated by Wylie Burns of the Army European Theater of Operation team, while Ray Mastivolich, welterweight, lost on a one-round technical kayo to George Suttington of Denver.

Julius Menendez, a former St. Louisan, now representing Chicago, advanced to the quarterfinals in the welterweight division, but Johnny Roach, another former St. Louisan, after winning his first middleweight fight, was knocked out by Kenny Vin of Muncie, Ind.

The Golden Gloves Association of America, representing 30 cities in 28 states, re-elected all officers for the next year.

Knockdown Is Being Pointed For Handicap

ARCADIA, Calif., Feb. 27 (AP)—Knockdown, winner of the $100,000 Santa Anita derby, is being groomed definitely for the other "Hundred Grander" — the Santa Anita handicap, March 9.

Mrs. Elizabeth Arden Graham, owner of Maine Chance Farm, said she has "every expectation" of running the big son of Discovery. Knockdown has been weighted at 108 pounds for the handicap, compared with the 122 he carried in the Derby.

Mrs. Graham, however, said she will not start Star Pilot, which ran second to Knockdown in the Derby.

RUDIES WIN PIN MATCH.

Rudie's Cafe bowling team defeated the Staunton All-Stars Sunday, 3283 to 3261. It was the fourth victory in specials matches for Rudies.

Two Games Open Regional Play Tonight; High-Scoring Junior Billikens Favorites

By Harold Tuthill

In the last two seasons of basketball where there has been a tournament in which St. Louis U. High was entered, the Junior Billikens were favored to emerge victorious. So it is with the regional event starting tonight at Washington University where the young Bills will oppose Central at 7:30 o'clock in the first half of a quarterfinal doubleheader.

St. Louis U. High gained the district championship last year and represented St. Louis in the state meet at Springfield.

They've Got Scoring Power.

With virtually the same team this season, the Hasser-coached crew romped away with Red division honors in the Normandy Christmas tournament, averaging better than 42 points for each of the four contests. Then, after a mid-season slump brought about by the loss of Tom Kavanaugh with a knee injury, the Blue and White rebounded to sweep to the subregional title at University City, averaging 53.5 points per game in those four contests.

The four triumphs extended the young Bills' current victory string to eight, giving them a mark of 20 and 3 for the season. One of the score of triumphs is an early season decision over Central, 24 to 13.

Central, one of the five public high teams in the regional meet, pulled the unexpected by knocking off Mehlville and Hancock before losing to Roosevelt in the South Side subregional. The Redwings are one of two teams in the tournament with more defeats than victories. They have won nine and lost 13, slightly worse than McKinley's mark of seven and nine.

Almost anything can happen in the second game at 9 o'clock when Cleveland, winner of the Maplewood subregional, will oppose Normandy, runner-up in its subregional. Cleveland, Green division winner at Christmas time, bogged down with the graduation of Harold Uthoff, but has come back with a bang to hang up a 20-3 record. That ties St. Louis U. High's mark.

Normandy Hard to Figure.

Normandy, at times hot and cold, has crushed suburban competition, but has been jinxed by city opposition. Three of the four Viking setbacks were recorded by Public High teams—two by Beaumont and one by Roosevelt. The other loss in 23 games was to Collinsville, Southwestern Illinois champion.

Since this will be the first meeting between the schools, there is no direct line of comparison. Even if there were, it might not mean anything if Normandy's Bob (Pinky) Ries or Cleveland's Bob (Lefty) English get hot and help the regular scoring combinations.

Tonight's winners will have a day off tomorrow when the lower bracket engages in the quarterfinals. Beaumont (19-4), Normandy subregional winner, will oppose McKinley (7-9), runner-up at University City at 7:30. Roosevelt (15-4), South Side subregional winner, will meet Brentwood (20-6), Maplewood runner-up at 9. The semifinal round will take place Friday.

The finalists, both of which will enter the state series next week at Washington U., will meet Saturday night after a third-place game.

42 Fouls Called As Concordia Five Triumphs

Concordia Seminary's home basketball season ended with a bang last night. Forty-two fouls were called in a thrill-a-minute game as Concordia avenged an early season defeat by Illinois Wesleyan before approximately 500 fans at Washington's Field House, finishing on the top end of a 55 to 41 score.

A tip-in shot by Snuffy Smith at the five-minute mark gave Concordia an early 8 to 6 lead which they held the rest of the way. Midway in the second stanza, the Wesleyanites managed to narrow the gap to 43 to 37; but a brace of push-shots by Showboat Smith and Orv Oswalds reduced the pressure for the Blue and White.

Orvie Oswald boosted his season's point total to 133 as he racked up six field goals and six gift shots for a total of 18 markers. His floor play was just as impressive as it was last Saturday night against Valparaiso.

Coach Warren Schuermann said after the game. "The driving leadership of Oswald has woven the Preachers into an agressive outfit."

The victory was the Preachers' eighth in fifteen attempts. They close their season Saturday at Springfield, Illinois when they oppose their sister school, Concordia Seminary, of that city.

Heavy Sugar for 'Sugar'

THE Smith family of Harlem, N. Y., is in the money—big money, too. . . . That's because one son of this particular group of Smiths is soaring high in the pugilistic world, drawing big gates. Fighting often and with welter weight title stakes just around the corner. . . . He is Walker Smith, but you know him as Ray (Sugar) Robinson.

This year it's heavy sugar that confronts Ray. . . . In recent months he has drawn several profitable gates. . . . He probably will have another good one tonight when he battles Cliff Beckett at the Arena. . . . And when, some weeks later, he climbs into the ring to battle Marty Servo for the title, he will have banked more money than any fighter of his weight who has been in and out of World War II.

Robinson will undoubtedly be favored to beat Servo, another tough young fellow. . . . The fight will be one of tne best attractions scheduled at this weight in years. . . . The house will be packed and the receipts undoubtedly will reach six figures. . . . And if Ray wins from Marty, the Smith family of Harlem will be fixed for life.

Robinson has had several battles since leaving the service. . . . He has fought some rather tough foes and he has improved in form steadily. . . . His battle with Cliff Beckett here finds him confronted by a fellow who can clout. . . . And there's always a chance for a puncher. . . . But a victory by Beckett would, of course, be the No. 1 upset of the year.

But upsets come along . . . They knock over the greatest . . . Even the mighty Man O' War suffered the experience . . . He experienced only one defeat in his career . . . And it was a horse named Upset that upset him.

Conn-Louis Fight Could Be 'Comical.'

RAY ROBINSON is not one of those who laughs off Gene Tunney's view that the Billy Conn Joe Louis fight may turn out to be a joke contest. Robinson, in a KSD broadcast, told listeners men who have been out of the ring for several years find great difficulty in regaining their form . . . Without plenty of tuning-up fights, a meeting between men out of the ring for five years might be farcical, he said.

"When I came out of service and started boxing again, I was all fussed up. . . . My timing was bad. . . . So was my judgment of distance, footwork and everything that makes one's mind click with his hand was upset. . . . I felt queer before a crowd, too. . . . I must have been comical," Robinson commented in substance.

"That passed away after several fights. . . . I regained my stuff but in a way it was like learning all over again. . . . But Conn and Louis will have no tune-up fights. . . . And without them they might look as comical as I felt."

Robinson didn't mention that he's young and flexible. . . . He's only 24, where Conn will be 29 and Louis 32 when they meet next May 19. . . . Also, Robinson was in the service only a year or so, as compared with four for Billy and Joe.

The big battle could be a farce, since neither Joe nor Billy will be permitted to fight anyone publicly. . . . Obviously the risk would be too great. . . . One or both of them might appear "comical" as Robinson suggested. . . . Or even be knocked out. . . . Freddie Cochrane could tell you all about that. He took plenty, before losing his title, after leaving service.

This writer has contended from the beginning that no fighter or athletic man can come back effectively after years of absence from his specialty, without contests. The history of comeback attempts supports this view in every way.

St. Louis Pulls a Pro Boxing Comeback.

ST. LOUIS professional boxing appears to have emerged from the doghouse, where it has been hiding for some time. . . . The Terranova-Riley bout pulled some $16,000 and the Robinson-Beckett show should also run into five figures. . . . That seems to indicate that interest in the pro pugilists here has returned.

But the basic difficulty confronting St. Louis boxing is that top-rank or title-fight principals don't want to battle here when they can take their wares elsewhere and get more money. . . . And those that might want to come can't, because they are tied up by agreements with Big Time promoters elsewhere and will only agree to meet lesser lights in St. Louis.

The smaller fight centers feel the choking competition of large promoters elsewhere, who can offer more work and better pay than smaller communities.

SUPPORT COMES TO WIDE LIST OF STOCK LEADERS

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP)—A comeback was negotiated by the stock market today with steel, rubbers, motors, metals and chemicals achieving advances.

Dealings dwindled sharply after an active opening, and leaders receded somewhat from their best levels. Total transfers were largely under yesterday's 2,650,000-share session. The ticker tape dawdled frequently past midday.

Near the close, a number of leading issues held gains of 1 to 4 points. A few scattered losers reflected the thinness and sensitivity of the market.

Sales were 1,400,000 shares.

The market was narrower than yesterdays 1029 issues. Of the 978 issues traded today 806 were higher, 90 lower and 82 unchanged. Eight made new 1945-46 highs and two new 1945-46 lows.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed up 1.5 points at 73.7, the industrial group was up 1.5 points.

Dow-Jones industrial average rose 3.04 points to 189.06.

Factors in the Rebound.

Brokers reported some buying based on the theory that the list was at least temporarily over-sold after the sharp downturns, while customers who cashed profits were tempted by more attractive prices to reinstate their accounts. Favorable dividend actions provided a further prop. American Power & Light preferred as much as 4 points climbed on declaration of the first dividend since 1942.

Leaders on the upturn included American Telephone, Union Carbide, DuPont, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, B. F. Goodrich, Goodyear, American Smelting, Kennecott, Caterpillar Tractor, International Harvester, Southern Railway, General Electric, Eastman Kodak and Johns-Manville. After touching a new low Philip Morris rebounded on announcement its January sales were the second largest in its history.

Senior issues of Central States Electric, on the Curb, gained from 3 to more than 7 points.

Trend on the Curb.

Improved among curb stocks were Barium Steel, Argus, National Union Radio, Raytheon, Community Water Service and American Superpower.

Day's 15 Leaders.

STEEL OUTPUT RATE ROSE FASTER THAN WAS EXPECTED

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP)—Steel operations were resumed after the strike at a much faster rate than expected, "Iron Age," reported today.

The industry saw a new threat, however, in the prospect of a coal strike in April, and heard that negotiations for higher wages in the mines will start around March 10, the paper said.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP)—Rail loans were bid up fractions to two points and more in today's bond dealings.

Irregularity tinged the balance of the list with some high-priced utility liens trading at fractionally lower levels. In this group were Commonwealth Edison convertible 3½s and Consolidated Edison 3½s of '58.

M-K-T adjustment mortgage 5s of '67 jumped more than 4 points after directors authorized payment of coupons of April 1, 1938, and Oct. 1, 1938, representing full interest for the period ending June 30, 1938. A similar payment was made in August, 1945.

American Telephone 3s extended an earlier gain to 5¼ points to close at 148½. Chicago Great Western 4s were ahead 1¼ at 98¾ and Central of New Jersey 5s ended up 3 at 53. New Haven 4s added 1⅞ at 47⅞ but other bonds of the road were backward.

COTTON MARKET CLOSES $1.05 TO $1.45 A BALE UP

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP)—Cotton futures rallied more than $1 a bale in brisk trading today featured by considerable New Orleans and Replacement Commission House buying in distant months. There was an aggressive demand for nearby deliveries.

The upturn in securities partly influenced the rally in cotton. Private advices reported unfavorable weather has continued to retard new crop preparations in the cotton belt while there were further complaints of inadequate seed supplies.

Late afternoon prices were 90c@$1.25 a bale higher. March 26.43c, May 26.53c and July 26.52c.

Futures closed $1.05@1.45 a bale higher.

MAY RYE FUTURE RANGES HIGHER, THEN CLOSES OFF

CHICAGO, Feb. 27 (AP)—The price of May rye held steady to firm most of the time today, despite another 5-cent limit break in the grain at Winnipeg.

After a climb of around 1½ cents a bushel in early dealings and a mild sell-off which left only fractional gains, the market steadied in a slow trade and drifted along most of the day.

The Canadian market clipped another nickel daily limit off both the May and July deliveries again at the start of trading, extending the recession there to 30 cents in the six days since the exchange boosted the margin requirements from 50 cents to $1 a bushel on those contracts.

Fluctuations here were slow and narrow for the most part, while oats coasted along at barely steady prices.

Wheat, corn and barley closed again at ceiling prices of $1.80½, $1.18½ and $1.22½. Oats were unchanged to ¼ cent higher than the previous finish, May 81-cent ceiling. May rye dipped in the final few minutes of trading and finished 1⅝@2⅛c lower, May $2.14½@⅞. Other contracts remained at $1.44½ ceilings.

Russians in Iran Give Assurance They Will Leave, but Observers See No Evidence of Withdrawal

American Officer in Tehran Thinks It Would Be Impossible for Soviet Troops to Get Out by Agreed On Date on March 2—Iranian Official Is Optimistic.

TEHRAN, Iran, Feb. 26 (Delayed) (AP)

A SOVIET embassy official gave assurance today that Russian troops would be withdrawn from northern Iran, but the Iranian foreign ministry and military observers said there was no apparent sign of a Russian evacuation.

An American officer said he believed it was "impossible" for the Russians to withdraw by March 2, the date agreed on for the evacuation of all foreign troops from Iran.

Iranian officials complained a few weeks ago to the United Nations about the actions and presence of Russian troops in northern Iran in connection with an autonomy movement in the northwesternmost province of Azerbaijan, charging there had been "a number of interventions in Iranian affairs by Soviet authorities."

The United Nations Security Council disposed of the complaint by referring it to the Soviet and Iranian governments for direct negotiations, retaining the right to call for progress reports. Iranian negotiators, headed by Premier Ahmed Qavam es Saltaneh, now are in Moscow.

(An Iranian source in Moscow said progress had been made in the talks but there were matters which have not yet been settled.)

Iranian Is Hopeful.

Prince Firouz, Iranian under secretary of state, expressed the opinion that Russian troops "certainly will be out of Iran" and added that the Soviet army communication lines already were being taken down north of Kazvin.

An official in the Soviet consulate, to whom the Associated Press was directed to renew an application for permission to enter Azerbaijan, said:

"Surely, we will be out."

Asked why it was necessary to seek Russian permission to enter the province after Russian troops were scheduled to leave, he replied:

"We here are only the little people. How can we say what our government will do?"

Reports of Fighting.

Reports of disorders in northern Iran continued to trickle into the capital.

Newspaper reports said a column of 600 heavily armed "trespassers" had been stopped 12 miles north of the Caspian seaport of Pahlevi after they had captured the town of Karganrud and attacked the village of Shafarud.

The source of the information was not given and none of the newspapers speculated as to how the advance was stopped. The editor of the leading afternoon newspaper Ettelaat said the "trespassers were assumed to be democratic partisans."

A cabinet member, who may not be quoted by name, said the government was "much concerned with the Gilan situation." He said he feared the attacking column was composed of "Azerbaijan democrats."

American and other diplomatic observers expressed the opinion that the number of attackers was exaggerated.

U.S. KNOWS LITTLE OF RUSSIAN PLANS

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The possibility that Russian troops may remain in Iran beyond the generally accepted March 2 deadline is foreseen by some American diplomatic officials.

With but four days remaining, the State Department has received only thin and indirect evidence of any Soviet preparations to leave.

The British also have some forces in Iran, and whether they would be willing to withdraw unless the Russians do is a question.

A prompt removal of Russian troops, for which many here still hope, might ease the situation.

The broad problem of Russian relations probably will be taken up by Secretary of State Byrnes at a speech before the Overseas Writers Club in New York Thursday night. Questioned about the state of the big powers' unity yesterday, Byrnes told his press conference he would have something to say about that in his address.

The Secretary denounced as thoughtless stories which he said spread the impression of disunity among the Allies.

The Iranian question did not come up at the press conference, but subsequent inquiry among informed officials disclosed that:

The United States has received indirect and unconfirmed reports that some Russian cavalry has been withdrawn from northern Iran. A few days ago information was received that the Russian hospital at Tabriz was not accepting any new patients, but there was no word whether this foreshadowed a general evacuation.

Summary of Pearl Harbor Inquiry

Series of Specific Warnings Received by War and Navy Departments in 11 Months Before Attack—Order to Burn Diplomatic Papers Intercepted Dec. 3.

By CLARKE BEACH

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)

DID the great naval disaster at Pearl Harbor result in part from lack of information about Japanese plans in the War and Navy Departments in Washington?

Much of the testimony before the congressional investigating committee dealt with how much this Government did know.

Adm. Richmond Kelly Turner was the Navy's director of war plans in 1941. He told the committee that the War and Navy Departments had believed for more than 25 years that if Japan went to war with the United States, Pearl Harbor would be attacked. Moreover, he testified, the Army-Navy war plan of 1938 assumed that if the Japanese attacked they would do it without declaring war.

Joseph C. Grew, former United States Ambassador to Japan, testified that war warnings became specific in January 1941. He said he informed the State Department at that time that he had received a report that the Japanese were planning a surprise mass attack on Hawaii. He said he was told so by the Peruvian Minister to Tokyo, who had good Japanese Government connections. (Information gathered recently by Army investigators in Tokyo indicates that it actually was in January 1941 that the attack on Pearl Harbor was first conceived.)

Grew said that in the spring of 1941 South American diplomats related to American friends that the Japanese had told them in blunt language that they were going to make war on the United States. He added that the South Americans told the Americans that if the Japanese did go to war their countries would side with the United States. The stories, Grew said, were all promptly reported to the State Department.

Japanese Code Broken.

It was approximately at this time, it was testified, that the highly secret Japanese diplomatic code was broken, and then a series of alarming intercepted messages began to flow into the intelligence offices. The Japanese were obviously spying on American defenses, reporting the disposition of the fleet and the strength of various installations.

On Sept. 24, 1941, an intercept revealed that the Japanese were preparing a bombing plan of Pearl Harbor, dividing the waters there into sections for air attack.

Former Secretary of State Cordell Hull testified that on Nov. 7, 1941, he warned President Roosevelt and the Cabinet to stand alert for an attack "anywhere by Japan at any time." He said, however, that he had never heard any military authority suggest Pearl Harbor would be a likely target—that it seemed like too great a risk for the Japanese.

Japanese Fleet Disappeared.

Army and Navy intelligence officers related this series of events as war approached:

In the latter part of November an ominous item of intelligence was reported. American agents who had been keeping a watch on Japanese warship movements lost track of a major portion of the Japanese fleet. This armada, including battleships and carriers was observing radio silence and was steaming to an unknown destination.

Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, ordered an armed photo reconnaissance of Truk, the Japanese naval bastion in the central

Krug, at 38, Had Outstanding Career of Public Service Before Selection as Interior Secretary

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.

BY selecting Julius Albert (Cap) Krug as the successor of Harold L. Ickes as Secretary of the Interior, President Truman has brought back into the Federal Government one of the quietest and most efficient administrators this capital has seen.

Although only 38 years old last November, this former chairman of the old War Production Board has a record of public service not equaled by many high officials twice his age. He has served with the Wisconsin Public Service Commission; was a public utilities expert for the Federal Communications Commission; reorganized the Kentucky Public Utilities Commission; was chief power engineer for the Tennessee Valley Authority; returned to Washington before the start of the war to be power engineer of the Office of Production Management, and become vice chairman of the War Production Board before he was drafted into the Navy.

Discharged on presidential orders from the Navy as a lieutenant commander to take over chairmanship of the WPB after Donald Nelson was sent to China, he ran that organization until the reconversion program got under way. In all these jobs he left a mark of spectacular accomplishments.

Rejected $75,000 Offer.

When he decided to get out of government service last fall, he declined an offer of $75,000 a year from the Motion Picture Producers' Association to handle labor relations, saying that was not his field. Instead he set up an organization in a field in which he had experience. He became an industrial consultant and within a few months had built up a profitable practice.

As Secretary of the Interior he will have a lot to say about development of the Missouri Valley, particularly the controversy between the Bureau of Reclamation and the Army Engineers. As an old TVA official and a friend of David Lilienthal, TVA chairman, he could logically be expected to favor an MVA, but so far as known he has made no statement of his viewpoint.

He will be at home in the Interior Department with its many activities, including irrigation and reclamation, the Land Office, the Bureau of Mines, the Park Service and the various power administrations, and the other duties performed by former Secretary Ickes. Krug revels in multi-operation jobs.

The secretary-designate demonstrated his administrative ability in August 1944, when he took over the WPB, then torn apart by the feud between Chairman Nelson and executive Vice Chairman Charles E. Wilson. He was then 36 years old and although Nelson had tried to get him deferred from military service, writing that nobody could touch "big, hard-headed" Krug for "native intelligence, knowledge, ability and dependability," he had been drafted by his Tennessee Selective Service Board. Within a few months he was making engineering surveys for the Navy as an officer.

His first job as acting WPB chairman was to restore order and loyalty within the WPB. His first public statement before the war investigating committee was tough. He testified that he had given orders that the Nelson and Wilson men must work together on war and peace plans or "heads would fall." He got rid of the feuders and needlers.

Native of Wisconsin.

His rearing, education and public service prepared him for this big task.

He was born in Madison, Wis., on Nov. 23, 1907, the son of Julius John and Emma (Korfmacher) Krug. His grandparents had immigrated to this country because they could not stand the Germany of the Kaiser and Bismarck. At the time Krug was born, his father was a patrolman. He later became a sheriff and a fire warden.

There were five sons and two daughters to support on the meager Krug wages. All the children went through the University of Wisconsin.

"Never once did I hear my father or my mother complain," young Krug has fondly recalled. "It was pure unselfishness and sacrifice—and it made a profound impression on me."

His nickname "Cap" started at his birth. The family doctor, looking over the big, healthy baby boy, objected to the parents, "Julius is no name for him. You ought to call him Captain Kidd." The nickname stuck although his mother called him Julius.

Entering the university at 18, he worked his way with whatever jobs he could pick up. He did not win scholastic honors and played football only in his freshman year. He was big, then as now, six feet three inches tall. At 19, in his sophomore year he married his neighborhood sweetheart, Margaret Catherine Dean. They now have a daughter and a son.

With a wife to support in college, he was in turn a laborer on a scaffolding gang, helper in a cabinet maker's shop, engine wiper, iceman, moving van driver and a filling station operator. He received his A. B. degree in 1929, and a year later his M. A., after majoring in utilities management and economics.

To Washington in 1935.

His first job out of college was with the Wisconsin Telephone Co. as a business research analyst. From there he went to the Wisconsin Public Utilities Commission as technician on public utility rates and depreciation. There he met Lilienthal, then a commission member and now chairman of the TVA.

He migrated to Washington in 1935 to conduct the Federal Communications Commission's investigation of the long lines department of the Bell System. This inquiry resulted in substantially lowered rates for long distance calls but is said to have almost lost Krug to the New Deal. According to friends, he thought some of the New Dealers were more interested in social reform than in doing a good job. He went back to Wisconsin in 1937.

Lilienthal persuaded him to go to the TVA as the power engineer. As such, he personally negotiated with the late Wendell Willkie for the purchase of the Tennessee Electric Co. by the TVA for $80,000,000.

Although a believer in TVA, he was not an advocate of complete government ownership of all utilities. His view was: "It is best for the nation not to give either public ownership or privat ownership too much rope."

In the summer of 1941 his TVA record attracted the attention of William L. Batt of the OPM, who was looking for a defense power consultant who would be acceptable both to public and private power men.

As head of the OPM public power branch, Krug beat out Ickes, who wanted to be the nation's "energy" director. In this job, Krug fought for daylight saving, provided the power for the expanding aluminum and magnesium plants and brought the utilities closer together. He won the reputation, in the words of one writer, for "administrative ability, tactful firmness and straight-shooting."

When OPM was reorganized into the WPB, Krug became deputy director-general for priorities control and ran the raw materials allocation plan—a big job. Nelson then made him director of the Office of War Utilities, and he became, according to the Nation's Business, "the greatest single person in the public utility field today." He was also named vice chairman in charge of material distribution.

These two jobs kept him busy six days and three nights a week. His only complaint was that he found no time to get a haircut.

"No wonder they call us the long-haired boys," he quipped.

Ready for Reconversion.

The victories over Germany and Japan found Krug, as chairman of the WPB, ready with reconversion plans. As early as the autumn of 1944 he had elvolved the plan that business would do better if it had few governmental controls in the coming peace. This writer saw him in Donald Nelson's old office at the time and he was even then positive that business men would have to relearn how to look after themselves. This was an unexpected view from a man who had spent mosto f his adult life as a "bureaucrat."

Physically as well as mentally, Krug is an impressive figure. He dwarfs the office furniture. He dresses quietly, usually in blue or brown suits and a white shirt and discreet neckties. He speaks directly to the point with great confidence without being over-bearing.

He will need his administrative ability and tact in his new job in the Interior Department whose jurisdiction extends to every state and our overseas possessions. He follows a good administrator but the morale of the department was shot to pieces by the explosive resignation of Ickes. Many department heads wanted to resign in sympathy.

President Truman told his press conference that Krug was his personal selection. For once, he has chosen a man with proved administrative ability.

MATTER OF FACT

WASHINGTON

EVERY so often history manages a neat bit of irony which even George S. Kaufmann would find it hard to duplicate. A case in point is that of Manchuria, where it now seems not unlikely that the Russians intend to replace the Japanese.

The real beginning of the Manchurian story was in South China, in the mid-1920s, when the famous Borodin was directing what he hoped would be the Chinese Communist revolution. Borodin failed. Yet to this day, the Generalissimo, Madame Chiang Kai-shek and Dr. T. V. Soong speak of the Russian leader with the deepest admiration, as a man of power; and in the midst of his troubles with Gen. Stilwell, the Generalissimo more than once sighed for Borodin's military assistant, also a man of power, who wore the name of Gen. Galen.

What Galen Built.

Borodin and Galen left China in defeat when the Kuomintang turned to the right. Borodin was disgraced. Not so Galen. He had other gifts besides a knowledge of agitation and propaganda. He was ordered to use them. In 1931 he turned up again, this time in eastern Siberia. He was Marshal Blucher of the Red Army, in his new incarnation, and his task was to transform eastern Siberia into a vast military base.

He built rapidly and well. In the empty tundras, along the great rivers, industrial cities rose at Komsomolsk and elsewhere. Shepherded by the NKVD, millions of workers came to inhabit the new land. Military installations were constructed, and an army of more than half a million men was trained.

Blucher-Galen fell a victim, before his work was finished, to the great purge. But he had planned well. Twice the Japanese were repelled by the Russians, at Nomonhan and at Changkufeng.

Then came Pearl Harbor, and the global war, and finally the Japanese collapse, when the armies first organized by Blucher-Galen poured down into Manchuria.

Having and Holding.

They are there today, despite a flat commitment to the Chinese Government to evacuate by Feb. 1. They seem to mean to remain. Furthermore, the successors of Blucher-Galen are now presenting certain demands to his old friend, the Generalissimo.

At Yalta, and in the Soong-Stalin pact, the Soviet Union was conceded a share in the control of the Manchurian railroads and special rights at the ports of Dairen and Port Arthur. Now, it is understood, the Russians are insisting on full control of all Manchurian industry and transport. That, of course, was the main thing the Japanese had.

Nor is this all. Although the Russians guaranteed the sovereignty of the Chinese National Government in Manchuria at the same time when they promised to evacuate their troops, they have steadily obstructed movement of National government troops to the Manchurian provinces. Under great difficulties, a body of Chinese troops has been sent in. The troop movement still continues. As part of the pact arranged by Gen. Marshall between the Chinese Communists and Nationalists, it was understood that the occupation of Manchuria would not be halted. Now, however, the Chinese Communists have objected, and are demanding that Manchuria shall be chiefly occupied by Communist forces.

The indications are that the Russians have stimulated the Chinese Communists to take this position. There are few Chinese Communists in Manchuria. But this difficulty seems to have been overcome by a deal which will give Russian and Chinese Communist support to the numerous Manchurian separatists, heirs to Chang Tso-lin.

Altogether, the pattern is that of Azerbaijan, with rather slight differences. The Chinese government is powerless to halt the process. Only determined intervention by this country can prevent establishment of a Russian puppet regime in Manchuria, with full economic and political control in Soviet hands, unless present indications are very deceptive.

When, Where, How?

What will this country do?

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

The Mississippi Mind

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

James Melvin's letter in Saturday's Post-Dispatch adds another elusive quality to what I call the "Mississippi Mind." It is indefinably elusive but always there. We can't wish it away, because it is there—always there. Always predictably irrational. Mr. Melvin speaks of freedom of speech and freedom of religion. Freedom of speech does not exist in Mississippi. I've been there. I was born in Alabama. It doesn't exist there, either.

There is no freedom of speech in Mississippi for the Negro. Any Negro knows that. Negroes dare not denounce lynchers even when they recognize them. And they dare not denounce Bilbo—not in Mississippi. But maybe Negroes aren't human beings or citizens. White labor organizers find it tough sledding in Mississippi, and Jews are berated in our halls of government by elected representatives of the great State of Mississippi. Italians are addressed by Bilbo as "Dagoes."

Mr. Melvin cannot compare University City and its citizens with any part of Mississippi. The Supreme Court outlawed legal segregation by municipalities years ago. And if I had to run afoul of the law, I'd choose University City a thousand times to any spot in Mississippi.

I am a Negro. If I lived in Mississippi, I wouldn't dare write this letter. The dread fear of the mob would prevent my writing it. But should the urge to write this letter overcome my better judgment, no newspaper would publish it. And should it be published, the newspaper's cash register would suffer and my hide would amply pay for my indiscretion in thinking that freedom of speech means what it says it does.

Choice in Democrats

I much prefer Mr. Ickes's brand of democracy, the brand which suited that great Democrat, Franklin D. Roosevelt, to Southern Bourbonism and bigotry, which are the antithesis of democracy.

Harold Ickes is an honest man, the noblest work of God, which is something that cannot be said of some of his most vociferous critics.

Points in the AA Creed

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

After congratulating your paper and Virginia Irwin for the excellence of the two articles on women alcoholics, may I call attention to a point that might lead to a misunderstanding?

Twice Mrs. Mann is referred to as a "cured alcoholic." Permit me to advise, according to everything I have read on the subject and from experience gained in six years, the only "cured" alcoholics are dead. "Once an alcoholic, always an alcoholic." So goes the saying.

Medical science backs this up with the statement that it has no records of any alcoholic who was ever again able to control his drinking once the disease had fully developed.

Mrs. Mann, I am sure, would have referred to herself as an "arrested case" or perhaps as "an alcoholic who no longer drinks," but never as a "cured alcoholic." There isn't any such animal.

To one not familiar with the therapy of Alcoholics Anonymous, the 12 steps mentioned in the second article might seem a bit formidable and perhaps to lay too much stress on the "God angle," thereby scaring off persons not religiously inclined. We of "AA" always say, "Just forget about the 'God angle' and come along. Some three years from now, you'll know what dried you up. Maybe it was God, maybe it wasn't. You're dry now—what does it matter?" Alcoholics Anonymous have two women secretaries in St. Louis at ROsedale 8096 and ROsedale 0607. They will be glad to give further information to interested persons, men or women.

The Same Hand

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

A word of congratulation to the theaters which are showing a film called "Hitler Lives." I happened to be fortunate enough to see this movie. Believe me, the American people need reminding that while the German people are now putting out their hands and saying, "Let us be friends," they certainly are wishing they could put out a fist.

This is the same hand they heiled Hitler with! It is also the same hand the Nazis used to shove the bodies of helpless people into ovens or concentration camps.

It is my sincerest hope that every American will see this inspiring movie and learn by it. The Germans are not sorry they started World War II . . . just sorry they lost it. Unless we make them realize by educating them on the principles of democracy, I fear for the sons of our returning veterans. They will have to retrace the bloody footsteps of their fathers on German soil.

VETERAN'S WIFE.

Why Further Hearings?

William A. Patterson's testimony before the Senate Naval Affairs Committee yesterday virtually amounted to a charge that Edwin W. Pauley tried to sell him a Government favor for a $35,000 donation to the Democratic party and took a threatening tone when he declined to buy.

The president of United Airlines said that, at a time when his company had a franchise application pending in Washington, Pauley said to him, after he had refused a request for a $35,000 contribution to the Democratic campaign fund: "You'd better think twice before turning us down."

Mr. Patterson's testimony discredits a nominee whose discrediting has now become sheerest supererogation. As President Truman's nominee for Under Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Pauley has been discredited so often and so roundly that if there were such a thing as a referee in a confirmation hearing, he would be compelled to call time in order to stop what has now become a slaughter.

Mr. Pauley was discredited when, after he had denied under oath that he had discussed the tidelands oil issue with President Roosevelt, former Attorney General Biddle or Secretary of the Interior Ickes, the fact that he had talked with them all about it was proved so conclusively that he was forced to admit under oath that he had talked with all three of them about it, with Mr. Ickes "50 or 100 times."

Mr. Pauley was discredited when former Assistant Attorney General Littell swore, over Pauley's denial, that the nominee had tried to persuade him to withhold the Government's tidelands suit on the ground that it was unwise politically.

Mr. Pauley was discredited when, after having testified under oath that the Mexican Government had formally approved a project of his to establish an oil plant in Mexico, he was compelled to admit under oath that the Mexican Government had not formally approved it.

Mr. Pauley was discredited when Secretary Ickes, over the nominee's denial, testified—and backed it up with diary notes jotted down at the time—that Pauley had told him $300,000 in contributions to the Democratic party could be obtained from oil men if they could be assured the Government would withhold the tidelands suit.

Senator Tobey, the chairman of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee, has said that the record will show that Pauley, when pressed, has reversed himself on no fewer than six occasions, all under oath.

What useful purpose, therefore, can be served by the taking of further testimony? How does the Senate Naval Affairs Committee know whether or not to believe what Mr. Pauley is saying now, when it has six glaring proofs that it could not afford to believe what he has already said? Of if the committee expects to believe some of his testimony and disbelieve some, what method does it have at hand—crystal ball, tea leaves or phrenology—to determine which is which?

Mr. Truman has made it known that he doesn't care how often Mr. Pauley has sworn to both sides of a question—that he still thinks he has made a fine nomination. There ought to be somebody in Washington who cares about such things, and a good place for a start would be in the Senate Naval Affairs Committee. The committee could, by a single simple action, testify that it likes veracity and dislikes being misled. That action would be to end hearings forthwith and throw the nominee out.

Congress is considering a retirement plan. Some critics will be disappointed, however, to learn that it is piecemeal.

Problem of the Homeless Pigeons

Like a man without a country or a lighthouse keeper without a lighthouse, a homing pigeon without a home is a pathetic spectacle. There are 17,000 of these frustrated fowl now on the Government's hands, not yet demobilized after war service, and their disposal has Washington's best reconverters baffled. A few have been sold, and now the authorities are trying to give the remaining ones away before their feed bill causes the Treasury Department to suggest pigeon pie, or the birds turn up their toes from sheer ennui.

The War Assets Corp. shouldn't be hasty, however, in liquidating this property by the handout method. A nation-wide telephone strike is scheduled for next week, and several million eager and capable homing pigeons, let alone a mere 17,000, might come in pretty handy.

Plans to End the Runaround

The expansion and reorganization plans for the Veterans' Service Center are as necessary as they are tardy. The center's board of directors finally is considering alterations, after two months of inadequate operation of the center.

So far, this agency simply has not provided ex-GIs with much advice or help on their most urgent needs: jobs, housing and loans. Applications for certification as in-job training places piled up from 150 St. Louis area business firms. The Citizens' Emergency Housing Committee failed to provide a staff at the center. Offers from banks to maintain loan advisers there were not accepted.

Under the expansion plan, the center will coordinate job-counseling and education-counseling services. It will make use of two bank advisers. It certainly must ask the housing committee for help.

Reorganization is needed as much as expansion. The center's own staff is only one of several agencies working together. There has been little co-ordination. The new plan is to use the center staff as an over-all co-ordinator. And if all this is done, the center probably will require an estimated $152,700 annual budget, instead of the $119,392 now approved. The city and War Chest must provide that money, and the St. Louis County Court ought to donate its share in behalf of county veterans seeking help.

At the moment, adequacy means urgency at the Veterans' Service Center. For two months, ex-service men have been meeting confusion and delay at what was advertised as a "one-stop" agency. Now, at last, there is hope for an end to the Service Center runaround.

The Common Enemy

A classic example of pressure group tactics is offered by the National Association of Manufacturers, on the one hand, and the AFL and CIO, on the other. The NAM is opposed to price control and in favor of wage control. The AFL and CIO are opposed to wage control, while President Murray of the CIO strongly supports price control.

We leave in the able hands of the Courier-Journal, whose comment is printed in today's Mirror of Public Opinion, analysis of the fallacies of the NAM's position. But labor's position is even harder to comprehend. When Mr. Murray says that any return to wartime wage restraints would be "catastrophic" and when Mr. Green says the wage-price program is "unacceptable and unworkable," it is hard to fathom what they mean.

Isn't it generally accepted that it is runaway inflation which would be "catastrophic"? Wouldn't runaway inflation hurt the members of the CIO and AFL more than it would hurt the members of the NAM? Isn't it true that pay rises must be accompanied, as they were in the case of steel, by reasonable price rises? What good is a pay rise if it is canceled out by a phony dollar?

Mr. Murray's attitude, more extreme than Mr. Green's, comes with poor grace, considering the Administration's generous 18½-cent-an-hour figure at which the steel strike was settled. That was probably 3½ cents more than labor originally expected to get, while, in granting a $5-a-ton increase in steel prices, the Administration gave the industry less than it asked for. Indeed, some elements in the industry insist they cannot operate profitably without a larger increase.

We thought it accepted by now that the Truman Administration erred last August in junking the Little Steel formula, scuttling the War Labor Board and prematurely taking off other wartime controls. The attempted rush back to normalcy was a dismal flop. The shooting war was over, but the economic condition of the country was not yet attuned to peace. Messrs. Truman and Snyder, in their new wage-price policy, have backtracked. They now fully realize that their former policies invited industrial warfare at a time when order and production are the country's great needs.

For Mr. Murray, therefore, to accept the gifts labor has received from the Administration and then to fulminate against wage controls, while favoring price controls, is a sorry example of labor leadership. We should like to remind him, Mr. Green and the NAM once again that the common enemy is inflation, and the battle against inflation must be an even-handed one, favoring neither labor nor industry.

As Will Rogers Would Say

Indorsing the proposal to issue a postage stamp in honor of Will Rogers, the Collectors' Corner of the Richmond (Va.) Times-Dispatch says: "Rogers certainly was a great American and done much for his country by his good-will trips around the world."

We'll second the motion, because he shore done a lot.

Franco: A Job for the UNO

The outside world sympathizes with the attitude of liberated France toward its Fascist neighbor, Franco Spain, for the roll of grievances it suffered at the hands of that Axis associate during the war is a long and infuriating one. The present desire of the French Government to sever all relations with Spain can be understood, particularly since Franco's latest wave of executions has included a Spaniard who fought in the French resistance forces against the Germans.

Britain and the United States still remain cool toward any hasty action that might be construed as an effort to interfere in Spanish affairs and overthrow the Franco regime. For one thing, the anti-Franco forces are still far from united. Agreement among them, to give some assurance that a stable government and not internal strife would follow Franco's fall, is an essential prerequisite to any action against him.

Far better than unilateral action by the French, or even joint action with Britain and America, would be action through the UNO, which France is reported today to have asked. The Assembly is already on record as to Spain, with the 45-to-0 vote of some weeks ago barring that country from UNO membership. The problem is one that concerns every nation, for the safety of all is imperiled as long as this last European outpost of Fascism survives. The UNO, set up to prevent the jeopardizing of peace by unilateral or bloc action in international affairs, can demonstrate its effectiveness by taking decisive steps in the Franco affair.

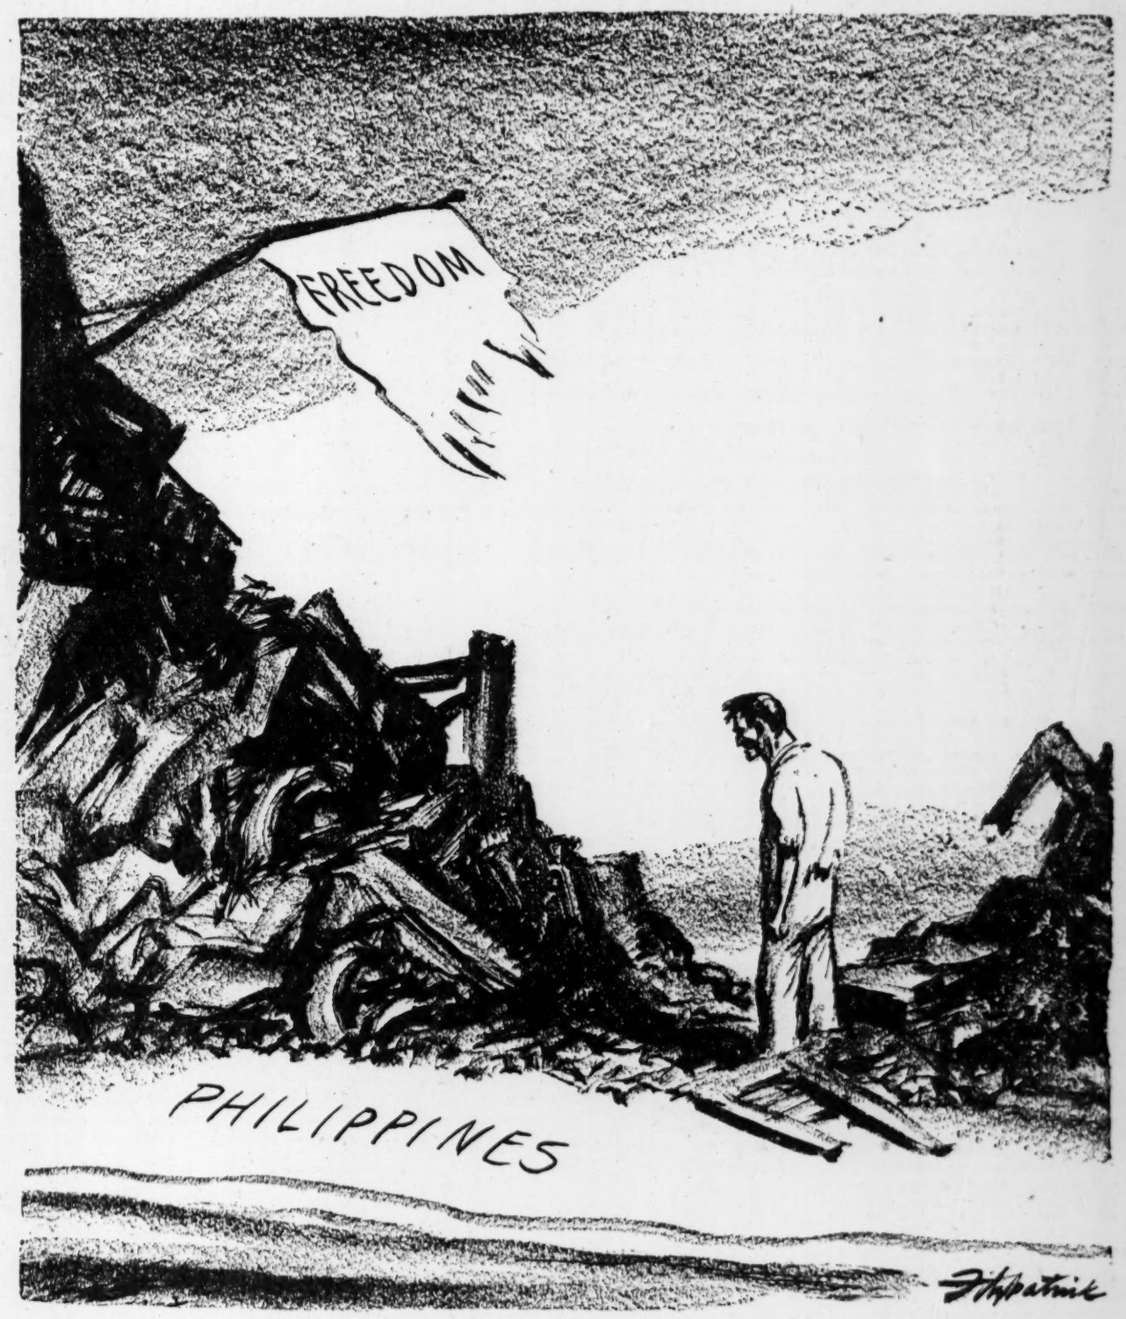

The telephone workers are planning to walk out, in what may perhaps come to be known as the first hang-up strike.

Misfire of the Aldermen's Scheme

The Aldermen didn't get away with it. Their cagy little scheme for avoiding the $10 fines for absentees by voting everybody present came under the scrutiny of City Counselor Stemmler, and he wasted no time in saying No, positively. Since the City Charter requires such fines for absences, he couldn't have said anything else, and it is surprising that the Aldermen, by two votes of 16 to 9, indicated they expected approval of the trick.

This rebuff isn't going to be of any help to the Aldermen's campaign to have the City Charter amended so that absentees no longer need be fined. The voters are pretty sure to give the same answer that the City Counselor gave, so why don't the Aldermen drop the idea and devote their attention to some real problems of city government?

"WHEN A FELLER NEEDS A FRIEND"

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Propaganda by manufacturers' association to end price control in behalf of full production is "crowning fallacy," editorial says; tune is seductive but has familiar ring; costs would go sky-high before goods appeared, wiping out market and leading toward depression.

From the Louisville Courier-Journal

Few readers could have missed in the advertising columns of this newspaper, or of any other newspaper in the country, as far as we could observe, a certain note of appeal that is quite seductive: a lulling, wooing, siren song, so limpid in tone and with lyrics so plausible that one is almost persuaded to take them for what they profess to be, the voice of his salvation. The catch is that if he yields to its enchantment, he is likely to find himself on the rocks where sirens customarily dwell.

This persuasive bid for a spot on the hit parade of popular favor is entitled "Let's Tackle Inflation While We Can," and it bears the signature of the National Association of Manufacturers. Its burden is a facile suggestion to end all price controls, at once, in the interest of incentive for production.

Very much offhand, the NAM informs the country that production alone will "smother inflation" (this being apparently the punch line of the ditty), without bothering to say what will happen to us and all our savings in the breathless period between the hour controls are lifted and the day the bargain sales begin.

Glorious While It Lasts

One finds nothing to suggest what a glorious whirl it will be while it lasts, only an implicit admission that prices will go up at once. It is sort of like the fellow who prescribes the hair of the dog that bit you.

It should not take long to detect the bugs in this theory that a ride on the escalator is what the country needs. One swift look should be sufficient to show the erroneous assumptions, the false assumptions, the occasionally downright wicked assumptions on which this propaganda is based.

Here are some of them:

(1) The assumption that business is operating, industry is producing, at a loss. The total of corporation profits after taxes rose to 10 billion dollars in 1944, the last figures at hand, and unincorporated retailers, the so-called little fellows, had more than a billion dollars more in profits in 1944 than in 1931.

(2) The plea that while this may be true for the total, pre-Victory day operations, it does not apply to all, or take into consideration postwar cost increases, and that business and industry are denied relief under price control. The truth is that businesses which can prove a loss, by reason of wage raises or other circumstances, are invited under the new wage-price formula to come and get their adjustments upward.

Another False Assumption

(3) The deep-seated assumption that our economy is still that of classic capitalism, where the law of supply and demand serenely rules and competition is the natural control. We wonder what, for example, the farmers of the country would say to that, now that they have succeeded after a generation of effort in getting a parity principle established in the law, and a program of public support for their prices (through loans, subsidies, Government purchase and floors) as their security. We wonder how the workers of the country would feel about accepting the Adam Smith theory as to themselves, making the price of labor dependent on the pure law of supply and demand. Controls work several ways.

(4) The assumption that competition will be a beneficent force under the present still unnatural circumstances. What we should see with the removal of price controls would not be a competition to force lower prices in the end, but a competition immediately directed to knocking off the accumulated savings of the consumers, as long as they last.

Wages Couldn't Catch Prices

(5) The assumption, so arrantly false, that everybody is well off and able to buy at prices which will be the inevitable effect of lifting the controls. Much is made of labor's new wage raises, but the fact is that these raises were calculated in relation to increases in the cost of living and do not take into account any margins; thus, if prices go up farther, the formula would have to be recalculated and labor would be entitled to ask for new raises.

These are among the high spots of the great NAM fallacy, which in plain effect asks for higher prices (in other words, inflation) as a means of getting production.

This, it seems, is the crowning fallacy, the fatal crag upon which the siren sits and sings; for higher prices (inflation) would tend to make the cost of products prohibitive—at first to the marginal consumer, then to the man with a little savings quickly exhausted, then to a widening circle of people. Store shelves and display rooms might be filled, but by the same token buyers might be fewer, with the result of factory cutbacks and unemployment and so again the circle which led us to the deep depression of 1934.

The song has a pat and familiar ring. We seem to remember having heard it before.

From The Nation.

The Nation applauds the nomination of William H. Hastie as Governor of the Virgin Islands. If confirmed by the Senate, as he should be, Mr. Hastie will be the first Negro to serve as Governor of an American territory. But the nomination is more than a gratifying recognition on the President's part of the appropriateness of placing the islands, with their overwhelmingly Negro population, under a Negro Governor.

Hastie was Judge of the District Court of the Virgin Islands from 1937 to 1939—the first Negro Federal Judge in American history. As Assistant Solicitor of the Interior Department from 1934 to 1937, he became something of an expert in territorial problems. He had made a reputation as Dean of the Law School at Howard University, and is regarded as one of the ablest young lawyers in the country.

The Virgin Islands will be getting a Governor who has never been afraid to speak up for his people. Hastie demonstrated his courage and integrity on this issue in 1943 when he resigned his post as civilian aid to Secretary of War Stimson in protest against Jim Crow practices in the Air Corps. The President could not have picked a better man for the island governorship.

Book on Merchant Marine Urges Continued Subsidy

While this book is primarily a case of special pleading by a man concerned with the subject, it is incidentally a good handbook on the United States Merchant Marine, shipbuilding in America, the history of our sea power, legislation supporting it and the laws that regulate it.

Mr. Anderson's intention is to "solve the problem as to whether the Merchant Marine will be a national asset, or just an expensive toy, left over from the war." Of course, this settlement depends on numerous operating interests, and as a matter of fact, is characteristically settling itself in a number of negative as well as positive ways even while the subject is being discussed.

The objection that occurs to most Americans is expense. Ships cost more to build in American shipyards than abroad and are more expensive to operate because of the higher wage scales and living standards of our seamen. Can we compete with foreign lines whose smaller overhead establishes a cheaper haulage rate?

Congress provided the answer in Government subsidy, as established in the Merchant Marine Act of 1936. The economic objection to this subsidy would be valid if the transportation of freight were the main concern of a national Merchant Marine. But that is only a secondary function.

The Merchant Marine of a great productive nation like America is first of all an agent abroad for American industry and American business. It not merely supplies markets; it creates them. A nation's ships guarantee its prestige in foreign ports. Beyond that, American personnel abroad achieve communication between the United States and other nations. They advertise, solicit and protect American interests in an immediately appreciable way.

The subsidies provided under the 1936 act do no more than make up the difference between our wage rates and living standards and those of foreign competitors. In return for this support, the shipping companies are pledged, by a system of restrictions, to operate to the general advantage of American commerce.

The Maritime Commission reserves the right to investigate subsidized companies at any time; it regulates in the national interest such conditions as trade routes, sailing schedules, defense measures and conditions aboard ship.

A Novel of the Better Type

"There Was a Lady," by Sarah Litsey. (Bobbs-Merrill Co., Indianapolis.)

Just when it seemed like the better novel of a better day was gone beyond recall, along comes Sarah Litsey with "There Was a Lady" and the better novel that we mourned as lost is found. This is not to say that this is a great novel, but it is a good novel, and good is sometimes greater than great. This one, though its elements are usual, attains the unusual by a different arrangement. There is romance of the suspenseful sort growing out of a triangle that is not the sordid kind. There is conflict through misunderstanding, with tragedy as the solution in place of the renunciation that might better have been employed.

The story is developed against a small-town background which is authentic and convincing, worthwhile in itself without the high points of romance and tragedy.

DOROTHY THOMPSON

The Political Art of Blackmail

IN Mein Kampf, Hitler made some remarks on the lie as an instrument of policy: the people readily detect small lies since they are accustomed to telling them themselves. But the colossal lie will be believed, because the people cannot imagine the daring it takes to tell it.

On the art of blackmail: One must demand so much that one's opponent believes total opposition is hopeless, and afterward demand more, realizing that he who has already compromised his country's interests will compromise them further; having once given much, there will be no point at which it seems worth while to resist.

If a war aim was to eliminate Hitlerism, it should have eliminated the lie and blackmail as international instruments. If victory means protection from the totalitarian practices which prefaced the "war for survival," our most primitive instincts of self-preservation should have warned us against tolerating the very things that led to this war.

At the least, we should have become able to recognize and call by name the familiar Hitlerian tactic.

But we are trembling with apprehension lest the truth "upset the apple cart." Among friends and colleagues the other evening, some of them distinguished journalists, the question arose regarding the duty of the journalist. Shall we tell the truth, even if it disturbs our relations with another great power? Isn't "co-operation" more important than airing the facts?

Difference of Opinion.

Previous discussion had produced little divergence of opinion regarding what the facts are. But the answer to the question revealed a considerable difference of opinion. Honorable men believed, however hesitantly, that it was their duty to maintain monstrous fictions in the interest of "good relations." We were to allow lies to proliferate themselves, in the hope that by so doing we would further the cause of peace and justice.

Now, the mere thought that it might be well to retreat from what has hitherto been a hippocratic journalistic oath was a sign of the effectiveness of political blackmail. Hitler worked that game on the European countries for years. He held their governments responsible for the press and interpreted the revelations of journalists as "unfriendly acts." The result was indirect governmental pressure on the free press, and a self-censorship induced by the fear that to tell the truth was to be branded a war-monger. It did not contribute to peace, but to demoralization.

Contributions to monstrous lies emanate from supposedly respectable citizens. During the war, for the sake of "good relations" with our Russian ally, Joseph Davies, former American ambassador to Moscow, assumed responsibility for the creation of a film, "Mission to Moscow," which was, first, a justification of official murder, of peoples' tribunals violating all civilized law, and, second, a deliberate falsification of history. How could Stalin believe that we really meant our definition of democracy, when a high American official handed him an instrument, which he was later to display in neighboring states, marked for subjection in direct violation of solemn pledges?

Apologist for Espionage.

Now, the Soviet Union has found the same apologist for its espionage activities in Canada, activities which, it is charged, involve the corrupting of Canadian officials, or the seduction of these who have been persuaded that "good relations" are more important than their oaths of office. By a miraculous abracadabra, which, as put forth in Soviet house organs, is reprinted with a straight face in our own papers, Canada, not the Soviet government, becomes the offender.

The Soviet government has the right to spy and undermine the loyalty of her Allies' officials (though, of course, similar activities on our part would result in wholesale assassinations in Russia), and Mr. Davies issues, as it were, an open invitation to foreign powers to do anything they like when their delegates arrive here to set up permanent headquarters of U.N.O. The American Communist party is thus encouraged to aid them with the blessings of Mr. Davies.

Diversionary Attacks.

It escapes emphasis that the attacks of Vishinsky on Britain were merely to divert attention from the rape of Iran. The tactic—exactly like Hitler's—is, when caught red-handed, to raise one charge after another, no matter how preposterous, on the theory that he who attacks loudest will be believed.

Thus, by the lie and blackmail the only aggressively expanding power on earth, emerges in the minds of millions, as the aggressed-upon.

And the only thing our civilization has to protect itself against methods which we cannot and should not emulate, is the truth.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Cardinal Sapieha of Poland

WITH all the columns and columns of news about the creation of the 32 new cardinals, there has been scarcely any mention of one of the most remarkable prelates to receive the scarlet biretta of a prince of the church.

That is Adam Stephen Cardinal Sapieha, who was Archbishop of Cracow in Poland when he was selected for elevation to the college of cardinals. Cardinal Sapieha comes of an old and aristocratic Polish family. For generations the Sapiehas have figured in Poland's troubled and tragic history.

The new cardinal has lived up to family tradition. Remaining in Poland through the German occupation, he became one of the heroic figures in the underground resistance to Nazi barbarism. Through his courage and his persistence in trying to help victims of the Nazis, he won a wide popular following. He never yielded to the threats or the persuasions of the invaders.

Flight From Warsaw.

In popular esteem, Cardinal Sapieha's position is in marked contrast to that of August Cardinal Hlond of Poland. Hlond fled from the Cardinal's palace in Warsaw as the Germans invaded his country. He took refuge in France and was there when France fell.

For a time, Cardinal Hlond's whereabouts were a mystery. It was not known whether he was a prisoner of the Nazis or had been given his freedom. Just after Allied forces crossed the Rhine last year, he was found in a Westphalian monastery.

With fighting still going on in Poland and Eastern Europe, Hlond went to the Vatican, where he remained until he decided to return to Warsaw. His welcome was not exactly warm, if only because his conduct during the war had been in such contrast to that of Sapieha.

Attacks on Government.

Not long after his return, Cardinal Hlond delivered several sharp attacks on the Polish provisional government. The government did not respond in any way. A little later, the cardinal preached a sermon against racial hatred and racial persecution which he had been urged to do as part of the effort to check the forays of armed bands which continued to pillage and loot in outlying districts.

While it may have no significance, Cardinal Hlond was not present at the history-making consistory when the new cardinals were created. He was not a witness at the ceremony at which Poland's Sapieha, in whose family there have been many temporal princes, became a prince of the church.

Poland is, of course, next door to the Soviet Union. It is often spoken of now as no more than a satellite of the U.S.S.R. Russian reaction, therefore, in this instance is particularly interesting.

Attacking the Vatican and the new cardinals, Soviet propagandists included the name of Sapieha of Poland. This is not likely to do the new cardinal any harm in his native land. He has won a secure position in a country which is overwhelmingly Catholic.

The U.S.S.R.'s propaganda methods know no subtleties. As in this instance, the weapon used is often a bludgeon which smashes down on all condemned categories, regardless of individual deviations and differences. That is one reason the Soviet technique has so frequently backfired in eastern Europe.

Individualistic People.

The Poles have always been a highly individualistic people. That helps to explain why their history has been so troubled through the centuries. The Nazi conquest and occupation and the terrible fighting which led up to liberation destroyed most of their cities and took millions of lives. But all of this could not, as events are beginning to make clear, destroy the Polish character.

The contemporary judgment of Poland as a satellite of her great neighbor is too hasty. There are still an estimated 200,000 Soviet troops in Poland. Others are constantly in transit to and from Germany.

While the new government has brought some improvement, conditions remain chaotic. Poland is desperately in need of the help and the confidence of the West. It is easy to pass judgment today, perhaps too easy.

Anheuser-Busch, Inc., has subscribed $60,000 to the American Red Cross in that organization's campaign to raise $1,161,500 in St. Louis and St. Louis county for its 1946 needs, it was announced yesterday.

Henry B. Pflager, chairman of the special gifts division, said: "The Anheuser-Busch contribution gets our part of the drive off to a good start. Our volunteer solicitors will reach all the large firms in the city and county in an effort to put the drive over by the closing date, March 16."

Wayne H. Hill, Red Cross field director recently returned from Europe, in a talk to Famous-Barr department store employes today, stressed the importance of continued Red Cross morale services to members of the armed forces on occupation duty.

"This campaign is as important as any conducted during the war," said Hill, a former Army Air Corps sergeant who left the Army to enter Red Cross service. "Much of the success of our wartime operations will depend on the successful continuation of our services to veterans and their families." He pointed out also the "tragic need of Europe's war victims for Red Cross foreign relief aid."

Jack J. Mayer, chairman of the commerce and industry division, announced four additional employe groups had reported 100 per cent participation, with average individual gifts ranging from $4.44 to $7.50. Firms employing these groups were Lon W. Harlow Co., 104 North Fourth street; Nat Govender, Inc., 915 Olive street; Marquette Knit Goods Co., 1227 Washington avenue, and Fashion Thimble Shoe Co., 1209 Washington.

The personal property, valued at $222,987, included stocks worth $116,000, bonds valued at $78,500, notes for $23,900 and cash of $3687. The stocks included 726 shares of Excelsior-Leader Laundry and 376 shares of Cascade Wet Wash Laundry Co., each valued at $100 a share. Real estate in city and county was appraised at $45,000.

Under his will, the estate will go to his sons, Joseph A. Kearns, 11 Crestwood drive, Clayton, with whom he lived, and Bernard O. Kearns, 7510 Parkdale avenue, Clayton.

Two St. Louis area men who were previously listed as missing today were reported dead.

DEAD.

Lt. Alexander B. Dowl, 29 years old, an armored infantry officer, who was reported missing in action in France since January 1945, is now listed as dead. His wife, Mrs. Josephine Dowl, lives at 4493 Penrose avenue.

Staff Sgt. Fletcher H. Sauls, 25, an aerial gunner, previously reported missing in action over Nuernberg, Germany, on Feb. 20, 1945, is now listed as dead. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Sauls, 438 Chaudet avenue, Maplewood Park, Ill.

PREVIOUSLY REPORTED.

Aviation Ordnanceman 2-C Richard I. Lanigan, 21, previously reported missing in action since May 21, 1944, when his dive-bomber was shot down over Rabaul, now reported to have died of malaria in a Japanese prison camp last July 30. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Irl M. Lanigan, live at 6039 Arsenal street.

PINE LAWN PARK SITE CHOSEN

A 13-acre tract at Naylor avenue and Goodfellow boulevard has been selected as the site for a proposed park for Pine Lawn residents, Alexander Sonnenschein, chairman of the Pine Lawn Kiwanis Club public affairs committee, announced to club members last night at Norwood Hills Country Club.

Pledges totaling $5000 for development of the area has been obtained from civic and religious groups of Pine Lawn, Sonnenschein said. Tennis courts, wading pools, baseball diamonds and a community center are proposed.

FOR BETTER CLAYTON LIGHTING

Twenty-four members of Girl Scout Troop No. 554 of Clayton presented a petition urging better street lighting for residential parts of the city at a meeting last night of the Board of Aldermen at Clayton City Hall.

Mayor Alfred H. Kerth thanked the girls, who are students at Maryland School, for their "demonstration of good citizenship" and told them a better lighting program had been planned but was held up at present because of shortages of material.

'SUPPER TIME' WINS ARTISTS' GUILD PRIZE

Caricature and portraiture bulk largest in the 53 works of the twenty-first annual black and white exhibition of the St. Louis Artists' Guild, now on display at 812 Union boulevard. Several substitutions have been made since the show opened last week.

"Supper Time," by Dorothy Barthelmy, a distorted view from the ceiling of a rural kitchen, has been awarded first prize.

"Express," wax painting by Fred Conway, represents a technique now being used by several St. Louis artists. Subject, medium and technique combine here to convey a sense of motion and of uncertain vision as the train, viewed from the glare of a signalman's platform, hurtles along through the night and through shifting masses of shadow and steam.

The device of using spatulas to apply pigment mixed with hot wax was developed as long ago as the ancient Egyptians and Pompeians. The alternately glossy and flat texture of this particular encaustic is varied to suggest the movement of mists and shapes.

"Rainy Day," by Ada Hanvey, depicts intentionally dispirited houses. Gertrude Hance's "Back Fence Boulevard" centers about a futilely strutting female figure amid drab surroundings.

Philip Gronemeyer has contributed a pair of facetious drawings about art galleries. Timely themes were utilized by Mabel Meeker Edsall for her "Striker's Wife" and by three artists who chose the return of soldiers as subjects.

Charles F. Quest exhibits two abstractions drawn from the anatomy of the human figure. A lateral section of a tree trunk seems to have supplied the convolutions of grain in wood for another design that Howard W. McConeghey has titled "Figure." The exhibition will close March 16.

FIVE ST. LOUIS AREA MEN AWARDED STARS FOR SERVICE

Four St. Louis area men have been decorated with the Bronze Star medal for meritorious military service, and another with the Silver Star for gallantry, it was announced today.

Marine Sgt. Oliver F. Promnitz, 1827 Kennett place, was awarded the Silver Star for heroism in the defense of the Philippines before its capitulation in May, 1942.

Those who received the Bronze Star were: Sgt. Donald S. Schmitt, 5448 Geraldine avenue; Lt. Ferdinand W. Meyer, 2008 Virginia avenue; Staff Sgt. Louis B. Kurtz, 5128 Maffitt avenue; and Staff Sgt. Milo F. Lenzing, 3345 Dix avenue, Overland.

The St. Louis University Schools of Medicine and Dentistry will hold their fifth wartime commencement tomorrow, with 220 students from 30 states and two foreign countries receiving degrees. One hundred eighteen of them also will receive commissions in the armed services.

Exercises will begin at 10 a.m. with a mass at University Church, at which the Rev. Patrick J. Holloran, S. J., president of the university, will be celebrant and Bishop Gerald P. O'Hara of Savannah and Atlanta, Ga., will preach the sermon.

The commencement address at the university gymnasium will be delivered by the Rev. Harry B. Crimmins, S. J., former president of the university and chaplain of the Seventieth General Hospital, United States Army.

Ninety-six degrees of doctor of dental science and 124 degrees of doctor of medicine will be awarded. Eighty-four graduates will be commissioned first lieutenants in the Army medical corps; 22 as lieutenants, junior grade, in the Naval Reserve medical corps and 12 as lieutenants, junior grade, in the Naval Reserve dental corps. Of the graduates, 39 are residents of the St. Louis area, 17 of them doctors and 22 dentists.

The two professional schools have been in continuous session since June, 1942, and in that time have completed five nine-month terms. Most of the schools' facilities have been devoted to training doctors and dentists for the Army and Navy.

Buying Public Is Now "Economy" Conscious

The average American household stretches pocketbooks for added savings by buying big sizes in most everything and it works the same way when you buy the 100 tablet size of St. Joseph Aspirin for 35c as you get nearly 3 tablets for 1c. For handy pocket use, remember world famous 12 tablet package for 10c. None finer, faster or more economical. The choice of millions. Always demand pure St. Joseph Aspirin.

'Breakfast In Hollywood' At the Fox

"Top Hat," starring Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, is to be seen in revival at the Art Theater, 3143 Olive street, beginning Saturday. The film, originally released in 1935, was one of the most famous of the Astaire-Rogers "dancing" pictures.

Two other hits of other years are to be shown, beginning today, at the Shubert. They are "The Hurricane," first released in 1937, starring Dorothy Lamour and Jon Hall, and with Mary Astor and Thomas Mitchell, and "Raffles," first released in 1940, with David Niven and Olivia de Havilland in the starring parts, and Dame May Whitty and Dudley Digges in the supporting cast.

"Murder in the Music Hall," starring Vera Hruba Ralston, and featuring William Marshall, Helen Walker and Nancy Kelly, begins today at the Missouri. A number of stars of Icecapades have bits, including Patti Philippi, Condon and Bohland, and Red McCarthy. Second film is "Catman of Paris."

The Newsreel Theater, 506 St. Charles street, presents an hour-long show from 10 a.m. until 11 p.m. daily. The program beginning Saturday for four days includes "Americans in Paris" in the "This Is America" series; "Bees A' Buzzin'," "Over the Andes," "Practical Joker," a Pete Smith Specialty, and "She Sick Sailor," with Popeye.

"The Bells of St. Mary's," Ingrid Bergman, holds over a fourth week at the Ambassador. "The Harvey Girls," Judy Garland, holds over a second week at Loew's. "The Sailor Takes a Wife," Robert Walker, and "Close Call for Boston Blackie," Chester Morris, hold over at the Orpheum. "The Spanish Main," Paul Henreid, and "Wanderer of the Wasteland," James Warren, begin at the St. Louis today.

Pacific, to attempt to learn the fleet's position.

On Nov. 25 Army intelligence reported to Washington that five divisions of Japanese troops were embarking at Shanghai. On Dec. 3 the War and Navy departments learned from Japanese intercepted diplomatic code messages that Tokyo had ordered diplomatic and consular officials in the United States and Britain to burn their codes and secret documents. This indicated not only that diplomatic relations would be ruptured, but also, since even consuls were included, all peaceful contact would be severed.

The night of Dec. 6 the first 13 parts of a message to the Japanese emissaries in Washington was intercepted, containing the text of the statement breaking off negotiations with the United States. It was promptly delivered to President Roosevelt and the State Department.

The last paragraph of this message was intercepted about 9:15 a.m. next day, and it directed the Japanese diplomats to deliver the text at 1 p.m. Setting the exact time seemed so suspicious to the intelligence officers that they immediately notified Marshall and Adm. Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations. Marshall read the message in his office about 11:25 a.m., phoned Stark and learned that he had received it earlier in the day.

Attack at 1 P.M.

At 1 p.m. in Washington, when the document was to be delivered, the attack on Pearl Harbor was launched.

Eight intercepted messages showing the Japanese intentions to make war were received by the War Department between Nov. 24 and Dec. 7, but they were not deciphered or translated until after the war began.

Maj. Gen. Sherman Miles, assistant chief of staff in charge of Army intelligence, explained that he did not have the personnel or facilities to accomplish the work sooner.

One of these messages, from Premier Tojo, directed his spies to send him daily reports about ships which were docked or at anchor in Pearl Harbor.

(Tomorrow: How strong was Pearl Harbor?)

J. G. CHRISTY IS LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL OF BREWERS' GROUP

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 27—The appointment of J. G. Christy of Festus as legislative representative of the Missouri Brewers' Association was announced here last night by Walker Pierce, president of the association. Christy replaces Anthony A. Buford who resigned as legislative counsel last October to become general attorney for Anheuser-Busch, Inc.

Christy, who is a dentist, was assistant state director of selective service during World War II and held the rank of colonel. He was speaker of the House in three sessions of the Legislature.

40 Cases of Whisky Stolen.

Theft of 40 cases of whisky and six bottles of cordial valued at $1630 from the Mound City Liquor Co., 4420 Natural Bridge avenue, was reported to police early today by Mrs. Leah Sinberg, owner. The burglars gained entrance to the store by sawing three steel bars on a rear window and removed the liquor by the back door after breaking an inside padlock.

MATTER OF FACT

ulation does not love the Chinese central government. The Russians have strategic interests in the area. Eastern Siberia, for example, is actually over-industrialized, and needs Manchurian wheat to feed the workers of its war industry.

But there is another aspect of the problem. Gen. Marshall's truce left the Chinese Communists in control of most of north China. If the Soviets are to consolidate their Manchurian position, there will be nothing on earth to prevent them from doing the same thing all over again in a little while, but this time within the Chinese Great Wall.

The process could go on, indeed, until the military power organized by Blucher-Galen achieved, by other means, the purpose which he and Borodin failed to achieve so long ago. And that is why Manchuria has been added to the lengthening list of areas which the State Department and Service departments are watching anxiously, while they ask themselves when and where and how to call a halt to the Soviet Union's onward march.

Looking Out Window On Sunny Afternoon

By Leonard Hall

WHEN you set up a typewriter table alongside the window on a sunny afternoon, it is hard to keep the keys tracking straight. There, just on the other side of the glass, a column is being enacted right before your eyes, and it is, to say the least, distracting. Keeping the feeders filled is a twice-a-day chore and the birds come and go in waves. Sometimes for a quarter hour there won't be a bird in sight. Then you look up and perhaps 30 or 40 of a dozen different kinds have arrived and are all busy eating. Or perhaps a single chickadee will appear first, take a few pecks and then hop up in the sugar maple and call excitedly. Immediately three or four of his mates and a brace of titmice will join him. For that matter, if I go out to fill the feeders and there are no birds around, there are two species that I can always call in from the woods myself. Once they are there, a downy woodpecker sees the goings on and that is a sign for three or four more to come in. Right now a spunky little downy is driving off the English sparrows of which a dozen have lately discovered our banquet tables. The downy snaps his bill in fierce fashion, and beats a log menacingly with his wings and the sparrows fly away.

A BIG HAIRY WOODPECKER comes in to investigate the suet basket and finds it empty—a sign of the times. Then he flies up to the window and drills away at the peanut butter log and the chips fly. That fellow has a bill like a pile-driver and his eyes snap so that even the mocking bird, which is something of a bully, lets him strictly alone. When he has finally eaten his fill and left, three white-breasted nuthatches land in the ash tree head downward and then cross over to the feeder to eat. They, too, manage to chase away other intruders until the cardinals arrive. Then all at once the birds are gone, as though some secret signal has called them back to the woods.

I WALK OUT across the path to the fireplace on the hill to stretch my legs and see the mocking birds perched atop a bee hive. Perhaps he is eating the dead bees which have been pushed out at the entrance, or he might even catch a live bee on the wing, for they are out by the hundreds this warm afternoon. Then he hops to the ground and I call Mama to come and watch the performance which follows. He bobs up and down, opens and closes his wings slowly several times so that the white wing bars show up clearly. Then he runs a few steps forward and repeats the whole performance. We watched him do this last year and decided it was a mating dance, for it was then much later in the spring and there were several other mocking birds in the neighborhood. Perhaps it's a sign that spring will come early this year.

BACK AT THE HOUSE we decide that it's warm enough to let the biddies out of their yard and soon they are scattered across the hillside, scratching in the brown grass as though it were summer. There are only 32 of them, white as snow and alike as peas in a pod. But out in the field you'd swear there were twice that many. You'd think so from their performance in the hen house this winter, for that matter. There are three of the old girls well past their prime which probably should have gone into the stew-pot long ago although, like E. B. White when he lived on his farm in Maine, I wouldn't have the heart to cull them out. They'll hardly create a hen-feed shortage and have done their duty well. When I come up in the evening with from 18 to 22 big brown eggs, Mama says it must be because they're so contented that they lay well. Certainly it couldn't be because we are scientific poultrymen!

THERE'S SOMETHING in that contentment business, I wouldn't be surprised. Even on cold days, if the sun is shining, you can hear the whole flock singing contentedly as they scratch in the deep straw of the new sun-porch George built for them last autumn. I think that, like everybody else, a hen has to be well fed, comfortable and in an unworried frame of mind if she's to do her best. A sunny place to scratch for her grain, a hopper well filled with mash feed, plenty of good clean water to drink, a house in which the straw is changed with fair regularity to make sure they are dry under-foot—these are as important as electric lights to fool them in thinking that it is morning. I've known farmers to say that a full mash hopper made a lazy hen or that if the birds were "forced" they'd die sooner. The first is just plain bad economics. As for the second, a hen that produces 200 eggs in a single year will make a lot more profit for her owner than one which lays 200 eggs in two years—especially if both are eaten in the end.

I GUESS MAMA has been studying the poultry journals for she also informs me that hens have nerves and should be kept calm by such little niceties as knocking gently before you enter the hen house. Maybe that's because they like to preen themselves a bit—or don't like to be caught with their feathers awry. Ours, I am quite sure, know my footsteps when I come down with the morning's ration of scratch feed. At least I don't have to knock, for they are crowded around the door waiting for me. That hens have personalities there can be no doubt. There was our Evelyn. She certainly preferred to be up on the terrace with people for company during the summer cocktail hour than she did to be down in the field with her sisters. She was the one which, like Ferdinand the bull, showed a preference for flowers and always sat in the window box with Mama's prize geraniums. And speaking of hens, it's nearly sundown and all 32 of them are gathered about the gate, looking up the hill reproachfully. I'd better go and feed them and tuck them in for the night.

For Girls, 14 to 19

By Patricia Lindsay

THIS article is devoted to girls between 14 and 19—the young things who grow from the uninteresting kid sister into the belle of the ball during those years.

If one of the girls came to me and asked: "Just what should I do to grow beautiful and interesting?" this would be my answer:

As young as you can, learn everything you can. Grow accomplished. Learn to participate in sports, learn to dance well, play bridge. Read as many good books as time permits, if you get out of doors every day for exercise after your study periods. Strive in every way to be an accomplished young lady. That is most important.

Secondly, avoid growing sophisticated too early. Keep charmingly young and fresh and lovely. But learn the essentials of meticulous grooming. You know the rules—mouth hygiene every day, brush your hair, wash your skin, keep your nails pretty (and for heaven's sake don't bite them!); eat and rest and exercise daily so you have normal body reactions. Then you are assured that you have no body odor or bad breath.

EVERY SIX MONTHS visit your dentist. If your teeth need straightening, begin the job as early as you can. You never will regret the money or time spent.

Now for primping. Under no circumstances bleach or tint your hair. Keep it glossy and healthy and avoid getting a permanent more often than once a year. Get that during the late spring so you will be pretty all summer.

Keep your skin clean by using a cleansing cream and soap and water. Keep it soft with a pure, mild cold cream or lotion. Buy the best of cosmetics, for they are the bargains in the end. A box of powder (and a small one at that) should last you six months. Get a deep shade for summer and use it sparingly, and a lighter shade for the winter months when your skin is more pale. If your skin is smooth and satiny, do not use any powder at all. Never use rouge.

YOUR LIPSTICKS may be numerous, according to your changing skin tone, the colors of your wardrobe, the color of your eyes. But avoid coating your lips with too much color. That looks cheap.

If you have adolescent blemishes, use at least three times weekly an acne lotion to dry blemishes and prevent them from spreading.

For parties, use a liquid or cream deodorant, just in case your high spirits create a slight body odor.

Do not use a depilatory until you are 16. Then use it beneath arms only.

And never, never, never thin your eyebrows. Keep them trim but pluck only what you must.

Take My Word For It

By Frank Colby

ST. LOUIS: I am told that it is now preferable to pronounce "allies" by accenting the first syllable, and that the second-syllable accent is out of date. Is this so?—J. D.

Answer: No. It's a matter of choice. My four-year radio check shows, however, that the better class of broadcasters usually accent the second syllable, as: uh-LIZE.

Houston: Please discuss the pronunciation of the word "columner." I've always said "COL-umner."—Mrs. W. A. G.

Answer: Sorry. Accent the second syllable, thus: col-UM-ner. The word columnist, on the other hand, is pronounced: COL-um-nist.

Palacios: If the musical instrument "cello" is pronounced "chello," why isn't "cellophane" called "chellophane"?—Mrs. C. H. K.

Answer: The words have no relation. Cello is short for violincello, an Italian diminutive for violone. In Italian, "c" before "e" and "i" has the sound of "ch," as in "church." Cello, therefore, is: CHELL-oh. The "cello-" of cellophane is from "cellulose," a word which we borrowed from the French. The -phane is a Greek combining form which means "appearing like."

Denver: On the air recently, John Daly pronounced khaki as "CAR-key." How come, Pancho? —B. Y.

Answer: In pronunciation, Daly is quite the pukka sahib. Despite dictionary preference for the British pronunciation "KAH-kee," the overwhelming pronunciation in America is: KAK-ee, to rhyme with "wacky. As to "CAR-key," I am reminded of Kipling's remark, "It's pretty, but is it art?"

Electrical changes occur in the green leaves of plants when they transform water and carbon dioxide into carbohydrates.

Care of the Teeth

I AM convinced a majority of the people fail to realize the importance of the care of the teeth. I admit the big majority realize the significance of a healthy, good looking mouth free of bad taste and unpleasant odor as a result of faulty teeth. The systematic absorption from bad teeth can create a varied form of arthritic and neuritic pains besides taking a definite toll on the general vitality of the individual. This is best registered not only by rheumatic pains, but a general feeling of lassitude, digestive disturbances, loss of weight and appetite, nervous manifestations, etc. Some functional heart pains may become evident and occasionally a pain isolated and apparently unattached is traceable to a bad tooth or teeth.

I have seen patients with stomach symptoms suggesting organic disturbance directly traceable to bad teeth and with the teeth extracted all symptoms disappear. This is made possible by systematic absorption and the ingestion of local secretions emanating from the infected area. The Army demonstrated the high percentage of young men in need of dental care. Regular visits to your dentist are absolutely essential if you are to avoid early loss of your teeth or certainly damage that is irreparable in some instances and expensive and unnecessary in others.

Your dentist is prepared to assist you in any way possible. His judgment as to how often to return for observation, the kind of care you need for your mouth, etc., is yours for the asking. I should say to visit your dentist every four months for inspection and correction of any defects is a sound investment. The sooner the public wakes up to the realization that dentistry is a study and science for the preservation of your teeth and health, the better off it will be. As a medical man I have great respect for the dental profession; that is why I am passing this information on to the laity. Good looking teeth not only add personality and charm; they pack a healthy punch.

By Eleanor Roosevelt

NEW YORK, Tuesday.

WHILE at Hyde Park last weekend, I walked over to talk to a Norwegian-American who lives in one of the houses on our land and does fine cabinet work. He was full of the letters which have just begun to come in from Norway about various members of his wife's family as well as his own.

Stories of heroism poured out as I listened. They were tales of the feats of young men and women in the resistance movement, and even of children who, when questioned by the Germans, kept their own counsel and never gave their families away. I think my tenant was glad to have a chance to talk to me. He said some people wouldn't believe him and thought he was just giving out propaganda. Naturally, to find I could match his stories, not only in Norway but in many other countries, was a satisfaction to him.

I WANT TO TELL YOU a little today about one branch of the work our Army is doing in Germany. In the American zone, Brig. Gen. Robert A. McClure, a regular Army officer, who is in charge of the policies and operations of the information-control division of our military government, seems to be fully aware of the issues at stake and very well qualified for his job. I talked to a number of the men working under him and gained an insight into some of their problems. Hitler and Goebbels did a wonderful job, from their own point of view, on the thinking processes of the German people.

We began, of course, in the period of psychological warfare, to study the warped German mentality and the propaganda techniques used by the Nazis to bring it about. We are now carrying on a re-education and a re-orientation program. This must not be relaxed for a minute or the consequences will be very serious, for the Nazi poison has gone deep into the hearts and minds of young and old in Germany.

Their Fuehrer gave them some material things which they could appreciate—full employment (even if it was in preparation for war), better houses, radios, the little three-wheeled cars. They closed their eyes to the concentration camp which lay over the hill and which, as human beings, they had to forget in order to be able to enjoy life. The job before us is a long-term job.

ONE OF THE THINGS going on now is an effort to re-establish a free press. None has existed in Germany for many years. It is not wholly free today, for it is not allowed to criticize the Military Government or Allied policy. However, the papers are staffed by German editors and German reporters, and are subject only to post-publication scrutiny. They are being encouraged to develop high modern standards based on the high ideals of American journalism, but they may not propagate ideas of racism, Nazism or militarism. The same general policy applies to radio news.

This is one of the most important undertakings by our military Government, and everyone should be watching it with interest and should insist that it be carried on until the roots of Nazism are wiped out.

My Neighbor Says:

If a boiled frosting fails to crystallize, it may be redeemed in the following way: Place the mixture in a double boiler, over hot water, and beat until a velvety dull glow steals over the mixture. Remove from hot water, beat again and the frosting should thicken satisfactorily.

CAULFIELD FOR CITY BUYING OF PARK AVE. HEALTH CENTER

A recommendation that the city purchase from the Federal Government the health center building at Grand boulevard and Park avenue for $30,866 will be made tomorrow by Henry S. Caulfield, director of public welfare. The purchase would require the approval of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment.

The building was acquired by the Government at the start of the war, and renovated and equipped for clinical purposes at a total outlay of $61,730. The health center at Leffingwell avenue and Market street, also owned by the city, was similarly equipped by the Government which has donated the improvements there to the city.

Approximately 75 services, including dental, medical, and venereal disease diagnosis and treatment are carried on at the two centers by the city Health Department.

My OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

Dear Martha Carr:

I AM a woman age 33. I have a younger sister to whom I am very devoted. We lost our parents when we were very young. When I was 19 I married a man two years my senior, and my sister, who is very attractive, is quite friendly with my husband. One evening my husband took the two of us out. That has been three weeks ago, and ever since he always wants to take her along each time we go out. I have suggested at other times that he and I go out alone, but he always says he's too tired to go out, unless he thinks she is going too. If she suggests the going, he'll jump to the idea right away. This is causing a lot of arguments between us, and home is not the same any more. Shall I leave him and go back to my home town? We have no children. In our old town there is a man of 40 whom I've known for years who has asked me to marry him. What do you think I should do?

TORN BETWEEN.

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest, but of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

Once more the pot calling the kettle black. If you, a married woman, have a man waiting in the background, supposedly anxious to marry you, how much better are you than the husband you accuse of thinking of another? It is quite possible he is not at all interested in your younger sister any more than if she were his own. It may be that she is just good company and livens up the evenings when you three go places together. But however innocent his feelings may be at present, you can well make them otherwise by nagging him. Instead, use your ingenuity quietly to keep Sister otherwise occupied and less in evidence. Plan activities ahead for yourself and your husband in which she is not included. Dress your prettiest, be your most attractive and interesting and convince your husband that your marriage of 14 years standing was and still is a good idea. Refuse to allow it to come to grief because of cheap flirtations or jealousies on the part of either. If your sister is living under your roof, see to it that she lives elsewhere.

IN ANSWER TO "Mrs. B. L. T.": The town is full of baby sitters. In your own neighborhood you should be able to find high school girls who will come to you in the evening and care for your child while you and your husband take in a movie or a dinner party. Washington University has an employment office through which you should be able to get college girls who also make extra money this way. The newspapers also often carry ads along this line.

IN ANSWER TO "E. H.": It would be nice, though not obligatory, to take a gift to your boy friend's mother, but I would make it something small, and not too elaborate in nature. Flowers would be a good idea, or perhaps candy, a pretty handkerchief, or something else in the little gift category.

IN ANSWER TO "What Have I Done": I think the boy has the right idea and that you should just forget it. If he wants to resume the friendship, he will, but let him make the first move.

CASE RECORDS

By Dr. George W. Crane

CASE J-227: Loraine T. aged 26, and attractive to look at, had accepted a temporary stenographic position in a Chicago office. The head stenographer was away on a two weeks' vacation at the time.

"The other three girls in the office seemed to dislike me from the first," Loraine explained, "even though I tried to be friends. I did my work very well. These girls bluntly would say in my hearing that I wouldn't last long. That inside of a week I wouldn't be needed in the office any more.

"But I was given a permanent job, and made secretary to one of the officials. During his absence he even let me handle his correspondence. The other girls grew more hostile to me.

"Then Phyllis, the chief stenographer, returned and sided with the other three. At present things are so uncomfortable for me that I am considering giving up my position, even though my employer likes me. Dr. Crane, how could I possibly win the friendship of these girls? Or should I go elsewhere?"

THE OTHER GIRLS feared Loraine because they thought she might take something away from them, such as their favor with the boss, or even supplant them in the office. What they really dreaded was that they might not be needed any longer themselves. Fear is deflating to our ego, so the person or thing which produces our fear is automatically disliked. An axiom of psychology states that we like the people who make us feel good, beautiful, intelligent, etc., and conversely we dislike those who make us feel inferior, who deflate our vanity and self-respect.

Loraine's good looks and superior education also tended to deflate instead of inflate the ego of her office associates. The result was that they disliked her even more. If Loraine is to win their friendship, then she must utilize her looks and education and other virtues as a means of inflating the ego of the office girls. But how?

SHE MUST soft pedal any further direct evidence of her own superior advantages. Then she must set to work finding out the good points of her associates, beginning especially with Phyllis, their ringleader. Girls like to be popular and they also like to have others think that they are charming and sought after.

To ask advice of Phyllis, especially about shows or clothes or the right technique to apply to a boy friend, is one powerful means of inflating Phyllis's ego. For when we ask advice we intimate that the person questioned is superior to ourselves in that regard, else we would not be seeking help. This will make Phyllis feel pleased. The next result is that she feels pleased with Loraine. Friendship is then just around the corner.

THE FIVE important ways of inflating the ego of our associates and thereby making them like us are: First, ask them for advice, recipes or information. Second, impute knowledge and experience to them. Third, be sure to intimate that they now have, or at least in their youth they doubtless had, "it" or sex appeal. Fourth, compliment their products, their automobiles or homes, their children or cats and canaries. Finally, make direct compliments on their artistic fingers, or melodious voice, or cooking ability.

I am not recommending bald flattery but sincere compliments based on our close observation of our associates. Thus we make them happier and as a by-product they like us. So it worked out with Loraine, who soon won Phyllis and then the other girls.

Economical Menus for Tomorrow

By Meta Given

PINEAPPLE-LIME velvet is a smooth, fluffy double-duty food; a delicious dessert when you leave the celery out; an exciting salad if you leave the celery in. It tastes as though it might require some unusual ingredients and a lot of work to make, yet its constituents are commonplace and putting them together is as simple as can be. Since it is a gelatine salad, it can be molded in many forms. A practical one for everyday meals is to turn the mixture into a flat rectangular pan and congeal it till firm and then cut into squares or rectangles. For party service it could be molded in tall custard cups or a scalloped mold. When unmolded these molds can be used for the skirts of lovely doll or lady salads to serve at holiday or announcement parties. The china or glass doll half figures are usually obtainable at the dime store and can be set in the top. Then softened cream cheese can be tinted to obtain contrasting color and piped in ribbons or ruffles around the waist and on the skirt to add a bouffant touch.

Pineapple-Lime Velvet.

One package lime-flavored gelatine, one cup boiling water, three ounces cream cheese, two-thirds cup crushed pineapple with its juice, one-half cup finely cut celery, one-half cup heavy cream, whipped; watercress, maraschino or bing cherries.

Add gelatine to water and stir until dissolved. Add cheese and beat with rotary beater until cheese is melted. Chill until slightly congealed, then add pineapple and celery. Fold in whipped cream. Turn into a four-cup mold, rinsed with cold water. Chill until firm. Unmold on bed of watercress. Garnish with cherries. Six-eight servings.

Menus for Thursday.

Spinach Medley Salad.

Have all vegetables cold and crisp. Combine three cups shredded raw spinach (about half pound) one-fourth chopped green onions, one-half cup chopped radishes, one and one-half cups shredded lettuce, one-half teaspoon salt and one-half cup french dressing. Mix lightly but thorough, using two forks. Do not stir. Then add one cup grated raw carrots (about three carrots) and toss mixture two or three times, only. Serve immediately. Four servings.

What to Expect Tomorrow.
Sun in Pisces.

General Tendencies—One of the good days of the week for social interests, particularly where preparation enters in, such as making ready for a party or planning upon entertainments in advance and buying theatre tickets—that sort of thing. It is doubtful if sudden inspirations to go out and have a good time will meet with complete approval. One of the difficulties here is the cost of your fun. Be prepared with plenty of money or else you may find yourself trying to borrow a nickel to get home.

If Tomorrow Is Your Birthday.

Your coming year seems highly changeable, so much so that you will doubtless travel or move to some new residence. You will get along well with both young and old, so this seems good for social contacts, and indeed, one of the indications for 1946 for people born on this date refers to matrimony. You seem more apt to choose companions older than yourself in this case. Wait for autumn before expecting definite results in business.

Tomorrow's Watchword — "We have all the comforts brought by labor-saving devices and all the inventions of one sort or another. We can cross the Atlantic by air in a few hours, we can talk to a friend 10,000 miles away. We have control of power never dreamed of by man before, but we have lost our sense of security. We have lost contentment." This was said by James Truslow Adams. We cannot fail to realize that present day life is lacking in spiritual values.

Home Movies With a Plot in Them

St. Louis Couple's Short Subjects Rank High in National Circles

By Clarissa Start

MENTION home movies to most people who've been an audience to them and they immediately conjure up a vision of that five-yawn feature on the baby, little Ermintrude's birthday party, or Our Trip Through Yellowstone, and the resultant feeling of being horribly, inevitably trapped as the evening wore on. All of which has nothing to do with the way the Lon Wadmans of 5856 Bartmer avenue make movies.

Part of an enthusiastic group of amateur movie makers throughout the country who compete for prizes on their hobby, Wadman and his wife turn out short subjects, complete with plot, and have done so well at it that two of their films placed among the national list of the 10 best non-professionally made films last year, one the year before. In the 1945 contests, their film, "Heckled Holiday" won the second award in the Family Films class of a contest sponsored by Home Movies magazine, of Hollywood, while "This'll Kill You" received an honorable mention in one sponsored by Movie Makers, magazine of the Amateur Cinema League, Inc. In 1944, their "Trial and Error" won third place among Scenario movies in the Home Movies contest, and also the first Class A award given by the St. Louis Amateur Motion Pictures Club.

Cups, plaques, and a scrapbook of reviews of his movies, most of which have won the coveted rating of "Three-star merit leader" also testify to Wadman's skill.

"And while this may not look like a lot," says Wadman, gazing fondly at his trophies, "you should see the efforts we amateurs go through to win them."

Manager of a drug store in Wellston, Wadman started his hobby when a man talked him into buying a projector that he couldn't sell to anyone else.

"That was about 12 years ago when people didn't take as many home movies as they do now," he said. "I soon got tired of running the one little roll of film that came with the projector so I bought a camera, and as I got more interested, I bought more equipment. Before long I was a charter member of a movie makers club in Kansas City and when we moved here seven years ago we joined the St. Louis club."

Now president of the St. Louis Amateur Motion Picture Club, Wadman is the only St. Louisan to place in national competitions, although more and more members of the club are emulating the Wadmans in making scenario pictures. Each of the Wadmans' films—and they have "a closet full of them"—represent four to six weeks of hard work. Their attractive apartment, furnished with carefully collected antiques, evidence of another hobby, serves as background for most of the domestic dramas they film, while the basement is used for building more elaborate scenarios.

"I do the writing and directing," Wadman explained, "and we all do the acting. We start with a complete script, not only dialogue but every camera angle, every bit of action written down. I've found from past experience that you just waste film taking pot shots."

Wadman has a natural partner in his movie making in his wife, who was formerly a dancer under the professional name of Harriet Cole, in the Chicago Opera Co., Municipal Opera productions, the Greenwich Village Follies with Gallagher and Sheean, and in numerous vaudeville productions. Also a dancing instructor locally, she was one of Betty Grable's teachers at both Clark's dancing school and Johnny Hanley's. Mrs. Wadman, who still retains her ingenue prettiness, is the feminine lead in most of the "Harlon Productions," while their little boy, Lon Jr., has his share of stardom, too.

"The cast problem is the biggest one in amateur movie making," Wadman says. "You can get plenty of people who think they want to be in a movie but they change their minds when they find it means hard work and long hours under hot lights. We have one friend who's been in most of our films, but usually you're afraid to put anyone in unless he's a close friend who'll stick by you. We once had a girl quit when the picture was two-thirds finished and of course, that's a major tragedy. I try to pick cast members for their dependability first and their acting ability second. Ours are silent pictures, of course, and I'm convinced that anyone can act in silent pictures."

The Wadman-made films run so smoothly and entertainingly that one almost forgets to appreciate the technique; they are so much in the class of that accepted miracle, the professionally made movie. The first one, "Trial and Error" was the story of a young couple's struggle to stick to a budget, with one especially good scene, in which the camera shows only the hands of the irate husband and apologetic wife as they shuffle through bills with appropriately eloquent gestures.

Another, "This'll Kill You," a satire on horror films employs all the standard thrill devices plus some non-standard surprises, such as a scene in which a dozen corpses, all identical, fall from the closet until one of them stops in mid-air, turns to the audience and says, "Sure are a lot of us fellows, aren't there?" This film also has the close-up of a man's eye, the victim's, a device used in "Lost Week-End." The Wadmans are rather proud that they thought of it first.

Their 1945 cup-winner, "Heckled Holiday," a color movie, features chubby, curly-haired Lon Jr., who is now four, and patronizingly refers to his two-year-old self in the film as "that little fellow in the short pants." In it, the little fellow runs away from his parents on a picnic in Forest Park and while they search frantically, visits all the animals in the Zoo, a plot permitting use of the colorful zoo show plus a small boy's reactions. Like most parents, the Wadmans like to chronicle their son's growth but like to tell a story, too.

The fact that their movies are so smoothly done is the result of painstaking care and much labor, even to the making of re-takes, which few amateurs do. In "Trial and Error" for example, the Wadmans were advised it could be a prize winner if certain changes were made so, although six months had elapsed and both the season and Mrs. Wadman's hair-do had changed, re-takes were made and fitted into the film.

"It was a good thing," Mrs. Wadman laughs, "that I still had the same hat. That's one of the things you have to watch or you're likely to start a scene looking one way and continue it the next week looking entirely different."

From the feminine viewpoint, the length of time in movie-making has its drawbacks, she added.

"For instance," she said, "it took us four Sundays to make 'Heckled Holiday' and I had to make bowl after bowl of potato salad every Sunday. That was two years ago and we haven't touched potato salad since."

Try and Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

IN the middle of the depression, the owner of a big shoe factory was summoned by the vice president of the local bank. "About that loan of $200,000," began the banker.

The manufacturer interrupted, "Mr. Austrian, what do you know about the shoe business?" he asked.

"Frankly, nothing," said the banker, distinctly nettled.

"Better learn fast, brother," said the manufacturer. "You're in it."

Contract Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

IN many deals, the correct final contract is named by one partner and taken out to a bad contract by the other. Superficially, it would appear that the takeout constituted a major error, but this is not always a fair conclusion. Consider this deal:

North, dealer.

	♠4 ♥AK83 ♦K82 ♣AKQ73
	♠J109865 ♥— ♦J1064 ♣J105

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	1 spade	Pass
2 notrump	Pass	3 spades	Pass
3 notrump	Pass	4 spades	Double
Pass	Pass

It will be seen that North actually did name a good contract, three notrump, and that South took him out to four spades, which was doomed to defeat. Yet North's bidding was very bad, and South's was correct! No first-rank player, holding South's hand, would permit three no trump to stand after the bidding North produced. They would feel, quite reasonably, that the South hand might not be worth a single trick at notrump (aside from stopping the diamond and spade suits) but that it might take four or five tricks with spades as trump.

Now, let's consider South's decision if the bidding has gone properly:

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	1 spade	Pass
2 hearts	Pass	2 spades	Pass
2 notrump	Pass	3 spades	Pass
3 notrump	Pass	?

South's problem at this point assumes an entirely different complexion. North has shown a biddable heart suit, a diamond stopper and a generally powerful hand, but has strongly indicated a singleton spade. He not only "reversed" by starting with a club and later bidding hearts, but persisted to three notrump in the face of South's non-commital spade rebid.

Just as every expert would persist to four spades in the previous bidding sequence, so every one would pass to three notrump if North truly revealed both his strength and distribution.
